Excerpts from the address of

Governor Mills E. Godwin, Jr.

At the Inauguration of Dr. Henry I. Willett, Jr.

I would join with you today in tribute to a man, for this is our purpose in coming here.

I know you join in my delight that the Board of Visitors has selected a Virginian as the best man available, a product of Virginia's schools, and a man who reflects the ability so often handed down from father to son among Virginia's distinguished families.

We are familiar with the illustrious families in the past, in politics, on the field of battle, in the professions, but it is especially symbolic to me at this point in Virginia's history that we bear witness at this college today to an example in the field of education.

I think it is time for us to go back to fundamentals in Virginia education. We cannot go back to the little red school house. We cannot go back to the ideal of a professor at one end of the log and a student at the other.

Our answers must begin with the classroom teacher and the colleges that prepare her for that task. I know of no better way to dramatize that fact than the cold statistics from the State Department of Education. They show that of all the new public school teachers employed across the Commonwealth last year, fifty-four per cent came from other states or from colleges in other states.

We are all familiar with Virginia's great state universities and colleges. We are proud of the reputations earned by their schools of law or of engineering, or of medicine. But I say to you that no college in Virginia has had a more profound effect upon the people of this state than Longwood College. Its graduates have shaped the attitudes and the character of generation after generation in Virginia, those who went on to higher education and those who did not.

I am delighted to see that Longwood today is advancing as education itself advances. When this college began, a Normal School was almost the only acceptable higher education for women, and public school teaching was about the only proper work for a proper lady.

But time will not stand still, and Longwood cannot remain what it once was and perform its full function. Quite properly, it has spread its wings to become a liberal arts center, complimenting Hampden-Sydney, and providing an example of mutual assistance between state-supported and church-supported education.

Thus it takes its place in the flexible, graduated system of public and private education that alone will serve Virginia in this final third of the Twentieth Century, a system broad enough to accommodate every talent and every interest, and deep enough to challenge every intellect.

I would say to the students here assembled, if you want to become totally involved, as your generation seems to, if you want to help shape a better life with your own hands and your own minds, you can find no finer field than education in your own state.

The war in Vietnam, the decline of the cities, the problem of poverty are already well worn with the tramp of many feet and the sound of many trumpets. They have been platforms for public figures and protestors of every hue and stripe.

But if you want to go where the meaningful action is, if you want to really take hold of tomorrow, then find a place in education. The whole of that field has taken on new dimensions. It has only begun to change. And in the long run, there is no greater power to promote justice and equality, or human dignity and understanding.

Of necessity, my generation has been absorbed in the arithmetic of education. Your generation will develop its philosophy. We have been overwhelmed with quantity. You must protect and safeguard quality.

We have made a commitment here at Longwood to give you the best preparation that we can make available to equip you for your task. Your Board of Visitors has given you a young man who is himself dedicated to education, to serve you as an example and as a leader . . . I am certain that here at Longwood, under sound and vigorous leadership, their faith and trust in education will be fulfilled.

Summary of

President Willett's Inaugural Address

In accepting the challenge and responsibility of his office, Dr. Willett expressed his own sense of humility and paid tribute to "the outstanding records" of his predecessors, three of whom were present at the inaugural ceremonies: Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr. and former acting president Mr. Fred O. Wygal.

As evidence of a progressive mood in Virginia in education, Dr. Willett gave the recent passage of the bond referendum citing Governor Godwin's "total dedication" to securing its passage, and pointing out that the eyes of the academic world have been focused on Virginia's response to "this mandate for progress." He cited the release of the Virginia Plan for Higher Education, calling it a major step forward. He called attention to the cooperation of public and private colleges for common purposes as exemplified by recent student exchange between Hampden-Sydney and Longwood. In referring to recent efforts of administrators on Virginia campuses to maintain open communication between administration and faculty and administration and students, he cited efforts made at the University of Virginia and Madison College and at Longwood. "Because of the efforts made to maintain and improve channels of communication," Dr. Willett said, "we in Virginia have received less than our share of confrontations that have marked other sections of our nation. But there should be no mistaking that adherence to law and order must prevail."

He expressed the hope that Longwood College alumnae would continue to man the public school class rooms in Virginia, with "creativity, resourcefulness, imagination and innovation."

He concluded with an optimistic reflection on the state of well-being at Longwood College as follows:

There are a number of basic groups which contribute to the successful operation of any institution of higher learning. I should like to note five which compose what we might term the greater family which constitutes Longwood. Each of these groups is represented on the stage this morning.

A college or university requires the support and cooperation of the community and locality within which it is located. This we have at Longwood. On occasions too numerous to mention, the College has asked varied elements of the community for assistance. In each situation such groups as the Town Council, the Chamber of Commerce, the Police Department, the Farmville Herald, the Jaycees, and many others have responded. It is our hope that the College may reciprocate the aid which it has received.

Secondly, ladies and gentlemen, a college or university needs an informed and committed governing board. This we have. Many of the members of the Board of Visitors serve to the point of personal sacrifice in terms of time expended in service to this college.

Thirdly, a college or university must enjoy the support of its alumnae. This we have. It has been my good fortune to visit 16 alumnae chapters, both within and outside the Commonwealth during the past 11 months.

On each occasion I have returned to our campus more impressed than ever with the devotion of the College's former students to Alma Mater.

Fourthly, a college or university must have a qualitative and responsible student body. This we have. At a time when many feel compelled to proclaim the unwillingness of young people to make sacrifices, I can point with great pride to 200 of our upperclassmen who relinquished the last four days of their summer vacation in order to return to Longwood to assist 500 freshmen through the difficult period of initial college adjustment.

Finally, and most importantly, a college or university must possess a faculty that is dedicated, well trained, and I might add, well compensated. This we presently have but we must also strive to assure its maintenance. In a world that is often characterized as impersonal, I receive almost daily evidence of a faculty that is willing to add the personal touch in resolving the problems encountered by our students. Perhaps the role this faculty seeks can best be captured in the following anonymous quotation:

"The great teachers of all time have been great not because of the facts which they taught, but because of the changes they wrought in the attitudes, the visions, the perspectives, and the ideals of man."

I will conclude by stating that we at Longwood can look forward to some measure of quantitative growth. But I would submit to you that for each quantitative step taken there must be an equal step that is qualitative in nature. It is to this quest for excellence, coupled with a preservation of the spirit that is Longwood, that I most humbly dedicate myself.

So Rome Fell

Excerpts from an editorial by GEORGE J. COOKE, JR.

President of American Alumni Council

A dozen or so years ago I wrote a leaflet for inclusion with an annual fund mailing at Princeton under the caption "Trouble in the Provinces." The cover showed two Roman gentlemen at ease in one of their fabulous baths, and the caption was in the form of a rhetorical question by one of them, who answered himself by saying: "No need to worry, Amicus—the Legions will take care of that." The text went on: So Rome fell, etc.

The printed piece then went on to make the case for education—and in particular for support of Princeton University.

The thoughts which prompted that piece haunt me even more today than they did then. Today I am asking myself whether a country conceived as was this one can make the grade. My meditations on that point find no comfort at all in the words of Walter Rostow, top advisor to President Johnson, who sees the United States standing "in mortal peril." The turbulence in the world, he says, threatens our ability to survive as a free and open society. Acknowledging that world situation, I am even more concerned about the turbulence within ourselves.

In the very freedoms guaranteed by our Constitution are seeds for our own destruction—in the hands of human beings, susceptible as they are to cupidity and self-interest and all the other faults to which flesh is heir, and who—most importantly—do not comprehend the purpose for which those freedoms were enunciated, nor the practical bases on which they depend for their survival—in the hands of Americans who do not understand their own country.

Last fall, in Washington, McGeorge Bundy addressed the 50th Annual Meeting of the American Council on Education, and said that in an era of unprecedented prosperity, neither business nor education has made its case with the people of the United States.

Mr. Bundy went on to comment, among other things, on the failure of our colleges and universities to disclose the full facts concerning their financial operations and status, and in terms understandable to the layman. I think you might agree that, with news media reporting a constant flow of breath-taking gifts and bequests, successful multi-million dollar campaigns, tuition increases and government grants, people generally have no conception of the real situation facing education today.

In one sense education is very well understood indeed—and I devoutly wish it were not so. I think you would join with me in decrying that day when a price tag of $100,000—in terms of added lifetime earnings—was affixed to a college degree. Is that the end we are seeking? I'm afraid too many of our people think so, and judging by the national percentage of our 20 million alumni who annually support their college or university by even $1—a percentage which remains constant at a dismal 20-22 percent—they regard that $100,000 as theirs to keep. What price education?

The dollar sign appears elsewhere in the system now, and with added implications, the effect of which cannot yet be foreseen. To avoid any misunderstanding, let me state most emphatically that I believe teachers should be paid, as well as respected. Teacher salaries were in a sorry situation following World War II, and we ought to be ashamed of ourselves for what we had allowed to happen. It happened because we had come to take "teaching" for granted, and figured—if we thought about it at all—that teachers had their dedication to keep them warm. It might even be said that indigence had become a hallmark of the profession. We began, here and there, to come awake after that war, but it took Sputnik to do the job. Salaries started up, but—I have always contended—for the wrong reasons, at least in the beginning—a matter of supply and demand more than full awareness of their indispensable importance.

I am afraid that we still have a long way to go before the proper concept of the educated man is generally understood and accepted. Too many of our people, including our alumni, still consider that with a college degree in their pocket they have it made, and all that remains is to get those dollars and a lot of leisure.

We have heard a good deal in recent years about adult education, continuing education and various other titles for life-time learning. I would like to propose a first-stage new term—and I will call it practicing education—the practical application, for the good of all, of what has already been learned. Let us hope that a clear understanding of the principles upon which this country was founded have been included in the educational process—from grade school on up. And let us also regard college as only the kindergarten of life—not as the culmination of intellectual development, let alone as the terminal point for the daily practice of what we have learned.

That is the obligation that rests on every alumnus. It is our responsibility to insure that he recognizes it—and discharges it.

I have said that education is one of two media through which we may eventually create the sort of world we yearn for. The primate other is found in the human and humane principles that have their roots in religion.

The course ahead is beset with arduous travail, but there is a shining beacon—far off—at the end of it. In traversing that course we shall have to put up, temporarily, with abuses and misuses of our Constitution and Bill of Rights—we shall have to suffer the indignity and frustration of seeing the safeguards of the individual utilized to postpone and even escape justice—we shall have to withhold condemnation of people as traitors until they have been adjudged traitors. To believe that we will not win is unthinkable—as is the alternative. And when we have won, this era of the United States of America will be recorded in history as the time when a great nation proved that it can endure, with freedoms for all. That is what is on trial in our country today.

The Longwood Story . . .

A Program Of Quality

In the complex and changing world which confronts all of us it becomes increasingly important that an institution such as Longwood constantly reassess its goals and needs. During the past six months the Board of Visitors, Faculty, and Administrative staff have devoted major attention to such a reassessment. It is the consensus of these groups that the measured pace of Longwood's quantitative growth be accompanied by growth that is qualitative as well.

After thoughtful consideration of the College's varied needs, it is our considered judgment that top priority should be assigned to the securing of financial support from non-tax sources in order that we may emphasize the qualitative aspects of the College's program. To this end we hope to obtain funds approximating 2-3% of our operating budget. We trust that friends of the College including alumnae, parents, foundations, and business interests will see fit to provide this level of financial support.

One of the problems that lies before us is that of dispelling the concept that an institution which receives the major portion of its financial assistance from state tax funds has no need for additional revenue. It should be noted that Longwood's appropriation from the 1968 General Assembly of Virginia was most fair. But it should also be pointed out that the General Assembly itself recognizes the need of a college for additional funds. Indeed, an Eminent Scholars Program has been established whereby the Commonwealth will match on a 50-50 basis institutional funds from non-tax sources for the purpose of attracting eminent and distinguished faculty members.

Because we at Longwood feel so strongly that quality must permeate everything that we do, we are proposing that financial resources derived from our fund-raising and development program be utilized for the attraction and retention of outstanding faculty and students. To this end we are recommending the following possible uses of funds contributed to the College:

1. The supplementing of existing funds for faculty educational and sabbatical leaves (both regular session and summer). This would include research grants to expedite and completion of dissertations.
2. The establishment of a fund to which faculty members would apply for small grants for the basic purpose of improving the quality of their classroom teaching.
3. The providing of travel funds for both students and faculty to attend conferences. Existing monies are extremely limited in this area.
4. The providing of student scholarship funds to be awarded in recognition of superior achievement. There are no scholarship funds available for this purpose.
5. The providing of additional faculty fringe benefits. We have found that the providing of fringe benefits frequently makes the difference as to whether or not we are successful in recruiting a particular faculty member. One hundred dollars can be a cheap price to pay for securing a superior professor.
6. The providing of funds to be matched on a five-to-one basis for a campus work program. This would furnish campus jobs for students and would also provide needed services for the College.
7. The supplementing of faculty salaries in cases of meritorious service or in order to add a distinguished professor or a person in a highly specialized area to the faculty. As noted earlier, the State of Virginia subsidizes at the 50% level a program for recruiting "eminent scholars." Non-tax funds must be used as the local institution's 50% contribution.

We sincerely believe that Longwood's future is a bright one. We ask that all friends of the College join with us in working to achieve our goal of an educational program that is characterized by its dedication to excellence.

Alumnae-Foundation Join In 1969 Fund Drive Goal Of $100,000

For a number of years two non-profit organizations have operated for the purpose of giving financial and moral support to Longwood College. These are your Alumnae Association and Longwood College Foundation, Incorporated. Each of these organizations has furnished significant support for which the faculty, staff, and students express their sincere gratitude.

It had been suggested by many individuals in the past few years that the two organizations, devoted to the same cause, could do considerably more through a joint effort than individually. Approval of this approach in supporting and demonstrating loyalty to Longwood was required by the Boards of the two organizations. Each Board appointed three of its members to a joint ad hoc committee. This committee met at Longwood in the summer and formulated its recommendations. They were:

- a. There is to be only one major fund-raising campaign each year and it will be a joint effort involving the Alumnae Association and Longwood College Foundation, Incorporated.
- b. All funds received from this campaign will be deposited in the Longwood College Foundation, Incorporated accounts. (This will simplify accounting and increase earnings through larger investments.)
- c. Longwood College Foundation, Incorporated will finance the internal operation of the Alumnae Association.

Your Fall Council approved these recommendations as did the Board of Directors of the Foundation.

Mr. Dave Crute, chairman of the Farmville drive, Colonel John Carr III, vice-president and development planner for the administration, Mr. Lester Andrews, president of the Longwood Foundation Board, and Mr. Eric Robinson, treasurer of the local Farmville drive for funds, discuss plans for the campaign which will be from January 15 to March 15, 1969.

Although I have mentioned the Foundation many times already, I'm sure many of you know little about it. In 1959, Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., then President of Longwood College, recognized the need for an organization that could involve itself in the area of private and corporate philanthropy in behalf of Longwood College. Through its efforts, real estate, stocks, bonds, and cash gifts have been available for Longwood's use. The present members of the Board of Directors are: Mr. Lester E. Andrews, President and Farmville Business Executive; Mr. C. Harrison Mann, Jr., Vice-President and Member Virginia House of Delegates; John E. Carr III, Secretary-Treasurer and Vice-President for Administration of Longwood College; Dr. Francis G. Lankford, Jr., former President of Longwood College; Dr. Henry I. Willett, Jr., President of Longwood College; Dr. Elizabeth B. Jackson, Professor at Longwood College; Mrs. Charles Appich, Jr., National President, Alumnae Association; Mr. Henry G. Chesley, Jr., Vice-Rector, Longwood College Board of Visitors; Mrs. Raymond Brown, Alumnae member; Mr.

Raymond T. Keister; Mr. W. Alfred Noell; Mr. Hunter C. Sledd, Jr.; Judge Rayner V. Snead; and Mr. J. Elmore Eubank.

This year's fund-raising campaign, with a goal of $100,000 began on December 2, when the local Farmville community, friends of the college, businesses, parents of students, faculty and staff were canvassed. This phase of the total campaign will end January 31, 1969. The entire Alumnae membership will be canvassed during January and February. Your Executive Secretary, the Chapter Presidents and I are working hard to insure that each alumna will be personally contacted by another alumna.

The administration and faculty sincerely hope that your experience at Longwood has afforded you an enriched and rewarding life. Your generous support of this year's campaign will permit us to insure an enriched and rewarding life for the currently enrolled "Longwood Ladies."

STAFF RETIRES AFTER 153 YEARS SERVICE

Five members of Longwood's staff retired last year: Dr. George W. Jeffers, Mrs. Mildred Davis, Miss Mary Pomeroy Nichols, Dr. C. G. Gordon Moss, and Mrs. Virginia Lindsey.

Dr. George W. Jeffers, one-time head of the biology department, heads those retiring. During his 42-year stay on Longwood's campus, Dr. Jeffers has won outstanding recognition on the state, as well as the national level. During 1940-41, he headed the National Association of Biology Teachers. Later he was president of the Virginia Academy of Science. From 1943-45, Dr. Jeffers was selected as director of a special study of the Chesapeake Bay Fisheries Commission, financed by the Rockefeller Foundation.

A native of Newfoundland, Dr. Jeffers was once a professional fisherman, following his father's occupation. At 22, he entered as a freshman at Boston University where he later did his graduate work. He received his doctorate in 1931 from the University of Toronto.

What made Dr. Jeffers go to school? "I was off the coast of Newfoundland fishing," he began, "and I was hungry. It was then that I decided to earn enough money so I wouldn't have to be hungry again! I couldn't depend on fishing for three meals a day—so I decided to go to college."

Dr. Jeffers took his post on Longwood's campus in 1926. "At the time I needed a job," he admitted; "I didn't choose Longwood, she chose me!" Dr. Jeffers has had two interests—"women and fish." While here he had kept a log book entitled "Biology at Longwood" which dates back to the founding of our college in 1884. In this book, Dr. Jeffers has included the student government president, the heads of the biology department and the staff and also the lab assistants. He also has a record of all the biology majors and minors!

Asked why he was retiring, Dr. Jeffers answered mildly, "Well, I was born in 1897, and you can't work past 70." After retirement, he plans to "find somebody with a boat and go back to fishing!"

Mrs. Mildred Davis, the former Miss Mildred Dickinson from Hampden-Sydney, began her stay at Longwood as a boarding student her last two years of high school. She graduated here in 1922 and received her master's degree at U. Va. in English. She has completed summer studies at U.N.C., Cornell University, and Bread Loaf School of English in Middlebury, Vermont.

She taught English and history in Puerto Rico for two years and completed 12 years' teaching in Virginia public high schools. During her 24-year career at Longwood, she has been acting head of the English department twice, in 1950 and 1953. The following year, Mrs. Davis was president of the Virginia Association of Teachers of English.

She has been to South America and has traveled extensively in Europe. After retirement she plans to see more of her two grandsons and take a Mediterranean cruise and see the Greek Isles. "I've talked and thought about Greece for so long in teaching the 'Odyssey'. Now I'll get to go there."

Miss Mary Pomeroy Nichols from Petersburg is also a Longwood graduate. A member of the class of 1923, she boasts that during the time she was here, she attended State Normal School, State Teachers' College and, finally, Longwood. Although she has taught 45 years, she holds a 39-year Longwood service record during which time she has been in three different departments: Modern Languages, History and Social Science and English.

Miss Nichols gave instruction in Spanish while enrolled as an undergraduate and also attended the Middlebury School of Spanish as a language student. In 1928 she received her master's at U. Va. She has done summer graduate work at Columbia, University of Colorado, Ohio State, Duke Univ. and Oxford University.

C. G. Gordon Moss (named Charles George Gordon by his father after an English general killed in Egypt in 1880's) is a native of Lynchburg who did undergraduate work at Washington and Lee and received his doctorate at Yale. Dr. Moss has been in teaching since 1921, and from 1947-1960 he headed Longwood's department of History and Social Sciences. He was dean of the college from 1960-1964, and has served twice as the faculty advisor for Judicial Board.

After teaching at Episcopal High School and a stay of 12 years at Mary Washington College, he returned to Longwood's campus. After retiring, Dr. Moss plans to continue "my work with the Prince Edward Community Action Program and the Prince Edward Council on Human Relations—people are my hobby," he explained.

Mrs. Virginia Lindsey, laundry manager since November 1941, is retiring after 27 years' service. Mrs. Lindsey graduated in 1925 as a chemistry major and a minor in home economics. She "attended" Longwood most of her life. "From the time I was three years old, I took kindergarten courses in West Wing. My elementary and my high school days were spent on Longwood's campus, too—it was called a 'training school' at the time."

After graduation, Mrs. Lindsey helped with the family laundry business until her appointment here.

Heading a staff of 17 until her official retirement in November, Mrs. Lindsey plans to move to Florida to be near her daughter. Anyone who has met Mrs. Lindsey will appreciate her clever wit and undaunted humor.

You And Our Present Students Are Our Best Salesmen

by

DR. HERBERT R. BLACKWELL, Dean of the College

The traditional pose of the miser shows him grasping frantically for more wealth while holding frantically to that which he already possesses. The casual observer may easily regard as miserly the struggle of the prudent man to lay aside a sufficient reserve for future needs while attempting to expand modestly his present holdings. Of course, there is always the man who has less than he needs, who must, therefore, struggle frantically to keep up appearances or who lets what he has deteriorate for lack of sufficient capital to maintain it.

I present these illustrations as analogical to the present situation regarding admissions at Longwood College, and I am appealing to her alumnae for help. At first glance we might seem miserly, for in the past few years we have had more qualified applicants for admission than we have been able to accept, and, regrettably, we have had to close our doors to some girls we would have welcomed into our midst had we had the space for them. This situation has continued despite the several increases in enrollment that we have experienced in the past few years. Yet we are going to make a major effort to intensify our recruitment of new students for the coming year. Why? Because it is necessary to maintain the quality of excellence which we presently have on the Longwood campus. Two major problems confront us. One is our anticipated growth—by almost two hundred students in 1969 and another two hundred in 1970; the other problem is that more facilities are being made available to provide higher education in Virginia, and the competition for good students is increasing markedly. Both of these problems are healthy signs of the vigorous interest in higher education throughout the Commonwealth and we face them cheerfully. But if we fail to meet their challenge successfully, we will negate much of what the College has worked for in the past decade.

First let us look at our goals. Longwood's first commitment is and will remain the training of teachers for the public schools. Teaching, in words that are more true than ever despite their triteness, is rewarding, exciting, and absolutely essential to the growth of human society. It is a job that requires intelligence, a wide breadth of knowledge, skill in presentation, and the highest moral character—all of which Longwood seeks to develop. Teacher training is our first, but not our sole objective. For many other professional careers are open to modern women. The prospective teacher is best nurtured in an environment where she comes into contact with many divergent experiences. Thus, we have a second goal to provide our students with training that will fit them for roles other than teaching, and we welcome a prospective doctor, lawyer, or computer mathematician. We are happy to receive the young lady who isn't sure just what she wants to do, but who would like to explore the intellectual possibilities that we can offer her. Our ultimate concern is to provide a place for every student who wants to attend our institution and is academically qualified to do so.

In recent years we have come close to fulfilling that goal. Most qualified students have been able to gain admittance.

We intend to come even closer to that goal, and that is why we are expanding our enrollment. But we also need to make some additional effort to attract more girls to Longwood in order that we may still maintain a reserve of qualified applicants to draw from in meeting special academic needs as they may arise. Failure to develop such a reserve could lead us, in some unforeseen emergency, to two alternatives, both unsatisfactory: one is that we admit unqualified students in the hope that somehow they will succeed where indexes of performance point to failure; some will, in fact, do so, but most will not, and the heartaches of broken expectations are not worth the price. Furthermore, the presence of large numbers of such students would inevitably weaken the academic training of the others. The second alternative would be to leave our new dormitory rooms unfilled, and the preposterousness of this proposal is self-evident.

If, then, we need to attract more well-qualified students, what do we mean by well-qualified? Our catalogue makes only one absolute requirement of academic excellence: students must be in the upper one-half of their high school graduating class. Of course, they must have completed a specified curriculum in their high schools, a requirement that poses no particular complications, and they must "have made a score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test of the College Entrance Examination Board high enough to indicate success at Longwood College". This last requirement is kept deliberately vague because the members of our Admissions Committee weigh the Board scores carefully against other indications of academic success or failure, including results of other tests, and the scores are not nearly as important a determinant as legend holds them to be. High school achievement is perhaps the most important index. In actuality, more than four out of every five of our students rank in the upper one-fourth of their high school class, and it is from this group of students that we are most anxious to receive applications. But it is a distortion of our admissions policy to assume, as we have found an increasing number of prospective applicants to assume, that we will select candidates only from this category. Such is far from the case. Any good admissions director—and we have an excellent one—knows that there must be flexibility in admissions, that there must be recognition of the "late bloomer", that there must be sensitivity to special talents, that there are other indexes than high school achievement to point out prospective college success.

The full details about Longwood's policies and curricular offerings are readily available on request at our Admissions Office. Our problem is making prospective students aware of Longwood's availability and its excellence. We believe that if we can present the Longwood story to them we can excite them as we ourselves are excited by its possibilities. Our best salesmen are our present students and our alumnae, and we need the help of both in the next two years to fulfill the plans that we have undertaken. Various external changes in campus life have taken place and have been reported to you in your Alumnae Bulletin. But the essential things that make Longwood what it is remain—the dedication of her students and faculty, the warmth and friendliness of her campus life, the sense of personal interest and identification which continue here and will continue, the high moral character of our student body. We have one of the best student-faculty ratios in the state, and we have an excellent library, we have modern laboratories, and adequate classroom space.

One special group of prospective students is very much on our minds, and we want as many of them as possible.

These are the daughters of our alumnae. I can imagine no greater recognition of the value of a Longwood education than for a mother who has received one to recommend it to her child. We have many alumnae daughters and granddaughters on our campus today. We would love to have more.

We hope that wherever they can, our alumnae will make known to high school students the attractive possibilities of a Longwood education. We hope that they will let us know about students who would be assets to our campus, in order that we might contact them. Most appeals to alumnae are for financial assistance. This one calls only for a good word.

Oktoberfest Weekend Adventure of Norfolk-Portsmouth Chapter

A chartered bus brought thirty-eight alumnae and their guests—high school seniors—to a tour of Longwood. Liz Jones, alumnae director, was on hand to greet them.

Dr. Willett chats with members of the group during coffee hour given in their honor at the Alumnae House. The students were handed brochures of Longwood and shown around campus. They had the opportunity to hear the Fort Lee Band play in Jarman Hall, and the pleasure of visiting the Midway of Oktoberfest.

The alumnae and students were most impressed with the Lankford Student Activities Building—seeing the Snack Bar which is operated by the Alumnae Association, watching students play ping-pong and taking advantage of the bowling alleys.

Births

The four members were luncheon guests in the dining hall, and afterwards were given an opportunity to view the huge and beautiful Oktoberfest Cake which was served to the students after the class skits.

Sallie Chew Leslie was on a trip to Mexico. Ann Woodruff Hall was spending the winter in Florida. Mildred Potts Albright was visiting in Knoxville. Many thanks to the classmates who helped me to get out letters seeking news about members of our class. You really did a fine job, and it has been fun reading about the happenings of families.

As Louise Morgan Crane says, "Memories grow so much dearer as we grow older—and it seems impossible to believe that forty years have gone by." Last spring by breaking her right arm, she had a siege of inactivity which postponed a trip that she and her husband, Lloyd, had planned. She hopes to be with us for our 40th reunion.

Mary Miller Patrick Riggins has two daughters who received their degrees from Westhampton. The older daughter, married to an Actuary with Conn. General Life Ins. in Hartford, has six-year-old twins (a boy and a girl) and a five-year-old girl. Her younger daughter, married to a doctor, has a seven-month-old daughter. They live in Charlotte, N. C. Her husband has one more year of Residency at Charlotte Memorial—then has two years in the army. They enjoyed an Easter vacation with all members of the families, visiting Mary Miller and her husband in Hampton.

Helen McHenry McComb took time to write a resume of their experiences. She was married in 1935 and moved to Louisiana in 1936. For ten years she taught in the primary grades, was active in church work, Red Cross, Eastern Star, and Rainbow for Girls. In 1947 she was Matron of Eastern Star; since then she has held positions in Grand Chapter, including two years as a Grand Officer and one as District Deputy Grand Matron.

I was surprised with a phone call from Lucille Copeland Lanier to find that she lives not too far from me in Va. Beach, and I learned that her husband is Vice-Pres. of Smith-Douglas Co. They have a daughter, 17, who graduated in June from First Colonial High School, Va. Beach, and entered Wm. & Mary in September. Lucille expressed a desire to attend our 40th reunion.

After finishing at S.T.C., Lucille Moon Martin taught school for two years before her marriage to Lloyd Martin. They make their home in Cartersville where she says they have had 38 wonderful years together. They have three children. Lloyd, Jr., is married and has three children of his own. Barbara Gray, who was graduated from Longwood in 1963, is a Physical Education major and is teaching in Cumberland Co. Her husband, Don, a graduate of Randolph-Macon College, coaches and also teaches Phys. Ed. in Cumberland Co. in the same school. Elma Joyce and her husband, a VPI graduate, are living in Athens, Ga., where he is attending the U. of Ga., studying Veterinary Science. Joyce finished a commercial course at Smithdeal-Massey and is working in the law library at the U. Now that Lucille's children are grown, she is teaching again for her fifth year at Huguenot Academy. She is also interested in attending our 40th reunion.

Just when news was being gathered in May, Roberta Skipwith Self was excited about the birth of her first grandchild, a boy. She said the arrival has made her and her husband, Milton, another happy, proud, and silly couple. Their two sons, Jimmy and Bob, both graduated. Bob received his Ph.D. during the summer and planned to teach a year at Duke. Jimmy became a doctor June 3rd and was first in his class at Bowman-Gray Medical School, a division of Wake Forest U. He, Elise, and the grandbaby left for Los Angeles the last of June where he is an intern at the U. of Calif. Hosp. Now that the boys are on their own, Roberta and Milton are thinking about retirement years and are planning to build and live on Pine Knoll Shores, N. C. when Milton retires in 1970. Roberta has been substituting in Raleigh schools for two years and says it has been great to get back into the classroom again. She is planning to join us at Longwood for our 40th reunion.

The most exciting thing that has happened to Florence Townsend Powell was recorded in the "Charlotte News," April 23, 1968. There was a picture of Florence and her daughter, Mrs. Don Hill, examining the Westinghouse dishwasher given to Florence by Cannon Appliances, as her prize for being second runner-up to the sweepstakes winner for a recipe given to her by an aunt in Fla. The recipe is for "Copper Pennies"—carrot slices marinated in a tart dressing. Congratulations, Florence! Last winter, Florence, who is a substitute school teacher, and her husband, Roy, who is a farmer, vacationed in Fla., visiting relatives and seeing Cypress Gardens. Florence keeps busy sewing and doing handwork and teaching Sunday School, and substituting. While in the hospital in May, with a severe infection, Elizabeth Southard Gullledge visited her several times. Elizabeth lives with her son Walter in Bennettsville and works for the Clerk of the Court of Marlboro Co. Florence hopes to join us for our 40th reunion.

Mildred Deans Shepherd has reared her own family and now loves taking care of the grandchildren. The newest grandchild is Deborah, daughter of Susan Shepherd Eacho, a 1964 Longwood graduate who lives in Fla. Mildred's older son, Robert E. Shepherd, Jr., is a prominent Richmond lawyer and holds office in the Young Democrats of Va. Her younger son, "Burch", is in the medical corps of the Navy and is stationed at the Naval Hospital in Portsmouth.

Since graduation from STC, Fannie Smith Murphy has been teaching, with the exception of seven years, to have her two boys. They are married. Carl, who lives in Newport News, has three girls. Marion, who lives in Hampton, hasn't any children. At present Fannie is teaching a first-grade class at Mt. Hermon Elem. School. Mary Amanda Lindsay Morris and husband, Shann, live in Staunton. She is the Medical Laboratory Technician at the De Jarnette State Sanatorium. She and her husband visited Longwood in the fall of '67 and were amazed at the new buildings and changes.

Frances Milliken Aderhold has one son, Rick, who is a doctor-graduate from Davidson College and Medical School of the U. of N. C. at Chapel Hill. He served his internship at U. of Fla. at Gainesville and is now serving three years of Residency in Psychiatry at the U. of Fla. When Frances' husband retires in three years, they plan to locate somewhere in Fla. Rick and his wife have a one-year-old daughter, Leigh.

Lee Bacon Hite writes that she is married to John Richard Hite, Jr., of Kenbridge. He is a heating and plumbing contractor. They have two sons; John Bacon Hite, a '66 graduate of VPI was married August 28, 1967, to Frances Carrol Holmes of South Hill, a 1966 graduate of Longwood. He, a First Lieutenant in the Army, is located in Germany. Richard Thomas Hite is a member of the class of '69 at the U. of Richmond.

Elizabeth Anderson Duckwall's husband, Joseph, is completing his 43rd year as an ordained minister and is now serving two country churches (Pine Grove and Mattox Presbyterian). Their son, Francis Joseph, completed his studies as a pediatrician at the Medical College of Va. in '68 and is practicing in Roanoke. Their daughter, Margaret Chesterman, and family in Mexico plan to spend the winter of '68 in Nashville, Tenn., while Gary Campbell, her husband, attends Scarrit College for graduate work. Beth and Joseph were excited grandparents when their fifth grandchild, Thomas Edwin Duckwall, was born April 19 at Medical College.

A write-up about Eunice Bassett Leyland in the Newport News "Daily Press" states that, in addition to her duties as a fifth grade teacher at John W. Daniel School in Newport News, she has found time to participate in community activities, especially in the Woman's Club and in the organization of the Newport News Education Assoc. Credit Union for the teachers. In Trinity Methodist Church, she served many years as superintendent of the Primary and Junior Depts., and as vice-president of the Wesleyan Guild. Says Eunice, "To me the real pleasure in life is doing for others and walking this life with God." Married to Walter Leyland, a native of England, they have two sons: Walter Jr., and Thomas Leyland. In 1956 she returned to the teaching profession at the request of her supt. The new mathematics was such a challenge that she spent much of her time studying it at Wm. & Mary in the evenings and is now teaching 7th grade math at Saunders School in Newport News and is also instructing the parent classes in Modern Math. As with most of us now, the exciting part of life is the grandchildren. Walter Jr., married to Shirley Lucy, a Longwood graduate, has a son and a daughter. Thomas and his wife have two daughters. She is looking forward to our 40th reunion.

I am still doing substitute teaching in Norfolk City Schools after having taught for five years at Larrimore Elem. School. I keep busy with home and church activities.

In my letter to twenty-five of you I stated that I find it a little harder to write with the passing of each year; this is more than true. I am often tempted to write the Alumnae Secy. to give up my job, and then along comes a letter from one of you, which makes it all so worthwhile. One such instance was hearing from Frances Edwards after 35 years. Frances is director of the Washington Co. Public Library in Marietta, Ohio.

Last September I landed back in the hospital with a recurrence of my old trouble and have had to undergo drug therapy at the Medical College of Va. all winter. The doctors have used me for a guinea pig and are very proud of my progress for which I am grateful. While in the hospital, I had a letter from A. J. Scott Diedrich in Columbia, S. C. Her daughter, Jane Karseras, married a VPI man and lives in Rocky Mount, Va. They have one son, and I quote "... our only grandchild who, of course, is beautiful, smart and all those things grandparents say." Son Phillip graduated last year from Greenbrier Military School with military honors and is now attending the U. of S. C. A. J. had to have cataracts removed from both eyes in the spring of '67 and says it is wonderful to see again with her "spook" glasses.

Ruth Hunt writes that she is still on the move. Last summer she attended an Institute for English teachers at VPI. In the summer of '66 she visited in Turkey, Egypt, and Portugal. "I like Europe better, much better," she said. Everyone will be happy to know that Jane Witt Kisler is much improved and was able to do her own writing at Christmas. Keep up the good work, Jane. Virginia Bledsoe Goffigon wrote saying she loved apartment living at the Algonquin House in Norfolk. Charlotte Hutchins Roberts says that an apartment is "something else." Virginia turned her home over to her son, Page, Jr., and his family. "Gin", as we knew her best, has two grandchildren.

I can always count on Charlotte's giving me some news concerning some of our class. Of course, all news cannot be good, and I was sorry to learn that Virginia Bedford was forced to take a leave of absence from the Longwood Faculty because of a broken hip. Our love and best wishes to you, Virginia.

From Manassas came a note from Anne Watkins Rice Elliott whose oldest son has just graduated from Union Theological Seminary in Richmond and is to be pastor at the Burkeville Presbyterian Church. The younger son Peyton graduated this June from W. & L. Congratulations to you and yours, Anne.

After many years it was nice hearing from Kitty Marchant Freed. After going up and down in the Woman's Club and Garden Club, she has been taking out time planning and building a home in sight of those beautiful Blue Ridge Mountains in Waynesboro.

Also from Waynesboro was a letter from Nancy St. Clair Traynham '34x. Her oldest son, John, after graduating from VMI, received his M.D. Degree from the U. of Va. and completed his internship at Tripler General Hospital in Hawaii. He is now a captain in the army at Fort Campbell, Ky. The oldest daughter Tiffany is married to Larry Klappenbach and lives in Tampa, Fla. They have three sons, and Nancy St. Clair, the youngest daughter, is a pharmacy major at MCV in Richmond. Nancy and husband Ed had a "simply Wonderful" trip to Hawaii while John was interning there.

Nan Mears Kirby has been getting around too; her life sounds like real luxury. She and her husband, Dr. Bill Kirby, who is chief anesthetist at the hospital in Cranston, R.I., enjoy boating. Both daughters are married and live not too far away in New England. Paula, the older, will present the Kirbys with their first grandchild this fall.

Mary Virginia Robinson is assistant book editor of John Knox Press and has edited an anthology Stories for Christmas which will be a Christian Herald Bookshelf Selection.

Those of you who could not answer my letter in time for this printing, please drop me a card at Christmas or at some convenient time for my 1969 news letter. I am off now to see my Stephen graduate from VMI on June 9; he will attend law school at W & L in Sept. Michael is finishing his "rat" year at VMI. MP and I own several bricks in that institution.

My love and every good wish to each of you and yours.

The Class of '34 seems to be reporting in as a class of doting GRANDMOTHERS. That is as it should be, I'm sure, as we've gone through one generation and are starting on another since our graduation.

It comes as sort of a jolt that we will be celebrating our 35th reunion next Founders Day, but happy are we to have lived so long!

"Grit" Parker Pond, our President, heads our roll call with one grandson and another grandbaby any day. She extends her best wishes to each member of our class and hopes that we can have a large representation for our upcoming reunion.

Next in order of returned letters, comes one from Postmaster Margaret Hunter Watson of Darlington Heights. She tells about her two grandchildren belonging to her first son and also about her second son who is teaching music at East Carolina U.

Gertrude Suggen Rogallo wrote that her four children are all doing well in the armed forces, in aero-space, teaching, and teen aging. She is proud of two grandchildren. Dot Fugate Griggs and her doctor husband visited their doctor son and their three "lovely" grandchildren in Germany. Her daughter and husband live in Kentucky.

Speaking of European visitors, Ruth Gaines McClaugherty is planning a tour to Ireland, Scotland, and the Scandinavian countries this summer. She was in Europe and Russia last summer and traveled around the world the year before! Ida Mason Miller Dickson reports from Richmond that, in addition to teaching and keeping house, she finds time to play with her four grandchildren. From Woodford, Alice McKay Washington (Mrs. George) writes about her two-year-old granddaughter and of her daughter who is a Junior at Longwood. Alice plans to join us in March.

Elmer Foster is librarian at Fauquier H. S. in Warrenton, and Pauline Hawkins Bruce '34x teaches Latin there. She says they talk frequently about their days at Farmville. Alice Rowell Whitley from Smithfield says that she's finally taken up golf. She has two children; one married and one in college. Her husband is a circuit court judge. She sees many Farmville girls at the club.

Another European traveler is Lib Kelly Kearfott of Martinsville who has been to see her son who is studying in France. She joins the grandmothers as her daughter has a three-year-old. Claudia Barleon Burkey and husband Bill, manufacturer, enjoy cruising and racing their 42 foot yawl. They have enjoyed extensive travel, including trips to Germany, Moscow, Poland, Denmark, Warsaw, and Siberia.

At this point, I think I shall insert a couple of "old maids"—Helen Westmoreland and me, Berk Nelson. Helen is teaching in Petersburg and traveling when she can. For lo these many years, I've been teaching history and government at Osbourn High School in Manassas. I think I said once that I'd been fighting the "third" battle of Manassas for some years. According to the dates on my certificate, I'll soon have to make it the "fourth."

McClenny Saunders, Jr., 14, son of Sarah Elizabeth Ferguson Saunders, '39.

Mary Easley Hill Steger sends word that she and Sue Yeaman Britton got together recently and discussed our approaching reunion. I hate to tell them, but they were a whole year behind.

Alice Marshall Wertheimer '34 has two sons, a daughter, and a grandson. Tim, the older son, graduated from Woodberry Forest and then from W. & L. Living on the James River they naturally enjoy boating. Many Longwood Alumnae live in their area, and they see one another often.

Once again I enjoyed writing the newsletter. It's such fun receiving your letters, and I prize each one. Somehow as the years pass much too quickly, I feel and I quote from our Alma Mater "Our daughters true, faithful and loyal will be," becomes a reality.

Each year seems busier than the one before. Mine has been just that—Jill was married last year, and I am now the proud grandmother of a lovely baby girl, Kelly Ann Miller. Fortunately, Jill and Bob live a short distance from Bay Shore so that I am able to do some "spoiling." Bill, Jr., married, and a resident of Denver, Colo., is now in the army, stationed at Fort Dix, N. J. He has just completed his basic, is now in AIT, and will go on to OCS in September. Dec, his wife, will join him in August. Bill, Sr., marks his 20th year with the Grocery Brokerage. I continue to substitute (Phys. Ed.), do hospital volunteer work, and keep up all water sports. Bill and I enjoyed a week at King's Inn in the Grand Bahamas in February—played golf daily and gambled at night.

1970 is fast approaching, and this "Yankee gal" is getting anxious to see you all. Our '65 reunion was terrific, and '70 can top that now that our families are grown and we are in a position to get away. Let's make 1970, our 30th reunion, the greatest!!!

"Maude" Frances Alvis Hulbert, Jr. "my roommate of four years," writes that life is great and her boys grow more interesting each year. Ned, her oldest, completed his first year at Davidson College; Robin will be a senior in high school, and Davis, 11, will enter 7th grade. They will all be working this summer, but their leisure hours will be spent on the tennis courts and golf course. "Maude", Irwin, and boys enjoy skiing and sailing on the beautiful Pamlico River. It was great, speaking to "Maude" last year. Had it not been for the Long Island Sound (she was on the wrong side in Conn.) and her time was limited, we would have enjoyed a good "ole "Ritz Row" bull session.

Agnes Buchanan Delong is finishing her tenth year of teaching in Augusta, Co., but actually has been teaching twenty years. Her son Bill is 14; Susan, 11; and Betsy 8. Bill received his God and Country Award in Boy Scout work, is a First Class Scout, and will camp this summer.

Because of illnesses both Anita Carrington Taylor and her husband's outside activities are few. Their only child Bill graduated from Duke on June 3, "summa cum laude" in the field of mathematics. He was married June 15 and will begin his doctorate in theoretical math at the U. of Wis. He was awarded a National Science Foundation Fellowship.

Jean Clark Fuller has been teaching since 1942 and is chairman of the Social Studies Dept. at Fieldale Collinsville High School. She is president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, working with children's groups, and has attended conventions in Atlanta, Ashville, and Baton Rouge. Jean teaches Sunday school and was flattered to have the class named for her. She is also on the Board of Trustees. Jean and her husband are square dancing enthusiasts, spending a week at the camp at Brevard, N. C., last summer. They traveled also to Canada for Expo '67 and visited NYC and Lake George.

Mary Louise Cunningham Warren, as President of the Va. Federation of Home Demonstration Clubs, attended the National Ext. Homemakers Council Conference in Brookings, S. Dakota, and represented the Council in Lansing, Mich. Her husband accompanied her, and they enjoyed a fine vacation through New York State and Canada. They will attend the annual meeting in Blacksburg in July.

ated from Va. Law School in June and will join the faculty of the U. of Ala. Law School. Daughter, Chris, works in the Guidance and Testing Center at the U. of N. C. She is working on a degree in Library Science while her husband studies for a Ph.D. in English. Marie and Taylor were in the midst of preparations for graduation at Hampden-Sydney when I received her letter.

Emil Ellis Wood—"my roommate for four years"—and husband, Walter, spent a weekend with Par Gibson Stewart '41 who is living in Arlington. I can just imagine that "bull session." Emil's son David had just taken his college boards. He made All-State band for the third year. Mike, her youngest, does very well scholastically. Both boys love sports, and everyone is happy. Emil, tell us more in your next letter about that great guy—Walter.

Beulah Ettinger Cobbs is still teaching Latin at Montevideo High School. Beulah, her husband, and younger son Bill who is at VPI, will take a Mediterranean Cruise as well as visit Spain, Italy, Greece and other places this summer. This will be their third summer abroad. Her older son, Howard Jr., is married and teaching Drama and English in Richmond. Beulah's husband is a Presbyterian minister and the Administrator of Sunnyside Presbyterian Home for the Aging. He was recently elected vice-chairman of the Governor's Commission on Aging. I enjoyed the brochures that Beulah sent. Wish all of you could have seen them.

Jerry Hatcher Waring—we finally have an "Avon Calling" representative in our class of '40. Jerry wrote that she would probably talk more than sell. I can vouch for that, if Jerry hasn't changed. She is a new mother-in-law since last Dec. Daughter Linda graduated from N. C. last June, went into the Peace Corps, and is now stationed in Afghanistan where she is teaching nursing. She had planned to be married when she arrived there, so Jerry saw to it that she had her wedding dress etc., with her when she left. They were required to have a Moslem wedding first, than a few weeks later had their Christian ceremony. Jerry saw the movies and felt as though she were actually there. Her youngest son is a senior at the U. of Mich. He will be going into stock brokerage. Barbara went to East Carolina this past year, and Carol is a sophomore in high school. Her oldest son works in Raleigh, N. C. Jerry enjoys art lessons, gardening, and watching the cattle and horse.

Martha Meade Hardaway Agnew teaches. Her son, Stuart, will go to RPI in Richmond in the fall. Jack is in the 11th grade, and Jim is in the 7th. She and her husband have a dairy farm. Rosemary Howell writes that she is completing her first year as Coordinator of Home Economics in Henrico Co. and loves it.

Helen Jeffries Miles, Jr., always anxious to learn more, is in graduate school and working toward her Master's in English. Helen's two sons graduated from VPI in June as did her future daughter-in-law. Hugh III was married on June 15. Jeff, her second oldest, and Helen were initiated into Phi Kappa Phi together—the first time this chapter had had a mother-son initiated together! Bill will be a senior in high school. Helen sees many of the Longwood graduates throughout the year. She had lunch with Betty Peceran Coleman '42 who is now living in Calif. She met Jane McGinnis McGregory's daughter, Ginny and Kitty Waite de Rossets's ('41) daughter, Kitty Helen.

Sara Keesee Hiltzheimer, Jr., gained a daughter when Sara's son was married on June 24 to a Kingsport girl. He graduated from Tenn.

Wesleyan and is now at Fort Sill, Okla., in OCS. Her second son is finishing his second year at VPI—Danville and will continue at Blacksburg next year. Sara has been an elem. librarian since 1956 and was elected president of the School Lib. Dept. of VEA for two years. Both Sara and her husband Fitz play golf and work with the youth of the Methodist Church. She is Supt. of the Division, and Fitz teaches the college class. They have established a coffee house at the church, and Sara enjoys the choir and some solo work!

Ann Maney Boelt—Although her husband would question it, Anna claims she works almost full-time as a bookkeeper in her husband's grocery store in Powhatan. She is active in church and community work. Billy, her son, is at the U. of Richmond; and Judy, at Chowan, N. C.

Mary Walker Mitchell Hughes—When Mary Walker received my card, she was just winding up her year as president of the Imps and setting up the program for the next twelve months as vice president of the Fine Arts Forum; she was also getting her daughter, Evelyn, ready for a trip to Europe. Mary Walker attended the Georgia Veterinary Medical Assoc. meeting in June at Jekyll Island, Ga.

Lorana Moomaw—"Moo" is teaching 7th grade English and history at Woodrow Wilson in Roanoke. She is working on her 18th hour beyond her masters. "Moo" plans to visit New England and Nova Scotia this summer. Good luck, "Moo"!

Nancy Moss Wollbrinck—This has been a busy year with Nancy's son graduating from Fishburne Military School, and her oldest daughter is graduating with honors from Fairfax Hall. Carol is a freshman at Tazewell High. Although Nancy had a little set-back because of a slight heart attack in Dec., she feels fine now and keeps active in church, Woman's Club, and DAR.

Marion Shelton Combs—A memorable year for Marion. She has acquired a daughter-in-law, a son-in-law, and two granddaughters. She said, "being a grandmother is just great!" Marion is looking forward to seeing you all at the reunion in 1970. Myra Smith Ferguson—Our elem. Phys. Ed. teacher is still going strong! One son will finish college next year, and one will finish high school. Myra has seen Kent (Betty Willis), Emily Wescott '43, and Harriet Haskins Eubank '41. Shirley Stephens Clausen—Because of the incorrect address Shirley did not receive my card until after the deadline. She did write me, however, to explain the delay and promised she would fill us in for the next bulletin. Shirley is living in Piedmont, Calif.

In Tazewell, Jane Crockett Peery Peery is the new president of the Va. Federation of Women's Clubs. She is the second woman from the Southwestern District to serve as president of the Federation. Olivia Stephenson Lennon—Olivia continues to teach Home Ec. in King William High School. Her son, Larry, completed his freshman year at Stetson U. in DeLand, Fla. This year Celia enters 11th grade. John, her husband, is pastor of Sharon Baptist Church. Olivia had just had minor surgery on her hand when I heard from her. Here's hoping you are fine and dandy now. We'll see you at the '70 reunion.

Dear Forty-oners,

Our classmates never seem to lack for interesting happenings in their lives. It is good to hear from everyone and to pass on all the news.

Jean Upsbur Johnson wrote of her daughter, Jean, who graduated from Longwood in June and is teaching in Roanoke. Last spring she had the honor of being one of the Maids of Honor in the Apple Blossom Festival. Ellen Royall Story's ('42) daughter who attends RMWC was also in the court. Jean's son, Lee, was chosen President of the Student Body at Handley High School for this year, and he was a write-in candidate! A politician in the making!

Pat Gibson Stewart has completed the state requirements for certification in guidance and counseling. She says she doesn't expect to seek employment for a couple of years yet but wants "to stay current and to keep the rust from settling." Her husband must have the same streak of ambition for he is a doctoral candidate at GW in addition to heading the Washington office of Management Technology, Inc. Pat describes this as a "think-tank" establishment. Sounds like a busy and interesting family.

Nancy Fulton Harbuck is the wife of the Methodist minister in Monroe, Louisiana. Her oldest daughter is married and has a three-year-old son. Her seventeen-year-old daughter is still in high school. This family has been involved in building programs in four of the last five churches they have served. That's quite a record!

I ran into Thelma Courtney Scott at the state convention of Delta Kappa Gamma. Sara Keese Hiltzheimer, '40, and Sara Wade Owen, '43, were also on hand. Thelma is teaching in Northumberland Co., and this summer was a participant in the Old Dominion Humanities Institute held at U. Va. Evelyn Kail Trumble is a teacher of retarded children in Watertown, Mass. She prepared herself for this difficult task by studying at Boston U. Her two sons are Stuart, a graduate of Northeastern U., and Bruce who is a junior there.

Anne Cocks Vaughan's husband is pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Petersburg. They have three children, Robert II (Robin) a cum laude graduate of W&L in '66, who is now teaching in the Episcopal High School in Alexandria; Susan, a '68 graduate of Mary Baldwin; and Hugh Schuyler who is 16 and still at home. Jean Martin Rose is teaching first grade in Lynchburg. Helen Dooley Dungan has taught the past seven years in Roanoke.

Her 21-year-old twins are students at VPI. Virginia Sydor Allen is living in Wilsons. Her son, W. D. III, is a graduate of Randolph-Macon College, and her daughter, Nancye, is a student at RMWC. Anne, ten years old, completes the family.

St. Paul's Church in Suffolk is fortunate in having Irene Alderman Pinner as organist and choir director. She has studied organ for several years and her church's new organ is the finest in Suffolk! Irene's husband owns a floral shop. They have a daughter who is a graduate of Marjorie Webster College and a son, 12.

Liz Garrett Rountrey claims to be the laziest member of the class, but don't you believe it! At present she is serving as both literature secretary and financial secretary for her church. She entertained Fumi Wakayama Tajima's '40x daughter in her home at Thanksgiving a year ago when she was a student in this country. It was shortly after her visit to Liz that the girl received the sad news of her mother's illness which led in time to Fumi's death.

Jean Bourne is an instructor to Social Welfare workers for the state of Va. and does considerable traveling in that capacity. She has acquired a master's degree from Rutgers. Church kindergarten claims the attention and much of the time of Judith Marshall Powell, who "retired" from public school teaching after 21 years. Her husband is treasurer of the McDaniel-Kelly Electrical Co. in Lynchburg where they make their home. Mary Jane Jolliffe Light teaches fifth grade in Clearbrooke and boasts of two daughters and a son. Martha Wbelchel Plummer is a doting grandmother! Her daughter, Anne, has a little boy who is tops with his grandparents!

Linda Scorgie, Jean Moyer Scorgie's daughter, is training to go to Vietnam with the Red Cross. The members of her generation have the courage of their convictions, and we can be very proud of them. Jean's second daughter, Robin, graduated from high school in June and is now a student at Ohio U.

Some of the graduates of the summer of '41 have also written of interesting activities. Blanche Daughtrey's niece was 1968 May Queen at Longwood. Eloise Sykes Bell is widowed now and living in Palmyra. Her daughter is a math major at Mary Washington. Carolyn L. Ford Smithey is living in Staunton but previously has resided in Fla. and in Lynchburg. Her husband is an engineer with the Va. Dept. of Highways, and she is teaching math and science in the sixth grade. They have two children in high school.

Alma Hunt is Exec. Secy. of the Woman's Missionary Union, an auxiliary of the Southern Baptist Convention. She has written two books about the WMU and its work. Also she has traveled extensively in the Near East, Europe, South America, the Orient, and Africa. We are proud to have one of our members listed in Who's Who in America and Who's Who of American Women. Alma was Founders Day speaker in 1959. Julia Mahood has painted twelve portraits now hanging at Longwood, the latest being the portrait of Miss Florence Stubbs. She stays busy with her portrait painting since her retirement where she lives with a cousin in Lynchburg.

Carolyn Harvey Jones is teaching at Holland. Her son Rawles, is a student at U. Va. and Chris and Carol are in high school. Mary Frances Boxley is the clothing and home management teacher at Handley High School in Winchester. When the high school sponsored the Apple Blossom Festival she was in charge of designing and making the costumes, over 1500 pieces for each pageant! She is quite interested and active in the Winchester-Frederick Co. Historical Society and has served as curator of Abram's Delight since it was restored by the Society in 1060-65. Her own apartment has been open for the Garden Week Tours.

Evelyn Lupton Potter received her M.S. in Library Science from Drexel Institute of Technology. We are saddened by the death of Dorothy Truitt, but we are pleased to know that she was honored at the time of her retirement by having the school in Chesapeake where she had served as principal renamed in her honor.

I was sent by the Va. State Bar Assoc. to a three-week seminar held at Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge in June. My new job as Social Studies Supervisor has been interesting and my year has been a busy one. Do write me all the bits of class news you can. Write as soon as you see someone of our classmates or have an interesting experience. I'll keep the news for our next ALUMNAE BULLETIN.

Last year, I asked for guest editors and Opal Nelson Pegram, Jean Carr, and Ada Claire Snyder volunteered. Opal wrote it this year; so I have two in reserve. Ada Claire had retired from teaching, but it didn't turn out the way she had planned as her husband, who is principal of Fauquier High School, needed an English teacher; so she went to work for him in October. Anne Garnett Shealy and her husband visited the Snyders. Anne's two boys and club work keep her busy. Also in Washington were Warwick Mitchell Garfield and her husband. Warwick is an elementary supervisor in Van Nuys, Calif.

I want to thank someone or everyone for the beautiful pin I received the week after our reunion. It was quite a surprise and I was deeply touched. Well, we had it—the 25th. It was just great seeing all the girls and we had almost forty for lunch and about twenty-seven attended the banquet at the hotel Saturday night!

Jean Carr lives in Sarasota, Fla., and is employed by the Fla. Power Co. She plans to vacation in the U. S. this year for a change. Margaret Finney Powell, lives in Baltimore, is a teacher and has tremendous classes. She has one son. Alice Belote Curling is a teacher in Cape Charles, has two children, and she isn't as big as a minute. Elizabeth Walls Davis is a teacher in New Kent and has a son attending the U. She hasn't changed either. Susie Moore Cieszko lives in Havelock, N. C., has six children, and was given a little poem in honor of having the most children of the members present at our reunion. She helps her husband, who is a contractor.

Ann Moore Agricola has three children and lives in Portsmouth. Joice Stokes Duffy has been teaching school in Portsmouth for twenty-five years. Margie McAllister Haynes lives in Richmond, has a son who is a State Auditor, and a daughter who is a sophomore at Longwood. Ruth Kersey '44x does social work in Richmond. Jerry Smith Shawen—would you believe it—is a grandmother. She has a daughter 26 and a son 24. She received an award poem for having been married the longest in our class. Helen Lewis Bishop lives in Louisville, Ky., and has two children. Ann Rogers Stark looked stunning. She has two children and is working in a bank.

Brookie Benton Dickerman teaches and lives in Staunton. Lily Beck Gray Zehmer has three children and is living in Hampton. Sarah Wade Owen has been teaching for twenty-three years in Newport News. Frances Parham Jeanes lives in Orange and has five children.

Nell Pritchett Gordon has two children, and I believe is teaching. Bridget Gentile Melito, teaching in Chesapeake, has three children. Dot Childress Hill (looks just the same—lovely as when she was May Queen) lives in Orange and has five children—four of them in college. Betty Harper Wyatt lives in Hampton, and has two girls. Agnes Patterson Kelly lives in Fairfax where her husband is a lawyer. They have three children. Shirley Turner VanLandingham, living in Petersburg, has three boys, one of whom is quite outstanding at VMI.

Margaret Mish Timberlake, lives in Staunton, has four children. She works part-time as a receptionist at Mary Baldwin College. Jane Scott Webb, as she says, currently of Nigeria, has been wintering in Richmond, where one of her two daughters is attending RPI.

Amy Read Dickey, lives in Syracuse, N. Y., and was given a poem about having traveled the longest distance for our reunion. She has three children, her husband is an engineering consultant. Betty Youngberg Ottensen, living in Cincinnati, is employed by the Cincinnati Public Schools as a textbook supervisor. Elsie Stossel was due for the reunion but didn't show up. Shirley, as acting treasurer, was given 1¢ to help out on the budget! No one would admit to being the oldest there, but Maggie admitted to being the most mixed-up!

We received a wire from Bee Reid Paradis from Ethiopia, saying that she was thinking of us and wishing she could be there. Her husband is a legal advisor to Haile Selassie. Among some of the professors were Dr. and Mrs. Wynne who looked grand. Miss Stubbs, who had weathered a severe time fighting flu, was out again. Miss Moran was pouring at the coffee hour at the Alumnae House. Mr. and Mrs. Landrum both look wonderful. Miss Iler looks great. I saw Mr. McCorkle and Mr. Graham.

Saw Campy—Virginia Campfield Hay—Ann Covington Fulghum lives in Wilson, N. C., where her husband is a tobacconist, and they run an appliance business. Ella Marsh Pilkington Adams came all the way from Atlanta. Her son attends Oglethorpe; her daughter, Sally, graduated from Lovett this year and will attend the U. of S. C. this fall. Grace Collins Boddie has been selected as nominee for the Eighth Annual Federal Woman's Award. This "award provides special recognition to women who have made outstanding contributions to the efficiency and quality of the career service of the federal government."

I'm living in Garner, N. C., and have twin girls and a son who is a sports fan. My husband was PTA president this past year.

Many thanks to those of you who took time out from your busy schedules to reply to my request for news. Do wish I could have heard from more of you.

Margie Pierce Harrison and husband "Chap" spent two weeks at Daytona Beach in April. Their 17-year-old daughter, Kendall, will complete her second year at St. Margaret's in June. Margie wrote that she and "Chap" were planning to spend the week end of May 25th with Lillian Elliott Bondurant and Tom in Rice. They saw Jackie Parden Kilby and Claude in Chester last summer. Nancy Courter Bradshaw's daughter Betty plans to enter Averett College in Danville this fall and will major in Home Ec.

Virginia Shackelford McIntyre writes from Marion, S. C., that she stays occupied with three teenage daughters, church work, Girl Scouts, and garden club. She comes to Virginia at least twice a year and usually sees Beverly Peebles Kelly, who has a teenage son and daughter. Margaret McIntyre Armstrong, Virginia's sister-in-law, is married and living in Portsmouth. Carlotta Norfleet Wicke is in Greenwich, Conn.

Marjorie Vaughan Skidmore stays busy with son Colin, age 5, who will enter kindergarten in Sept. Margie is also enjoying a new home in Stamford, Conn.

Nancy Broughman Terry writes that her husband has just received a promotion with Helen Curtis Ind., Inc., and they are moving to Memphis, Tenn., where they are building a home. They have two children—a daughter Susan who will be a 7th grader next year, and a son, Randy, a senior. Randy plans to return to Va. in '69 for his college education.

Ruby Keeton lives in Victoria with her brother. "Boots" Bralley del Cardayre keeps busy with her three small boys. She received a note from Mary Anne Loiving Arbo after Christmas. Mary Anne and the two children were in Rome at that time, while Paul's ship was in the Mediterranean. They were planning to return to Washington in June, but Paul had been assigned as Senior Advisor to Vietnamese Navy for a year. With her furniture in storage, Mary Anne was planning to go to Hawaii to live while Paul is gone.

Martha Watkins Mergler, Don, and their two children, Debbie and Connie, are still living in Park Forest, Ill. They spent last summer in Decatur, Ala., while Don, who is Project Engineer with Amoco Chemicals Corp., built an addition to the plant there. Don is now building a Research Building in Naperville, Ill. Debbie will graduate from Rich East High in June and plans to attend Aurora College next year. Donnie is a freshman at Rich. Martha continues substitute teaching in Park Forest.

Frances Lee Stoneburner writes that "Mopsy" was elected President of Tri Delta Sorority at U. N. C. where she will be a senior next year. She loves Carolina and has just returned from Nassau. Lewis will be a senior in high school next year; he wants to become a lawyer. Hank will be in the 7th grade and is still playing Little League Ball. Lewis had to give up basketball and baseball because of a severe leg injury in the fall. Frances and Frank are fine, and Frances is playing a lot of golf and tennis.

Lucille Bell Barnes has a son stationed at Fort Benning where he is taking his basic training. Her younger son finishes John Marshall High School this year and plans to attend Calif. State U. in Calif., Pa. He wants to become a teacher and wrestling coach. He won the State Championship in the 120-lb. class in February. Lucille keeps in touch with Becky Norfleet Meyer, Madie Hunter Armstrong, and Dot Cummings. Becky and Madie live in Richmond; Dot lives in Prescott, Ariz.

Lois Lloyd Sheppard Lewis, who lives in Salem, has had a busy year with two PTA's (David attends Andrew Lewis and Betsy Anne, East Salem), church work, and garden club. She enjoys working with flowers and has sixty-five or more rosebushes. She was looking forward to seeing Virginia Price Perrow and her family, who were planning to be in Roanoke the week before Lois's family left on their vacation to Ocean Drive Beach, S. C.

Charlotte Baird Ferebee will retire, after 28 years, from teaching in her private school in West Ghent. Minnie Lee Crumpler Burger of Richmond, working for Central National Bank, will be teaching a Teller Introductory Training Course this year. Later this training program will be enlarged to include other types of introductory training as well as orientation meetings for new employees.

I attended Founders Day in March with my two sisters, Eday Brooks Wamsley '50 and "Peepsie" Brooks Howard '48. We were delighted to have the opportunity of meeting the new President and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Henry I. Willet, Jr. Wish all of you could see the beautiful Student Activities Building which is named for and dedicated to Dr. Lankford. Saw Lillian Elliott Bondurant at the Alumnae Coffee. Her son Tommy will be a sophomore at the U. of Richmond next year.

Thanks for your letters. Hope to hear from many more of you next year.

It was just grand stopping by the Alumnae House and seeing Elizabeth Jones and Mildred Davis. I didn't write my usual note to Jerry and I just wanted to say "Hello" to everyone.

We like St. Louis, but we surely do miss our Virginia friends. Haven't seen any Longwood girls out there, but I'm sure that it won't be too long before I'll meet someone. (Margaret)

With the ending of another school year, I have a week-long workshop to attend in Goldsboro, N. C. I am getting a daughter off to a college-sponsored Service Club beach party and a son and husband off for a golf tournament but I hope to settle down long enough to type this newsletter. Many thanks to each of you who contributed.

From Roanoke, Martha East Miller sent news. Betty Bennet Kitts is teaching fourth grade in Green Valley Elem. School, has a son going into the seventh grade, and a step-daughter who is a graduate nurse working at Vanderbilt Hospital in Nashville. Mary Goode Ingram is in National Institute of Health Hospital in Bethesda, Md., for an eight-to-ten week stay and is being treated for arthritis. I am sure she would love hearing from some of her Longwood friends and classmates. Alma Crawley is busy at the Roanoke Rehabilitation Center as a lab technician. Ann Shufflebarger Haner is quite happy in Roanoke where Byron is assistant city manager. They are building a new home and are happy to be "home" after their years of army traveling. Ann has two sons, Stephen, 13, and Daniel, 10. A year ago, on a trip from Calif. to Roanoke, she visited Hilda Bennett Garrett in Arkansas, where Hilda's husband is plant manager for Chase Bag Manufacturing Co. Ann and Martha Russell East Miller hope to see Hilda this summer when she visits her home in Bedford.

Janie Scaggs Henderson teaches second grade at Round Hill School in Roanoke. She is busy with teaching and church work. Martha writes that she is directing week-day kindergarten at the First Presbyterian Church and that her oldest son is a freshman at Hampden-Sydney and the other son is a junior at Patrick Henry High School.

And now from Roanoke to Richmond with Heidi Lacy Tokarz, reporting the news. Nellie Smith Goddin is busy with her three children and teaching the fifth grade at Collegiate School. They spend many week ends during the winter and most of the summer at their home on the Northern Neck at Bon Harbors. Heidi and Judy Rieck Bass enjoy living near one another in Bon Air. She has three small children, her oldest is in the first grade; so one can imagine how her time is spent. Mary Stewart Buford Peery has four children, the last two are eight-year-old twins. She stays busy with little league, car pools, and such. Claudine Guthrie Bryant has two children, one in the first grade and one in the fifth. She does substitute teaching in Henrico Co. Mary Harrison Slate teaches physical education at Tucker High School in Henrico Co. Her son is 18 and her daughter is 6. Mary has written a health glossary which was published last year by Lippincott. Some of you teaching in the Junior High might find this in your Health textbook. Ann Charlton Miller says she is a typical housewife and mother of four active boys. Ann Taylor Burnam has five boys. The oldest will enter college in the fall, and her youngest is three years old. Sarah Leech Johnston has recently moved back to Richmond after being away since her marriage. She lives close to Heidi and has a son in college and a daughter in high school. Dot Turley James has a girl 15 and a boy 12. She became the librarian at Huguenot High School in Chesterfield Co. last year. Heidi writes, "My family and I have been back in Richmond for two years, after being away for eight years. I have a boy 10 and a girl 11. We spent a weekend last summer with Sue Hundley Chandler and family and also with Eloise Stancell Godsey and family. They both looked wonderful, and we had a great time."

And from Richmond, let's look to a neighboring city, Petersburg, and hear what Jerry Newman Sandidge has to say. I'm teaching and find little time to do the things I'd like to." (This statement rings true for a number of us, Jerry, and it would be interesting to know the percentage of our class who are teaching now.) Ann Hauser Elmore's son is planning to attend RPI next year and major in commercial art. Ann says that Barbara Montgomery Connelly's daughter was crowned "Miss Park View High School" this year. Anne Willis Holden camped at Myrtle Beach last summer and hopes to camp all the way to Toledo, Ohio, this summer. Anne is busy with her children, but substitutes in the high school sometimes. Jerry says that she has been teaching the "new math" in the fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grades at Bollingbrook Day School for the past two years and plans to go back to school next year to take some graduate courses.

Glennis Moore Greenwood sends news from South Boston. Connie Young Cox has lived in the area for the past six years. She has a son, 13, and a son, 10. She sees Stuart Buford Peery occasionally. Jane Glenn Jones is still working as home economist for VEPCO in the area. Shirley Reaves Poole teaches sixth and seventh grade English in Halifax. She has three boys and a girl. Mary Wyatt Caldwell has a son graduating from high school this year. Her daughter, age 10, is in the fifth grade. She saw Marion Lotts Mears and Martha Webb Delano at Martha's home in Warsaw last summer. The Caldwells were on their way to Expo '67. Rosa Chandler Elliott stays on the run with her two children. L. F. is 11, plays baseball on the Dixie Youth League, is active in R.A. work; Mary Ann, almost 8, is busy now with dancing lessons, "Kakie" Hundley Greer whose husband, Bill, is Commonwealth Attorney of Halifax Co. and South Boston, has four children. Kay, 19, a freshman at Wm. & Mary, was recently elected to Women's Honor Council; Billy, 18, is a Junior at Halifax Co. High School; John, 15, a freshman; and Betty, 8. Glennis reports that she's teaching home economics at Halifax Co. High, and that she enjoyed seeing those who attended the class reunion last year. Glennis, I was able to identify most of the girls in the picture when the Bulletin came out, and I had no trouble locating you.

Lillian Stables Wise, Dillwyn, writes that her biggest news was the arrival of their third child, David Richard Wise, on March 29, 1967. This is the only little one of whom I can report. Surely we are not getting that old, are we? Congratulations, Lillian!

Patsy Dale Barham, Newport News, writes: "I have spent a busy year this year—tomorrow I finish up my two-year term as PTA president in our elementary school. I am teaching two classes of eighth grade science and am taking a night school class. I am Chairman of the Commission on Education in our church and teach fourth grade S.S. Besides this, we picked this year to remodel our house." Patsy has three children in eighth, sixth, and fourth grades next year. She recently saw Rachael Brugh Holmes who stays busy with her family of nine and participates with her husband in his church affairs.

From Manassas, Nancy Parrish Haydon writes that she stays completely absorbed with her job as General Registrar (for voting) for Prince William Co. She still plays tennis, enjoys duplicate bridge, and enjoys the role of mother and father to her three children. Vicki has been accepted at Wm. & Mary for the following year. She sees Mardi Droste Gillum '47x quite often. Her sister, Bettie Parrish Carneal, lives in Henderson, N. C., and Nancy recently went with her to Boston where she had lung surgery for the third time. Bettie has four girls, the oldest a freshman at Southern Seminary. Speaking for the class, Bettie, we hope this last trip to Boston was a most successful one.

Lorena Evans Jefferson, Bon Air, has been teaching school in Chesterfield Co. for the past six years and is presently teaching at Thompson Junior High. She has a teenage son and daughter and reports that her daughter, Sharon, has selected Longwood as the college she will enter this fall. She recently talked to Charlotte West Yates. Charlotte, husband, and three sons live in Bon Air. Lorena taught one of Charlotte's sons in an English class. Charlotte recently saw Nancy Adams Tate. Nancy, husband, and son live at Red Oak, Va.

Let's move out-of-state to Indiana (Clarks-ville) and hear from Shirley Didlake Irby who finished her master's degree in '63 at I.U., and this year will finish 30 more hours beyond the master's. She is director of guidance in one of the schools and has been teaching shorthand at Indiana University's Southeastern Center. Shirley's son graduates this year and plans to attend college. Her daughter, Jane, will be in the 9th grade next year. Her husband, Cecil, plant accounting and control manager for Pillsbury, marked his 20th year with the company this year. She writes, "We'd be most happy to see any old friends who happen to be traveling this way."

Several Longwood girls live here in Wilmington, N. C. I recently talked with Eleanor Bisee Johnson '46; saw Shannon Morton, '19, a retired English professor at Wilmington College where my husband heads the Business Department; and I have taught in the same high school where Evelyn Thorington Doughty '41, guidance director; and Dell Warren Borneman '41, head of science department, teach and direct activities. I attend Garden Club meetings with a classmate, Ann Savedge Criser, who resides in my neighborhood. Her husband is with First National Bank. She stays busy with her club work, children, and substitute work in the local schools. One common trait I have noticed when I meet a Longwood graduate is that each loves to talk about our Alma Mater and what a "home away from home" it was for all of us. Indeed, we hope it will remain that way for those who continue to pass through its doors.

The big news with our class this year is, of course, our 20th reunion on March 16. It was a really grand get together as you can tell from the reunion picture! Present and accounted for were Martha Anderson Rollings, Estaline "Teen" Anderson McCraw, Dorothy Bevard Owen, Peggy Cabanis Andrews, Christine "Tine" Bunch Harper, Peepsie Brooks Howard, Mildred Davis Dixon, Louise Elder Davenport, '48x, Nancy Foscue Hamner, Frances Fears Williams, Wilda Hunt Leach, Mitty Hahn Sledd, Jackie Hancock Johnson, Joyce Hills Goodloe, Mildred "Mil" McWilliams Hayes, Evelyn Moore Coleman, Kitty Rainey Wingo, Harriette Sutherlin Overstreet, Norma Soyars Watkins, Betty Jean Snapp Fawcett, Edna Agnes Taylor, and Gee Gee Yonce Gates. Everyone looked simply marvelous. No one would ever know we were there to celebrate our twentieth!

The Tea Saturday afternoon in the new Lankford Activities Building was just lovely. I believe, girls, we were born 20 years too soon—just kidding! The new president, Dr. Henry I. Willett, Jr., and his very attractive wife were there.

Norma Soyars Watkins opened her home to a group of us who had not left late Saturday afternoon. Mil McWilliams Hayes, Nancye Foscue Hamner, and I with our dear friend, Polly Caldwell Driscoll of the class of '49 without whom we couldn't hold a reunion, stayed overnight with Kitty Rainey Wingo at her home in Dillwyn as we had done at our last reunion. We missed having Anne Homes Russells with us this time, but she and Clifford had made plans to go to Fla. Mil's family spent the weekend with Nancye's family in Hopewell while she took off for the reunion. Nancye and Doug, who is now Director of the State's Division of Engineering and Buildings, had just finished a whirlwind two months doing the General Assembly "bit." We also missed Mary Lu Grabam Page who came to our 10th reunion. She and Jim have four daughters: Ellen who just completed her freshman year at Texas Christian U. where she is majoring in ballet; Lucille is an upcoming high school senior at Stuart Hall in Staunton; Jane will be in the 8th grade in the fall; and Sarah will become a third grader next fall. Jim is Vice-President of Operations for the New River Co. and Winding Gulf Coals. Betty Scroggins Nichols, living in Vienna, Va., was another who had conflicting plans that kept her away from our reunion.

Mil, Nancye, Kitty, Polly, and I had a delicious dinner that night at Cedar Brook Restaurant which has been run by Elizabeth Scott Jacobs and her husband for the past 17 years. Elizabeth, who is Guardian of Farmville Bethel No. 59 International Order of Job's Daughters, has three children; Ann graduated from high school this year. Betty, 14, is president of her freshman class, and Bobby will enter kindergarten in the fall.

A letter from Addie Dodd Wilkerson expressed her regrets at not getting to the reunion, but a celebration of her parents' 54th wedding anniversary kept her away. For one semester Addie taught one class at their new community college five days a week and found it a very pleasant experience after 15 years out of teaching.

A letter written last August to "Hoot" from Jane Mantiply Cryer was forwarded to me by Peepsie, saying she had just returned from "one grand, glorious, and stimulating year" at Purdue U. She was chosen to be a participant in a new NDEA Experienced Teacher Fellowship Program and is to receive her Master of Arts Degree in the teaching of Economics. This past year she has taught third-graders in Waynesboro where she is living with her mother.

Jean Edgerton Winch reports from Haddonfield, N. J., where they are once more established after George was transferred from the Chicago plant of Campbell Soup Co. back to its General Office in Camden, N. J. They lived in Napersville, Ill., the 14 months George was located in Chicago and shall long remember the blizzard of January '67.

Mildred Davis Dixon writes of her full life with a doctor husband and five youngsters. She was so delighted to make the reunion for Saturday, at least, and drove from South Boston with Harriette Sutherland Overstreet of Clarksville. She was anticipating chaperoning a trip to Myrtle Beach, S. C., of 90 band students, one of whom was her 17-year-old son who plays the trombone.

I received a note from Frances Treagle Roundtree who was looking forward to the annual Newport News luncheon. She sees Hilda Abernathy Jackson, Jane Short Looney, and Mil McWilliams Hayes who live nearby.

Pattie Smith Simmons of Chesapeake writes of her retirement after 29 years of working in the Public School System. She has a son, Williard, Jr., who as a senior at Old Dominion College four years ago had a very exciting experience diving for algae at the South Pole. Pattie's son and daughter are both married now.

Just received a letter from Tucker Winn who lives in Alexandria and is at the W. T. Woodson High School where she counsels seniors and spends a large part of her time in college counseling. Some nice trips to visit college campuses is an aspect of her work which she particularly enjoys. Tucker received a letter in May from Charlie Hop who is in Orlando, Fla., telling of an impending operation. We all hope and pray he is doing well by now.

Last September Hunter and I drove out to Waco, Texas, with Hunter, III, to enter him in Baylor U. where he is majoring in Psychology. In November we took a short trip to Jamaica with three other couples and enjoyed it tremendously. This was my first experience in free-port shopping, and it was great fun! A brand new office and warehouse which Taylor & Sledd moved into just last month is about the only other big news from the Sledds.

I wish I had heard from more of you. Peepsie has asked Gee Gee and me to alternate the secretary bit; so don't forget to write Gee Gee next year all of your news.

Thanks to all of you who wrote to fill me in on the news! It was fun receiving your letters; each day I waited eagerly for the mail to come. Please excuse my feeble attempt at trying to fill the capable shoes of Jean Forbes.

Jean Cake Forbes was unable to write the newsletter for us this time. Since she's been so loyal all these years, I easily excused her. Dick, her husband, graduated from Union Theological Seminary in May and will be serving two churches on the Northern Neck beginning in June. Our church had the good fortune on two occasions to have had Dick serve as supply minister. He's an excellent speaker and an inspiring preacher. It was really good seeing Jean, Dick, and their three children when they visited our church.

Ruthellen Mears Taylor and Wyllis moved to Fla., for a two-year stay back in '55, and they're still there! Wyllis, with a friend, has gone into business for himself. Their corporation, called Gulf Design, designs, builds, and constructs plants. She writes that they have three children—14-year-old Ned, Ellen, 9, and Bill 3. She says, also, that Frances DeBerry Dunton and Dick, with their two sons, were in Lakeland this year from September through April. Everybody gets to Fla. sooner or later, it seems! Peggy White Crooks '50 and Tom went through in April; Anne Ford Francis and son, Ford, visited there; Maude Savage Smith, Mack, and son, Jeff, were there in March; and we went through in May, but I didn't realize that Ruthellen lives in Lakeland.

Jane Taylor James and "Pinky" have moved into their beautiful new home (with a formal garden in back, planted with 82 English boxwood that Jane had rooted). They have two children—Richard, 14, and Jennifer, 11. In addition to homemaking, gardening, playing golf, and bridge, Jane teaches third grade. She seems to run into friends on the golf course, such as Nancy Rusbing Senn who plays quite often. Nancy writes that this is her 19th year at Onancock High School and that she and Gladstone have an adopted daughter who works in Richmond. Nancy and Gladstone are avid golfers, are members of the church choir, and belong to a duplicate bridge club.

Dee Dee Sledd Rodgers, also from the Eastern Shore, tells me that she and Grayson have four children, and they live on the same street with Jane. She does some substitute teaching, works in the church and PTA, and plays bridge. Paul, their oldest child who is 17, plays football for Northampton High School. He is a senior this year. Lynn, 15, a tenth grader, is a varsity cheerleader. Johnny, 13, will be starting high school in the fall; and Jennie, 8, will be in the third grade.

Thanks to Jane, I've learned about some of the other girls. She writes that Clara Ann Ashby James lives in Nassawadox and has a daughter who will enter Longwood in the fall. Her other daughter will enter first grade, and her son is 13. Margaret Wall Irby and Jennie Sue Webb Meade visited on the Shore last summer, and they all got together for an STC bridge luncheon—Betty Jefferson has her own apartment in Danville where she entertained Jane and Pinky and is still secretary to the President of Averett College.

Ruth Radogna Heaps' son, Chip, is 10 and busy with Cub Scouting, baseball, and playing trumpet in school band. Ruth is teaching special education in Bel Air to the educable mentally retarded at the junior high level and finds it "very interesting, rewarding, and exhausting." She has received a Federal grant to study in this field at Loyola College this summer. Her husband, Billy, is still involved with his insurance work.

Tootsie Hamilton Lahey works two days a week as psychiatric social worker in a mental health clinic; and Tom, her husband, is a professor in psychology at Eastern Illinois U. I haven't seen her for a long time but hope to see her soon with her three boys—Dick, 11, Joe, 8 and Tommy 3.

Thanks to Phyllis Alley Carter for her letter telling about her family as well as telling about Martha Showalter and Phyllis Bargly Hoeter—Martha Showalter is still in Germany, and Phyllis is in Manila for two years with her husband, Fred, who is with the VA hospital. Phyllis Alley Carter, on the other hand, has a family which includes husband Bill, a sales engineer; a daughter Leslie who is 14; two sons, David 12 and Randy, 7. She stays busy with her family, garden club, and church work.

Dot Daniels Townsend's husband, Wilfred, has been transferred to Dupont's Atlanta, Ga., plant, and in the fall, she will be working in the Christian School of the Westminster Presbyterian Church. Frieda Dansberger Baker is busy with her five sons, ranging from a junior in high school to a 4-year-old. Hite, her oldest, was recently tapped to the National Honor Society; and Moorman, Jr., a freshman in high school, represents his class on the student council. Randy and Stuart are in elementary school, and Stuart keeps her busy as a Den Mother. Her husband, Zip, is still in the Agronomy Dept. at Tech, and Frieda teaches Sunday School.

Muriel McBride has her master's in education and is thinking about studying for her doctorate. At present, she is full-time-art instructor at a new Franklin High School and is planning a trip to Europe this summer. Ruth Tillett is currently serving as Director of Guidance at Oliver Wendell Holmes Intermediate School in Fairfax Co. and has just finished serving as President of the Northern Virginia Guidance Assoc. This association covers Fairfax, Arlington, Prince William, and Loudoun Counties, and the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church. For the summer, she planned a trip to Hawaii; so I am sending her Jackie Bobbit Field's address since Jackie now calls Hawaii home—hope they can get together.

For five years, Martha Gillum Burr and family have been in Norfolk where David is serving as Minister for First Presbyterian Church. Their daughter, Debby, is 15 and the son, Richard (who was chosen for the All Star Basketball Team at the UMCA) is 13. "Gillie" spends some time with her miniature apricot poodle, Noel, who was a Christmas present from David. She and Noel attend school one night a week—Obedience Training School, that is!

From the North, up in Minn., comes word from Martha Hatcher Hatcher (the name always brings to mind Dean Martha Smith), and by her own pen, she writes that she really does thaw out in the summer when they spin around Lake Minnetonka in their cruiser—pardon my taking liberties, "Myrt." In the winter, she skis (taking skiing lessons and loving it). She says it helps the winters seem not so long and cold. Myrt and Graham, who is still with the Pillsbury Co., have three boys: Alan, the oldest is completing the 8th grade; Collin the 7th; and Brian, a Webelos Cub Scout, will complete the 4th. The older boys, who are Boy Scouts, are going on a wilderness canoe trip in the late summer. My boys and husband, who are canoeing enthusiasts, would turn green with envy. After the canoe trip, they hope to make a trip to Va.

Peggy Smith Critenden and Kitty Hankins Wilson '48 live here in Gloucester; we see each other often. Peggy is married to our family dentist, and they have three children: Billy, 8, in 3rd grade; Guy, 6, 1st grade; and Ann, 3, stays at home. Peggy has headed our local Children's Home Society Fund Drive for about 8 years. Kitty Hankins Wilson '48 is teaching at Gloucester Co. Day School, and I plan to join her on the faculty in the fall. Her son, Lane, is 12 and in 7th grade. Lindsay, her daughter, is 8 and in the 3rd grade.

Last week, I had a talk with Cile Sarter Hetzer, '47 whose husband, Rudy, is Sales Manager for the Richmond branch of the Strother Drug Co. We see each other now and then at pharmaceutical get-togethers since my husband is a pharmacist. Cile has three boys ages 14, 11, and 7.

Betty Jefferson went to Radford for a day in early spring and visited Margie Miller Lyle. Mary Towles Waldrop Faris and Guy Faris and daughter, Frances, surprised her with a visit one Sunday afternoon. Margie and George have bought a place on Claytor Lake and spend as much time as possible there. Guy Faris is in the men's clothing business, and Mary Towles is still working in Halifax. Jennie Sue Michelle, 6, and Walt, 4, children of Joyce Gatling Ward, '53.

Webb Meade and Nancy Dickenson Bridgeforth are still living in Danville. Eula Katherine Ayres Darnell conducts a special education class in Helena, Ark., for junior and senior high school-age students.

Nothing much is new with me. After six years' duty, I am still a Den Mother! With three boys on my hands, it's been difficult to get out of Cub Scouting. Our youngest, Joe, 8, is in 3rd grade, so I have three more years to go with the Cubs. Jim, our oldest, is 14 and a First Class Scout, working on Star, and is in 9th grade. Bill, 11, is a Webelos in Cub Scouting and is in 6th grade. We enjoy camping as a family; last May, Jimmy, the boys, and I camped all the way to the Florida Keys where the boys enjoyed skin diving over the coral reefs.

Thanks again to all of you who helped to make this newsletter possible. It's really been fun and exciting hearing from you. If anyone has been left out, it's that your notes were not received in time. Don't forget that our 20th reunion will be in March! Some have already made it known that they plan to be there, and I'm looking forward to seeing them and hoping to see even more of you.

Dear Friends,

Here it is good old summer time again and once more time for me to let you know what your fellow classmates are doing. It is such fun to hear from you. Do wish more of you would write a card or note or letter to tell me your news. Anyway, we all appreciate hearing from those of you who do write.

Had a note from Peg Peery Yost with a picture of her two adorable youngsters. Had another lovely picture from Jean Carter Watkins Saunders with her three youngsters. Mary Meade is 11, Carson 7, and Jim 4. She has her hands full with many activities as well as with the full-time duties of being wife and mother.

Margaret Ann Shelton Munro sent a card from Houston, Texas, saying her husband has been a senior petroleum engineer with Shell Oil Co. but, as of the summer of '67, had resigned to join the Teachers Corp. He hopes eventually to work as a counselor in schools for underprivileged children in the ghetto areas. Margaret Ann worked with the Head Start program in the summer of 1967 and has worked as volunteer with children in a home for dependent and neglected children. She hopes to return to teaching in a few years and has taken extra courses in remedial reading. She and her family hope to return to the west coast some day. Her life sounds so full, rewarding and useful.

Mary Crowder White wrote on her Christmas card that she is teaching 5th grade and that her days are more than full, but she is enjoying it all. A card from Betty McRee Hodges says they are building a larger house to hold all of their crew. Ann Kemp DesPortes writes that they were having 87° weather in Dec., but they were actually tired of it! Sarasota, Fla., sounds heavenly to me. Imagine not having snow.

I missed seeing Iris Suthin Wall and her family when I was in Farmville in September, 1967. Had a card from her and all seems well with them. Enjoyed a phone call from my own sweet roommate, Fran Minter Whyte, in the summer of '67 when she was house hunting in Wilmington, Del., where Bob had been transferred to the main branch of DuPont Co. Her Christmas card said they hoped to get in their new home next month. Her two girls will be so grown up before long. Helen Agnew Koonce sent greetings and news of her family. Her husband, Arnold, is serving on the City Council in High Point, N. C. again, and her two older girls are on the City Swim Team and practice winter and summer. Sounds like another busy, happy family.

Polly Hawkins Powers Jarrett is living in Raleigh, N. C., with husband Guy and two sons: Bill, 12, and Henry, 5. Polly is teaching Language Arts and American history in the 8th grade in a junior high school in Raleigh. Her husband is Director of Apprenticeship for the N. C. State Labor Dept.

I see Frances Everett Brown several times a year as we both have been working with our local alumnae here. Fran looks wonderful and stays busy with her home and three children. She and her family moved from Springfield to Vienna, Va., last year. I talk with Andy Adams John occasionally; around the first of the year they were busy building a house.

Our sympathy goes out to Peg Peery Yost in the loss of her father and to Sue Brewbaker Williams who lost her mother since my last letter to you all. Roy, Judy, and I have just returned from a lovely trip to California. I hope this finds each of you happily anticipating the forthcoming season and that you are all leading peaceful, contented lives. Remember to let me hear from you so that I can pass news on to the Class.

Dear Classmates,

Let's give a rousing cheer for Jean Ridenour Appich for the wonderful job she is doing as President of Longwood Alumnae Asso. As always, Jean can still find time to play. She and Charlie enjoyed a weeks trip to Puerto Rico and nearby islands this spring.

Maxine Watts Peschel and husband Roy spent their vacation in Hawaii last summer. Maxine is librarian at the U. of Plane in Dallas. They have two children: Carol and Bruce. Mary Crawford Andrews is still in Indiana where Frank has his medical practice. Their home is located on a five-acre site, allowing much space for three children and many animals to play. In January Mary and Frank took a Caribbean cruise with visits to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Jane Allen Hinman proudly announces the birth of Allen Davis Hinman in March, 1967. Jane teaches in Amelia where Don owns a store. They often spend weekends at Buggs Island where they have a trailer. After spending her summer enjoying rainy camping trips, Betty Scott Borkey Banks is approaching the new school year as PTA president. Her three boys; Scott, Doug, and Alan, will all be in school this year.

Our class is represented in Florida by Audrey Pettit Mesmer and Elsie Rae Page Bonner. Audrey and Bill have four children. She lectures on American Art in the public schools for the Junior League. For recreation they enjoy tennis and fishing. Elsie Rae has had a busy year teaching, participating in church activities, studying at Florida Atlantic, and working with the AAUW. Her husband, George, is Mayor of West Palm Beach in addition to his designing job at Pratt and Whitney. Their three children also keep them busy.

Robert and Norma Saunders Gibbons are employed by the Fairfax Co. School Board.

Rob, 9, and Ginger, 5, children of Betty Islin Saffelle, '54.

Both have been going to U. Va. where Norma received her Master's degree and Robert a Doctorate of Education. They moved into a new house this spring. Novella Goode Horner and Irwin own the Old Stage Motor Lodge in Colonial Heights where Irwin serves as chairman of the Board of Supervisors for Chesterfield Co. Their three children are Jack, Sharon, and Mary Lou.

Maria Jackson Hall and Virginius have purchased three acres of riverland at Port Royal where they plan to build a summer haven and to sail on the Rappahannock. Virginius is now Assistant Director of the Virginia Historical Society. Maria's daughter, Maria Allison, was a big hit with all of us at our reunion in '67.

Frances Thomas Pairet and Mary Moore Karr Borkey visit Anne Masley Akers when they are in Roanoke. Anne has been teaching kindergarten during the day and adult education classes in typing and shorthand two nights a week. She serves also as treasurer of their local alumnae chapter.

Joan Pritchett Matthews was in Virginia on business and took time out to visit Mae Henry Sadler Midgett at Virginia Beach and Frances Turner Widgen in Cheriton. Frances and John Widgen enjoyed a two-week vacation in Florida last winter. All of us in the Tidewater area were very proud of Mae Henry last winter. The Norfolk-Virginia Pilot ran a full page article in their Sunday edition, featuring some of her favorite recipes.

Flora Balloue deHart and Allen have had an interesting and active year teaching at Louisburg College. They traveled to Fla., Tenn., and Ga. In December they attended the ACUCM Conference in New York where they also enjoyed some hit Broadway shows. In April they opened their botanical gardens and nature trail (their hobby) to the public. After spending summer vacation at their beach home at Surf City, they will return to Louisburg.

Graham Trent Chappell is too active to call herself retired. She is teaching the Adult Woman's Bible Class and also serving as president of the Women's Bible Class and also serving as president of the Women of the Church. She belongs to the Community Asso., the Home Demonstration Club, the Woman's Club, and the Retired Teachers Association. Her husband still enjoys supervising his farm.

Lauralee Fritz Whitmore is teaching fifth grade in Anne Arundel Co., Maryland, and working for her Master's at Johns Hopkins. Her three children are all in school now, and Charlie is manager of a food service unit at Mt. Vernon Junior College in Washington. Mary Brame Trotter, always the outdoorsman, enjoyed a summer vacation camping in New England with Ed and the children.

Marian Beckner Riggins and Bill have spread "Ski fever" through the entire family. Even four-year-old Phillip now takes to the slopes. This winter they enjoyed skiing in Vermont and Canada. They are planning a summer trip to Niagara Falls and Montreal. Lois Ash Carr stays busy with her four children and many civic activities. She and Clements live in Ordinary. Lois is the Woman's Club hospitality chairman of the PTA and teaches in the Sunday School.

Besides being active in church activities, Ann Moody Gabbert keeps trim in her weekly modern dance classes. Also enjoying dancing are Mildred Blessing Sallo and Budd. They are regulars in a square dance group in Ala. and this spring attended a Festival for Square Dancers at Fontana Village. Children, Becky and David, also take dancing lessons.

Bebe Wilson Thompson is now in Omaha where Bill is assigned to AAC Headquarters. This year Bebe served as PTA president and helped in the school library. The entire family enjoys water skiing. Ann Harding Hodges lives in Chesapeake where Bill has his law practice. Bill represents the Chesapeake and Virginia Beach area in the State Senate.

Longwood will miss Eleanor Weddle Bobbitt this year. She has been granted a leave of absence to continue graduate work at the U. of Md. where she will also be teaching Physical Education. Edith Kennon Shields enjoys many hours chasing a little white ball around a golf course. Bernie is now Assistant Principal of Kempsville High School.

Thanks to all of you for answering my hurried and late note. It was so exciting hearing from you. Now all of you who said, "Come to see us," look out! Here we come!

One of the loveliest notes came from Ann Thomas Wicke, who was kind enough to send along her own annual news letter from the Wickes. It included notes from Ralph, Steve, who is in the second grade, Beth, age five, and Margaret, age two. As Ann says, "Our everyday life is much the same as any others—but very satisfying!"

Marilyn Thompson Green has her Virginia Real Estate License and is associated with an agency in Fredericksburg. Besides her own three school age boys, Marilyn is quite proud of her two stepsons, one who has acquired his Ph.D. and the other, a student at the Univ. of Richmond. Virginia Sutherland Knott is continuing her remedial reading classes and is doing graduate work also.

I received greetings from Betty Benton Odom, Henry, Hunter and Beth. They had just returned from a week in Georgia. Henry hunted and Betty played bridge. They had another pleasant week in Florida. Betty Isdin Safelle sent two darling pictures of her children, Ginger and Bob. Ann Edmonds had a great trip to Canada and New York. While visiting June Johns Griggs in Annandale, she saw Claire Kreienbaum Hannan and Sylvia Reames Picardat. Sylvia sent her usual news letter, highlighting the activities of each member of her family. Sarah Lynn is in "real" school now, and Scott is taking violin lessons. Just recently, I heard that Sylvia had won recognition by the General Federation of Women's Clubs for her outstanding work in International Affairs! June Johns Griggs and her family seem to be as fond of Myrtle Beach as we are. After a two week vacation there, they plan to go back again. June is teaching Sunday School, and having two daughters, she keeps busy sewing.

From Manila, comes word from Fay Greeland Campbell, who has returned to the Philippines after a two month visit to the U. S. visiting friends and relatives. Fay is especially enjoying her work in the Association of American College Women. Their major project is providing scholarships to deserving Filipino girls—a most rewarding activity, says Fay. She and Bruce spend an evening a week learning English and Scottish dances. These sessions culminate in two big social events, St. George's Ball in the spring and St. Andrew's Ball in the fall.

Patty Derring Coleman has enjoyed serving on the Longwood Board in Richmond for the past few years, but doesn't come in contact with too many of our class. Added to our Ex-Den Mothers Club is Pat Altwegg Brown. When I heard from her she was serving as Vice-President of the Junior League and as chairman of the woman's division of the United Fund on the peninsula. To quote Peggy Hood Smith: "Dear Jeanne, Nothing new; same children, husband, house, and dog." However she did attend a Junior League conference in Washington where she was snowbound!

Betty Lou Garrett Atwood and children are at home in Roanoke for a year while Earl is in Taiwan. Nell Copley Irby is teaching school and keeping house. Her outside activities include as much bridge as possible. Nell works with the youth in her church and sings in the choir. She hears from Lou Kitts Dent and Lib Boswell Lackey occasionally. Lou's son is at St. Christopher's and Lib, Hal and their three children moved into a new home in Richmond. Nell says the years must have had their effect on us. She and Jack have passed Libby McClung Griggs and Bill several times on the road to Tech and Libby never recognizes her!

From Mary Denny Wilson Parr, we received a very nice sketch of their lovely new home in Charlotte, N. C. Wilton was the artist and it is very good!

The Lafaons have had a most rewarding year. We are grateful for good health, and have had some of our dreams come true. Of course, we have had our share of broken bones and stitches, acquired mostly by Kipper. I suppose the high light of 1968 for us was our trip to Nassau—Five Glorious Days and Four Fun-filled nights!

Well, class, our Fifteenth is upon us! Yes, our fifteenth reunion will be this Founders Day. Besides the usual fun of seeing "old" friends, this year will offer something special. I know you are looking forward to meeting Longwood's new president and his family. We are sure that you will like them as much as we, here in Farmville, do.

At our class reunion, perhaps we can decide on a better plan of getting the news so that it will be more up to date. Start thinking, and do make plans to be here for Founders Day, 1969! See you then!

Many thanks to those of you who took time out of your busy schedules to write me. As usual it was a pleasure to see the mailman coming.

Her husband, Johnnie, still has a store in Halifax. Ed, 7, is in 2nd grade and Tom, 3, is at home. Audrey has served as chairman of the Longwood Snack Bar Committee and highly recommends the beautiful new snack bar. The Pittard family visited Nan Bland Seeley '54 last summer in Wakefield where she, her husband, and three boys are living. Audrey has also been doing a bit of substitute teaching together with her church and civic work. Anne Thaxton Daniels is an assistant Kindergarten teacher in the Baptist Church in South Boston where she and her three boys live. She has a first grader, a second grader, and a sixth grader.

July. Her professional duties keep her busy serving as chairman of the Va. Business Educational Assoc., District A, and as a member of VBEA Board of Directors. Her son, Donnie, age 10, is in the fifth grade. After quite a siege of illness with rheumatoid arthritis, Wilma Salmon Robinson's daughter, Evelyn, is now much better. Wilma's son Bill is in the second grade and Ann is in the first. In addition to a heavy load of church work, Wilma has found time to take some graduate work and has started teaching one day a week in Norfolk. Last year Pete's wrestling team did quite well and is expecting to compete nationally.

Moving across country from Calif., Helen Waitman Wheeler writes that they have a home in Chesterfield Co. Bob is now with the Addressograph Multigraph Corp. in Richmond. Their four children include David, 11, Danny 8, Donna 3, and Dianne 22 mos. Helen has been busy getting reacquainted with old friends. She attended the Richmond Chapter of Longwood Alumnae and found Ann Carter Wendenburg Silver, Jean Carol Parker Harrell, and Shirley Ward Pattenon also in attendance. She met Buzzie Hartis Hall (whose address is lost) at the Pocahontas State Park for a State Campers Convention. She attended Founders Day but found only one classmate, Audrey Powell Pittard. Ann Carter Wendenburg Silver's oldest, Jay, goes to junior high school this year, and her youngest is in fourth grade. She and Hayden keep on the go with church, scouts, and community activities. To renew her certificate, she took a Wm. & Mary Extension course last winter.

What has Beth Kent Thurston been doing in Richmond? Driving car pools, chasing Elizabeth, 3, playing tennis, doing marionettes for the Jr. League, and painting again. Bill is a stock broker at Anderson Strudwich. Their three boys are: Steve, 16, Tom, 13, and Brian 12. A year ago Beth and Bill had a marvelous trip to Europe, and this past summer were planning a trip to Palm Beach as well as a family trip to Va. Beach. Betty West Buchert is living at Va. Beach, has two girls in second and third grade and a 4-year-old son at home. She, too, has been taking some night courses.

Ernestine Johnson Delaney '55x writes from Richmond where her husband, Warren, is Customer Service Manager for Ingersall-Rand. In addition to a good share of church work between the two of them, Ernestine has enjoyed the Home Demonstration Club and a trip into Pennsylvania Dutch Country. Ernestine says that she and Frances Young Brown get together occasionally. Ernestine's daughter, Kim, is in the fifth grade. Back in the swing of full time school library work is Barbara Moore Curling. With family cooperation she is also beginning work on her Master's Degree through the Richmond extension of U. of Va. Otis is still with C. and P. Telephone Co. Cynthia is in Junior High School, Del in fifth grade, and Kevin in first grade.

Another family venture is the purchase of land to be developed into a campground on the Chesapeake Bay in Mathews Co.

Carolyn Watson Yeatts is still teaching Home Economics at Prince Edward Academy in addition to doing church work at the Farmville Baptist Church. Homer is now a postal clerk at the Farmville Post Office. Their fourth- and-fifth grade daughters have prompted the family to visit many historical places: Mt. Vernon, Monticello, Yorktown, etc. They have also enjoyed vacation time at Crescent Beach, S. C. Jo Burley Adams '62 writes from Blacksburg that Don has completed his Master's Degree at VPI and will continue teaching there. They have three children—two boys and a girl. Shirley Ward Pattenon announces the arrival of another daughter. George is a banker in Richmond.

I see, or at least talk to, Clare Davis Wallace once or twice a year. She has three boys, two of whom are in school. Irving is with Sears Roebuck and Co. in maintenance work. Ernest is with the soil conservation service under the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture so Becky Hines Bowling is housewife and part time farmer near Andersonville since she tries to help him some in that way. Becky has been serving as president of the Women of the Church. They manage to find time for work in the community as well. Their children, Sara Frances 11, Ernest 9, James 7, and Ben 5, keep Becky moving. Betty Jane Griffin Holland is still in Carysbrook, housekeeping for husband and three children. John is hoping soon to buy a farm.

Lucy Thwing Wood continues to teach Phys. Ed. in St. Petersburg, Fla. Her husband, Jim, works for the Fla. Power Corp. Frank is 11 and in jr. high school, and Betty is 9 and in fifth grade. At her writing, they were planning a summer trip to visit Jim's family in Ill. Back in Staunton from Fla. is Jane Bailey Willson. Percy has bought a drugstore there, and Jane keeps busy with three-year-old Hunt.

From Fairfield, Ohio, Carolyn Stanley Lebo stated that she has returned to teaching art after being out 6 years. Her daughter, Nancy, is in the second grade and Michael, 5, is in kindergarten. Steve is a field engineer with Flick-Reidy Corp. in the field of Hydraulics and Pneumatics. In her "spare time" Carolyn is president of the Fairfield Jr. Woman's Club and teaches a Sunday School class. Busy with Scouts and little league activities of her two oldest boys ages 10 and 8, Jo Anne Dyer Ridenour has added to the family another little fellow, Douglas, born in November 1967. She has been active in Chesapeake, Ohio, with church, PTA, and Woman's Club work. Her husband still works for C&O. She has heard from Mary Ann "Galax" Ward Deaton who is in Col., Ohio, (remainder of address is unknown) and has three girls. Jo Anne also keeps in touch with Nancy Inge who is still teaching in Petersburg.

Ellen Brent Dize Boone's husband, Paul, has been returned to Carthage, N. C., for the fifth year as a Methodist Minister. They have two boys and two girls, ages 2 through 10. The many activities of a minister's wife keep Ellen Brent busy. Walter Swertfeger was accepted at a Teachers Performance Institute sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music last summer. While he was doing this, Phyllis Powell Swertfeger attended an Institute in Advanced English at Indiana, Pa. Phyllis is still teaching and housekeeping for their two children in Rhinebeck, N. Y. Marion Webb Gaylor, despite 6 children, finds time to teach second grade. Paul is still with Worthington and has been active in Jaycees in Hazardville, Conn., PTA, and church activities. Peggy is in eighth grade, Cathy sixth, Kellie fifth, and Mike third, with Anne and Courtney still at home. They get to Manakin, and Allegheny, N. Y., yearly to visit the grandparents and have taken trips to N. J. and the Conn. and R. I. shores. Also at Christmas I heard from Barbara Assaid Mills '54 who lives in Baltimore and has four children, the youngest born last year. She has been doing graduate work at Johns Hopkins.

Another wonderful letter came from Naha, Okinawa, from Audrey Morse Tillet. She and her husband, who is an Air Force Major, were in the process of moving after a very enjoyable three years in Okinawa. Burt will be spending 5 or 6 months in training at the George Air Force Base in Calif., to join the jet set again. After the high humidity of Okinawa the Tilletes are looking forward to the desert for a change. While Burt is training in the survival schools, Audrey plans to have time to visit old friends in Va. Last December she and Burt were able to spend six glorious days in Hong Kong. What a strange feeling it was to be so close to Red China—even to pass Red Chinese ships side-by-side on a boat trip they took! The food was superb, the scenery breathtaking, and the Chinese people delightful. Audrey also took a trip without family to Taiwan. She writes that it is one of the loveliest places she has ever seen, with its rolling hills, flowers, and fresh fruit abundant year round. She treasures the experience of bargaining with the local merchants. The local tea houses in Okinawa proved to be quite interesting; she was able to make several visits while she was there. How we welcome Audrey and her two boys, ages 11 and 9, back to the States.

Sad news comes from Falls Church that Mable Underwood Chapman died after a long illness. She did graduate work at Longwood and taught science in the Falls Church High School. We offer to her family our very sincere sympathy.

We always seem to have "lost souls" among our number. Do you have an address for Joan Williams Journey, or Peggy Worthington Richardson? Remember if you move, send your new address to the Alumnae Office. Mary Coules Lavigne is returning this fall to Germany with her husband and 3 children.

I always seem to find plenty to do with house-keeping, sewing, church work, and the like. Just keeping up with Mel and all his activities is often a job. Janice is in second grade, and Judy started to kindergarten this year. Our latest adventure is the purchase of a 505 (a sailboat for those who may be landlubbers). Whenever there is a good wind, we drop everything and head for the river. But I always enjoy your letters (wind or not); so let me hear from you next year.

It's always a bit startling to realize, as I write this letter in Washington's sultry summer, that you'll probably be reading it with snow on the ground! Phyllis Nurney and I share a big old Georgetown house with another girl. We have a respectable yard for this area and invite you to join us for croquet if you're ever in town. Phyllis is now working for the General Atomic Division of Gulf, and I have almost become entrenched at N.I.H.

Nearby in our general suburban area are Joyce Gillebrest Waugh in Silver Spring, Md., and Betsy Welbon Alwood in Springfield; both are busy mothers of four. Margaret Duke Lautenslager '56x is awaiting July 15 when she and her family move into a tri-level house in Hayfield Farms, Alexandria. In Hyattsville, Md., Ann Coleman Ross and her youngest child are ardent fans for Don who is coaching and for her two boys who are playing softball. She teaches first grade in Sunday School; last summer they vacationed in Pa.

In McLean Betty Jane Shackelford Ellison has been busily serving as President of the Junior Women's Club and was chosen to have her biography published in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Young Women of America"—an annual publication honoring women between the ages of 21 and 35. She visits with Janice Haines Graham who lives in Rockville. Janie Scott Wulf, '55, and has talked to Bootsie Miller Quinn who recently moved into the area. Nancy Hartmann Welker reports from Manassas that she has the same husband, same two children, and same house (all a little older) but a new car and a new dog! She teaches kindergarten two days a week in the winter and will teach six weeks of first grade for Title I during the summer.

Far away in Vista, Calif., Ann Jones Mitchell welcomed Jim home from Viet Nam in February; he is now stationed nearby at Colsbad in Hughes Plant Activity at Palomar Airport. They are enjoying country life, pets for their children, and Ann has taken up bowling for a summer league. She saw Nancy McLaughorn Rhue at their 15-year high school reunion.

John, 7½, and Meredith, 3½, children of Anne Wayne Fuller Patterson, '57.

Lisa, daughter of Delores Winder Grimstead, '57.

In another all-year summer climate, Anne Brooking Stelter enjoys West Palm Beach, Fla., with Ted and three-year old John. They had a spring visit treat to Virginia and New Jersey for a vacation and reunion with Galen and Bootsie Miller Quinn, comparing antiquing experiences. Becky Fizer Allison reports a successful political venture in her family, for Charlie was elected to the Bedford County Board of Supervisors. She recently had a visit with "Baby" Carter Goldsmith.

Elizabeth Sutherland Connelly lives in DeWitt with her husband and son and teaches at Dinwiddie, and fills her remaining spare time knitting sweaters for her family and serving as church organist. Julia Moncure Mosely and Bill are having an athletic summer in Bon Air with their tennis and golf. Also in Bon Air Gail Leonard Negaard welcomed a new member into their family in July 1967. She is Birgit Haas, a nineteen-year-old fraulein in whose Bavarian home they lived eight years ago. Gail reports that her three sons are thrilled with their short-term sister and are learning to "Deutsch Sprechen."

At Varina High School Shirley Adams Daniel teaches Health and Phys. Ed. and behind-the-wheel Driver Ed., coaches girls' basketball and sponsors the varsity and J. V. cheerleaders. They have purchased a new boat which they enjoy on weekends around Urbanna, and she says that the "River Queen" would welcome Longwood Girls. Also in Richmond is Roberta Hamlet Witten with her two children, Thomas 6, and Jessie, 1. Rose Frost has accepted a position as government teacher in Chestertfield Co., after receiving her Master's of Education from the U. of Va.

Lou Willer Colley kept house this year in Richmond and took a class to renew her certificate. Don still coaches and teaches at Henrico. Gail Patrick Welstead '56x now has three children to keep her occupied, Billy, Carol, and one-year-old Allyson. Iris Scott Harrison had a busy year teaching the fifth grade at Skipwith Elementary in Henrico Co. Margurete Franklin Grekos says she is still a teacher and domestic engineer in Danville while George is getting his ME degree from Lynchburg College. Ruth Merle Shelton Blankenship is also in Danville and busy with her three boys.

Our travelers of last summer were Bob and Jean Windley Pollock, for they spent six weeks touring eleven countries in Europe. They live in a new house on the campus of Christ Church School where Bob is Director of Admissions. Jean taught first grade this year and served as President of the Middlesex Ed. Asso. What fun to hear from Alice Callaway Papp! She and Sandy were married in 1958 and have two children, Gregory and Barbara. Sandy travels as a manufacturer's representative for North Carolina furniture factories, and they live in Roanoke County. They keep in touch with Evelyn Hall English, who is a librarian in the County, and Betty Van DeReit Baecher, '53, and they visited in March with Becky Fizer Allison.

Also among the Roanoke group are Betty Maas Sterzing and Mary Ann Wright Kolmer. Betty taught art in the 2nd Step Program (Federal Program) one day a week and in David's kindergarten one morning a week. Becky Fizer Allison visited with her at the Alumnae luncheon in March. In spare times she and Bruce work on their house and play tennis. Mary Ann, Willie, and the four little Kolmers are settled in "Sugar Loaf Farms" with a swimming pool. Willie is in ENT practice at Gill Memorial Clinic.

Sarah Jane Brisentine Mick and Don are proud parents of a new son born last August in Chester. Sarah Jane has given up teaching for homemaking now. Patricia Brown Johnson is looking forward to moving into their new home in New Canton this summer. She teaches at Buckingham High School.

At our Alma Mater George Elliott is now Asso. Professor. He is spending the summer at Colorado State College, working for his doctorate and plans a Christmas vacation in London, Wales, and Scotland. Also in Farmville, Becky Blair Butcher teaches 5th grade at the Prince Edward Academy and is looking forward to a carefree summer.

In Charlotte, N. C., Molly Ann Harvey Childers and M. D. have bought a lot and have plans to build a new house. They made a visit to New Orleans in February for an ophthalmology meeting and reunion with old friends of their residency days spent at Charity Hospital. Liz DeHaven Blair, with whom we had a telephone visit this year in Washington, lives in Charleston, W. Va., where her three girls are busy with art classes, scouting, and piano lessons; she is doing volunteer work and is Editor of the Charleston Junior League Newsheet. There is also a new son born last July.

Norma Jeanne Croft Atkins is settled in Hampton since Jim returned from Korea to be stationed at Headquarters TAC at Langley. She was on the staff at Hampton Institute this year and is working for the summer with Nachman's as a Youth Coordinator. Patricia Cantrell Taylor, who has two daughters, Dorsey and Sarah, will be teaching a course in typing at summer school at St. Margaret's School in Tappahannock. In Smithfield, Shirley Kemp Barlow welcomed a new son on Ray's birthday. They have a busy farm life that keeps Shirley freezing vegetables. They visit with Louise Turner Caldwell, and they saw Jane Lohr Lee this spring after Harry returned from Viet Nam. Louise continues to teach at Smithfield High School and is active in her church and the Junior Woman's Club.

In nearby Suffolk Dale Brothers Birdsong has a baby sister for her two boys this year. Bill is manager of the plant in Franklin which is a branch of Birdsong Storage Co. Dottie Rector Turmail and Dick have the most wonderfully charming apartment in Brooklyn, N. Y., where Phyllis and I were treated to lunch one day last fall. They are looking for a house while Dick is hard at work on two scripts, and Dottie sells real estate.

Barbara Mays Harris is now living in Sparrowbush, N. Y., but will be moving to Owensboro, Ky., in September where Bond will teach at Kentucky Wesley, and Bobbie hopes to teach art. Nancy McLauborn Rhue, her husband, and two children plan to leave Yorktown Heights, N. Y., this summer for a vacation trip to Pennsylvania—combining their love for camping and American history. Nancy, in the winter, has a playschool at home for eight four-year-olds.

Pat Kelly Schroeder writes from her 200-year-old house, in Murray Hill, N. J., which she and Alan are patiently restoring. They spend most summer weekends at Long Beach Island where Alan is on the Board of Governors of the Yacht Club and inspires their daughter, Barbie, to become a sailing enthusiast.

A hot tip for the stock market would be on peanut butter, for Carolyn Gray Abdalla says her children consume 365 sandwiches each per year! They live in Green Ridge, Pa., and visited this spring with Mary Davis Fischer and Lou Wilder Colley. Loretta Brooking Gasswint and family moved to Upper St. Clair, Pa., last July; they are busy adjusting to life in the East and decorating a new home. In spare time she has learned to play golf.

In Avondale, Pa., Patsy Abernathy Casey stopped teaching in February and is expecting a baby momentarily as I write this letter in June. She has a stepson who will be a sophomore at Delaware, majoring in Chemistry, and his brother will enter West Chester State College in the fall to study music.

I want to extend special thanks to Phyllis Nurney for her help and financial assistance in sending out the cards to get news for this letter. If you know of any who did not receive a card from me or who has a change of address, please do have them notify the Alumnae Office. Hope to hear from you all again next year.

Kindergarten and school, Brownies and Cub Scouts, and new homes for growing families fill the news this year. Gayle Peoples Shiner and family seem to have adjusted well to living in the north. Bill was awarded a National Wildlife Federation Fellowship at Syracuse U. where he is working toward his Ph.D. in Forest recreation. Jim, active in Cub Scouts, will enter the fourth grade in Sept., and Beth will begin kindergarten. With Charlie in Viet Nam, Betty Cory Coppedge '57x has spent a rather lonely year, keeping up with her four boys, bowling, and serving as secretary of the Langley AFB Officers Wives Club have helped her to endure the separation. Barbara Roller Hardie and her family paid them a visit during the summer. Together with Sally O'Malley Walker, they spent a pleasant afternoon catching up on lost time. In February, Barbara and Harvie welcomed a second little girl, Nancy Paige.

Last summer Anne Wayne Fuller Patterson was at Duke Hospital to have a skin cancer removed from under her eye. The graft took well, though she was warned not to spend as much time in the sun. Nancy Lenz Harvey spent another exhausting year at the U. of N. C. where her Ph.D. degree should be completed during the summer. She was offered a position there, but she hinted that she might go as far as Conn. Since Tammy is in Kindergarten, Shirley Hardy McCray is teaching once more while Wilton is busy with the co-op. Pat Ashby Robinson's husband has been made Commonwealth Attorney in Newport News.

Still enjoying Navy life in Charleston, Anne Thomas Denny wrote that her latest boy, Mark, is really a charmer. "Peanuts" Winder Grimstead has switched from duckpins to tenpins and seems to be doing quite well. She has two 500 sets and a 200 game. Little Lisa is a real pleasure and writes a delightful Christmas message for her parents each year! With Bob entering the veterinarian college at the U. of Ga., Dreama Burchett Gorman stated that they would be in Athens for four years.

The DuLongs spent a week-end in March with the Hinsons in N. J. Martha Joyner Dulong has been living in Delaware where Perry was stationed at Dover AFB, but they have just been sent back to Ann Arbor, Mich. where he will be taking courses at the U. With Rea starting kindergarten in Sept. and Mare being two in Oct. together with her numerous volunteer services with the Junior League and her church, Sandra Dyer Hinson stays active. Gale Branch Gillespie has added Brownies to her extra-curricular activities and finds it time-consuming but most rewarding.

How saddened we were to learn of the sudden and untimely death of Jeanette Puckette Williams' husband. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to her and to little Cathy.

Jo Hillsman Winters has been teaching night school at RPI. She and her family have recently moved into a new home in the far-west section of Richmond. Barbara Benedict continues to teach physical education at Hermitage H. S. in Richmond. I was surprised to see Hazel Hanks Lewane at a baby shower for a mutual friend. Her husband is an attorney here, and they have a girl 3 and a boy 2. Jackie Pond plans a tour of the continent with a group of friends this summer. She attended May Day at Longwood with her mother and some friends.

After having taught nine years in Prince William County, Hazel Bell Boyer is presently taking several years leave to be home with her four-year-old daughter. She has worked actively in the Junior Woman's Club there. If ever completed with the assortment of chores in teaching and in homemaking, Barbara Burnside Ridout lists "loafing" as her hobby. From Martinsville, B. J. Jenkins Ware enjoys various crafts, such as needlework, smocking, and decoupage. She and her husband have two girls, 4 and 1. Nancy Striplin McClung hopes to have a kennel for the dogs she raises. Her husband is principal of a Lynchburg school and they have one daughter, Freida, who is ten.

Mae Bennett Guthrie is no longer in Iron Gate because Jim accepted a call to a church just outside of Lexington. They find the peace and quiet of the country delightful. With precious original announcements which read, "Your New Neighbor has arrived!" Belle Fitzgerald Neighbors and Jack proudly welcomed Sarah Belle in October. Anne Woodhouse Hodges enjoys life at Virginia Beach with her husband who sells industrial equipment and with their two boys who are five and eight.

This would be more interesting for you to read and much easier for me to write if you would do your part by dropping me a line from time to time! As the years stretch out, it becomes increasingly difficult to keep in touch. I do hope to hear from you this year!

Gee, did we have a swell time at Founders Day! Number 10 was great and we had a wonderful turnout. We had 38 graduates of the class of 1958; this number was enough to win the attendance trophy.

First off, I'll try to fill you in on the news of those who attended. Virginia Herre is working at Fort Lee and is planning to be married in August. Anne Wheeler Abernathy '59 is teaching at Petersburg High School and busy with housework and garden club. Pat Walton Eubank is now living at Ft. Knox, Ky., with her family. Janet Lloyd Adams is in Richmond with her husband who will finish dental school soon. They plan to move back to South Boston.

It was good to see Judy Elliott Ware. She and Earle are living in Richmond where he is a coordinator for the State-Planters Bank. Judy is busy with her children, Richard 9, and Anne 6, but she enjoys working with the KD Alumnae group for her area. Emily Atkinson Williams also journeyed from Richmond.

It was good to have Gwen White Pruitt back with us. Her husband Don is stationed at Dover Air Force Base. Gwen is involved with church work, wives club activities and hobbies. Frances Rosencrans Witt came from Crozet to be with us. She has 3 boys and 1 girl and finds time to do some substituting. Her husband is principal of a local elementary school. Fran sees Virginia Londree Fulcher occasionally since Virginia teaches at one of the local high schools.

Sara Gayhart Irby surprised us at the luncheon. Henry is finishing his Ph.D. in Educational Psychology at the U. of Va. Sara has her master's in Special Ed. and is teaching at Walker Junior High School in Charlottesville. This summer they plan to go to Nova Scotia where Henry will teach for the summer at the U.

Linda Garrison Bowe and family are in Williamsburg where Tommy's dental practice is growing by leaps and bounds, and Linda has plenty to keep her busy with her three children. Annette Crain Allen and Linda see each other occasionally. Annette and Bob expect their third child in August. Annette is busy with Junior League and the Board of the Virginia State Dental Asso. Auxiliary. She helps with the Peninsula Symphony Guild and teaches 5th and 6th grade Sunday School. Sue Amory Jenkins is in Hampton with her two boys and hubbie and is working on a library science degree. Jackie Harnsberger Lewis keeps the Hampton Roads area moving. With one child in school and the other at home, Jackie finds time to paint, plant flowers, sew, do church work, and work with the Junior League of Hampton Roads. Nancy Baker Cooper and Nan Brimmer arrived with the Hampton crew. Nan is teaching reading in Norfolk and is also working on her Master's degree.

Jane Lloyd Westphel sent us greetings from Quantico where she and her husband are busy with three boys, PTA, church activities, scouts and sports. Jane's husband, Paul, is a major in the Marines. Marjorie Crismond Tremaglio could not be with us at Founders Day because she was expecting addition number four to her family. Carolyn Kelly Gerber could not make it because she was expecting a second child in May.

Weston Walker Gupton is busy in Clarks-ville with 7-year-old Randy and a baby girl. Weston really went all out last fall, teaching girls' phys. Ed. and Health at Bluestone High School. She knew all along she should have majored in P. E.! She finds time also to read and to do her husband's bookkeeping and church work. Such energy!! Sally Tilson Carter came from Lexington. She has two girls 4 and 14 mos. She still has time to work two days a week at VMI. From Lynchburg area came Mary Holland Duffie; Pat Patton, and Carolyn Garner Jacobs came from Altavista where she is teaching.

Nancy Drudge Fawcett is living in Blacksburg but made the trip to L. C. Her husband is working on his Ph.D. in physics at VPI, and Nancy looks after Monique. She had Alice Sawyer Pate and her two little girls as guests last fall. Anne Gary Gauldning sent us word from Victoria. She is teaching fourth grade and enjoying Tammy who is seven and Cindy who is four.

Mary Anne Foster Rust brought us news of her family and of Jeanne Vestal Hellstrom. By now the Rust family should be living in Maryland where Randy will work for Southern States Coop. Mary Anne, Kathy 6 and the twin boys 3, will now have to get used to city life after ten years on the farm! Jeanne Vestal Hellstrom and family will be in Okinawa until June '69. Jeanne has been teaching P. E. in a quonset hut and in an old gym made from a hangar.

Monique, 3, daughter of Nancy Drudge Fawcett, '58.

It was just like "ol' home week" when Sue Taylor Paschall, Meredith Nickols, and B. J. Spruhan Waff walked into the "Rec." Sue's husband Don is with Dunn and Bradstreet in New York, and has started a model ship company. Sue has two boys, does Alumnae work, volunteer hospital work, and PTA work. B. J. Spruhan Waff is living in Norfolk where her husband is a mortgage broker. They have 2 boys and a girl. Meredith is working in Richmond—and hasn't changed a bit. Sure glad to know she's still with us. She hears from Amanda Dillon who is teaching in Turkey but will be home this year.

Shirley Alcock Warfield wrote a nice news letter for our reunion. The Warfields moved to Kansas last June when Whirey was transferred. They added a daughter to the family in December '67, to keep the two boys company. Shirley calls Carol King Robertson who lives in close-by St. Joseph, Mo. Kate Krebbiel Lawrence also is enjoying the West in Las Cruces, New Mexico, but hopes to leave there in June when Don graduates and to head East for a visit. They hope to go to Germany again for Don's next tour of duty. Kate and Don have two girls and a boy. Lucia Hart Gurley sent greetings from Dicken-son, Texas, and hopes to be with us at our next reunion.

Suzie Barr Kendall is in Winchester where Bob is practicing neurosurgery. They have a new home, a two-year old, and expect a little one in August. Suzie joined the Hospital Auxiliary, a Garden Club, and is involved in church work. Our president, Shirley Hauptman Gaunt, is busy in Winchester with family and church work.

Carolyn Ward Fronfelter couldn't come from Waverly as she was expecting her second child but sent word she would see us next time. What a pleasure to see Jo Maxey White after 10 years. Jo is teaching elementary physical education in Windsor, keeping house and farm, and looking after Jeff age 6, and Jill 2. Lucille Ferguson joined us at lunch; she is living in Farmville now.

Mary Lee Teel Webb came with Shirley and Suzie. Her husband is a lawyer in Charlottesville, and they have a year-old-daughter. Margaret Dowdy and Lucy Wooten Campbell journeyed from Richmond and Ashland. Margaret is teaching P. E. in Ashland, and Lucy is busy with her family in Richmond.

Mary Leigh Deane Boisseau is in Danville and has two boys. She does J. C. work. Rubinette Miller Neimann is also in Danville. After eight years on the VPI faculty teaching Home Ec., she is keeping house for hubbie Jack and Elizabeth Lynn, age one. Eleanor Crowder Blanks is in Clarksville teaching and keeping house for her husband and little girl who is three.

Up in the Yankee part of the state, we seem to be gaining a few more Longwood gals. Eliza Buchanan Sullivan has moved to Fairfax and is living close to Anne V. Weaver Dove who is in Vienna with her three children and husband Joe. Nancy Richardson Raybold and Richard have two children to keep them busy. Richard works for the Bureau of Standards. Anita Heflin Allen and Jim are back in North Arlington where Jim has resumed teaching at Yorktown H. S., and Anita is busy at home with 3 children.

Jane Crute Sowards lives out in Leesburg where Al is principal of Leesburg Elementary School. The oldest boy is in school and David, 3, is at home. Cora Alice Somerville Kyle made the big trip down from Franklin, Pa., to be with us.

Mary Anne Barnett Trapp and I enjoyed the hospitality of Eleanor Weddle Bobbitt for Founders Day weekend. Frank Trapp has been transferred to the DuPont Plant in Camden, S. C.; so Mary Anne had a long trip to be with us. The three children visited in Clarksville with their grandparents as we enjoyed our 10th reunion. As for myself, I'm teaching in Arlington and living in Alexandria. I had a wonderful 6-week camping trip to Calif. last summer. This is the only way to see the West. This summer I plan to visit Nova Scotia and the New England states.

Thanks to all who contributed to the postage fund. I was so glad to see all of you who made it this year to our big 10th get-together. Let's plan on an even bigger one for 1973!!! Don't forget to send your news to me at any time or to Shirley.

Writing the news for you this year proved a bit more difficult because of the poor response, for this reason I will begin by making a plea for more letters. Put my name on your Christmas Card list and write me a note. Our ten-year reunion will be coming this spring! Please remind your '59 friends and do write to me before the reunion. You will hear more about this about the first of the year.

I received a long letter in January from a long-lost classmate, Vann Thacker Atwater, who was in Gainesville, Fla., when she wrote as Henry was working on a Ph.D. in nuclear engineering at the U. of Fla. The Atwaters planned to move in March to Los Alamos, New Mexico. Vann has two children and was looking for a third family addition in Sept. She has enjoyed her work with retarded children and hopes to return to this when her children are older.

Out in Calif., Cass Connor Flatley is working on her master's degree and is substitute teaching. She reports that her family is fine and that they all love Calif. Shusie is in first grade, Anne is four and Patrick is three.

Elaine Weddle Chesnut and Walter and son are now in Amherst, Mass., and Elaine is not teaching for the first time since she graduated. Helen Hillman Drummond reported in her Christmas card that they would move from Leavenworth, Kansas, to Kingston, Ontario, in July. Jim, a Major in the Army, has completed the Command and General Staff College and was going to Kingston to attend the Charlotte Anne, daughter of Vann Thacker Atwater, '59.

Betsy, 21 months, daughter of Patsy Powell Ray, '59.

"H. T.", son of Vann Thacker Atwater, '59.

Canadian Staff College. Julia Grey Wallace Sweeney has a new addition to her family. Please check the birth columns to learn about other new arrivals.

Agnes Lourey Frasier and family have moved "Into town." They live in Roanoke Rapids, N. C. Mary Kay West Carr says that life is about the same for her, busy with the house, three children, the PTA, and church work. Shirley Lucy Leyland and Walter moved to Southampton, Penn., about a year ago, and Walter is working with the Planning Research Corp. at the Johnsville Naval Air Station. Shirley has been active in Woman's Club work and the WSCS in her church. When in Ky. Shirley worked with the Alpha Delta Kappa chapter there. She also joined an arts and crafts group.

Linda Fleshman received her M.Ed. Degree from the U. of Va. last summer, and Carol Sandige received her degree at the same time. Sandy coached the girls sports at Ferrum Jr. College. She planned to spend this summer at the YWCA Camp on Craig to serve as Asst. Director and Transportation Director. Delores Dove Eanes is teaching at Patrick Henry College, a division of U. Va. She went to a meeting at Longwood last spring and visited Nancy Andrews. Delo says she was surprised at the changes in the campus. I could hardly find my way around when I was there last Nov., so I know what she means. All of you should plan to be at our Founders Day reunion, March 22. You will want to see the many new buildings at Longwood and the changes in the old familiar buildings as well as to visit with classmates.

Evelyn Skalsky Hanzlik wrote, after their return from their vacation to Fla. where they enjoyed all of the sights, especially the Passion Play. Mary Helen Jones Kelly lives near Evelyn and has two daughters. Evelyn and her husband and daughter live on a farm, so they have freezers full of vegetables and other goodies. Emma Harrell Gardner is teaching second grade. They took a week-end trip to Williamsburg recently and saw Shirley Saunders Harwood '62 in church. This summer, they planned to go to Calif. Anne Keziah Mullis returned to teaching for the last semester of this past school year; however, they expected to move to Greensboro in May and were building a new home there. Jimmy is with the International Div. of Burlington Industries.

Barbara Heck Bruns and Jerry were getting ready to return to the States when I last heard. Barbara has been in various overseas areas since 1963. Jerry will be taking educational leave from his overseas teaching position to get his Master's degree in psychology. After that, they'd like to return to England; but, for the present, you can find the three Bruns in Coldwater, Ohio. Barbara and Linda Doles Dougherty just missed each other in the Frankfurt Army Hospital. Both had sons born within a few days of each other. Linda and Paul still enjoy the European life. Don't come back for awhile, Linda, as the Rays would like to get back there to pay you a visit.

I hear that Betty Spivey Sellers is in Savannah. Betty was about an hour from me in Germany for two years and is about two hours away in Ga. this year, but I've never managed to see her! I do hear from Martha Rucker Coleman who lives in Atlanta. The second little Coleman was born last Labor Day. Bob is now an Assistant Attorney General of Ga., and they planned to attend a national conference in Boston in June.

Since I did not receive much news, I had to send out a last minute SOS to about a dozen class members, trying to find out about a few more of you. My thanks and the thanks of everyone who reads this to Betty Griggs Barco, Lillian Rosson Spicer, and Virilinda Joyner who were able to collect some information about classmates living in their respective areas.

Beedie Station McMillan is now Senior Counselor at Kellam High School where her husband, Roger, also teaches. They have one daughter, Anne. Beedie received her master's degree from U. Va. last year. Jo Lynn Holland Chaffin has returned to teaching second grade after a 3 year "retirement." Alex is an account executive with Francis I Dupont Co.

The Chaffins live the second house from the Barco's and their two oldest daughters are "inseparable" according to Betty. Betty, Beedie and Jo Lynn are already planning to attend the reunion in March. Sue Rawlings Hilty is teaching P. E. at Kellam High School and has taken some classes this past year.

Lillian sent news of the Richmond area. Jane Adams Schwartz is keeping house for her husband and their little boy born last July. Her husband works at DuPont. Betty Brown Culpeper Holland, Bill, and four children live in Richmond while Bill studies at MCV. He has one more year of work and is specializing in cardiology.

Nancy Knowles Saunders, Lewis, and their two boys planned to move into a new home in June. Sarah Hastings Jones, who has three children, reported that her husband opened his own architectural and engineering firm. Betty Sue Barbee McKinley is teaching at Collegiate and is busy with club work. Betty Sue and her family plan a trip to Arizona during the summer where they will visit her brother. Virginia Kayk Lynch was in Richmond while her husband attended MCV, but the Lynchs have now returned to Gloucester. Betty Maynard Hotchkiss has been industrious, earning 6 credits to renew her certificate.

Weedie Norman Hoffman and Laing have been real estate hunting, but for the summer their plans were to be at the beach and at the river. Wayne Borden and her husband a consulting engineer were planning to build. Mary Strickland Church is enjoying being home with a new daughter. Mary helped Lil collect Richmond area news. Lil, herself, has been teaching fifth grade. Lil saw Violet Scott Barlow, Jane Kell Newbill, and Charlotte Jewell Garst at a state convention in May.

The news of the Alexandria and Fairfax area comes from Virilinda Joyner who is an assistant principal in Fairfax Co. She enjoyed calling and chatting with the '59ers in her area. Lois Ogburn Elsam called some of Virilinda's list. Lou Heier teaches at Wakefield High School and still enjoys tennis. Gayle Cunningham was studying for an exam when Virilinda called as she is working toward a master's degree at the U. of Md. Pat Farrington is working at the Xerox Corp. as a personnel assistant. Pat has enjoyed the northern Virginia area alumnae meetings. Lois Ogburn Elsam talked with Patti Roach Dillard, who is a neighbor of hers in Vienna. Patti has a son, age 8, and a daughter, 5. She is active in the Jr. Woman's Club in Falls Church. Jackie Dietz Blunk and family have moved into a new home.

Barbara Purks is teaching in Fairfax Co. She plans a trip to Hawaii this summer and will teach in an Army dependent school in Okinawa for the '68-'69 school year. Barbara reported that Connie Levinson taught last year in Germany and planned to stay at least one more year. Connie has previously taught in Labrador and in Turkey.

Vicki Brinkly Hunter and family live in Annandale. George works for the FAA. Mary Frances Beck Carr has been a substitute teacher in Fairfax Co. and planned to teach in the new kindergarten program this fall. Barbara Mitchell VanLandingham is busy as the Secy. of her area citizens assoc. Her husband works for Eastern Airlines at Dulles International Airport. Lois Ogburn Elsam moved to Vienna last year. Her husband is a Systems Analyst for Western Union, and they have two children. Lois heard from Jo Anne Maitland Johnston who has been attending U. Va. Betty Lee Smith lives in the apartment building across the road from the Alliance and planned to go to Europe during the summer. One day last year, Betty Lee met the assistant principal of the Mt. Vernon Elem. school in Alexandria in the lobby of the apartment building. This is none other than Minnie Leigh Dean! They did not know that they lived in the same building. Minnie Leigh also planned a trip to Europe during the summer and planned to spend most of her time in England.

Inez Crump Mihalcoe lives in Springfield with Charles and their daughters: Kim, Kelly, and Kris. Charles has opened his second pizza shop not far from where Virilinda and Betty Lee live. They are frequent customers, and I enjoyed one of the delicious pizza's last Nov. (Next time I expect a free one for the advertisement!)

When Virilinda was conducting a pre-school conference at her school during the spring, she learned that the mother of one of the preschoolers was Nadine Dazzell Soto. Last Nov., I visited Virilinda for four days and was accompanied by my year-old daughter Betsy. Molly Workman came by and had dinner with us, and we stayed up until the wee hours talking about Longwood. Molly is teaching in Springfield. Her work is in the modern art category and she is painting with oils. Molly has also worked with the education assoc. in Fairfax Co.

After we visited Virilinda, Betsy and I went to Farmville and visited Mrs. Mary Watkins and my sister Jane who was a Senior at LC. I am looking forward to returning in March and seeing all of you there. The highlight of my year was a trip to Hawaii to see my husband, Luther, a major in the army, who is serving a year in Long Binh, Vietnam. By the time this is in print, he will be home again and we will be happy to have the year behind us. We did have a wonderful six days in Honolulu in late May and would like to return there someday, under different circumstances. Meanwhile, we expect to spend the next year or two here in Augusta, Ga., so please write to me and let me know your news. Most important, be certain to be at the reunion on Founders Day 1969!

The few of us who attended Founders Day and our Fifth Reunion certainly missed the rest of the Class of '63. It was a happy day of hellos and hugs and "Can you believe . . . ?" We all wore our rose colored glasses, and everyone seems so very much the same . . . perhaps by 1973 we will have changed a bit!

Brenda Smith Grieves came all the way from Florida to tell us about her three handsome sons and husband Bob. They live in Tampa and have a fantastic "wig and fall" business. Bobbi Goodman Fitzgerald came with Brenda from Athens, Ga., where she is teaching and working on her Master's, and Randy is studying for his Doctorate.

Coming from Richmond were Janice Harris Overbey and Gari Dickson Laird. Janice and Buck plan to move to Chatham in June when he finishes Law School. She has been teaching at John Marshall and had seen or heard from many of our classmates. Gari has retired from teaching, and she and Dee now live on a farm in Louisa County.

Barbara Gray Martin Robinson and Don have bought a farm near Cartersville, and both teach and coach at Cumberland High School. Also in the Farmville area is Susan Harwood Paul whose husband is Business Manager at Longwood. Susan is busy teaching Spanish at Prince Edward Academy and caring for her small daughter, Shelly.

Ann Greene has been teaching at the Beach, but she plans to be married in August and to move to South Carolina. Rosa Pettit Noyes and Ned are in Roanoke, where Ned works with the Del Monte Co., and Rosa teaches fifth grade. Now living in Annapolis are Carson and Sharon Coulter Gibb. They are parents of a one-year-old daughter, Alice. Jane Bowling Mays is finishing her Master's at Longwood and is teaching Home Ec. in Nelson County. She and Bill live in a hundred-year-old house with fifteen rooms—"mostly empty for now."

It was good to see Nell Martin Jones who lives at Amherst and expected a child in April. Kay Lockridge Goodman came from Lexington with news and pictures of her year-old daughter. We saw Lauriec Hamlet who teaches Home Ec. at Gretna, and Cathy Atkins who lives in Hopewell and works for Allied Chemical. Margaret Vaughan, who is working on her master's at U. Va. and teaching in Loudoun County, brought along Charlie Hop's address. We'll print it here and hope that many of you will drop a card or note to our faithful friend, Mr. R. H. French, 1503 Minnesota St., Orlando, Fla. 32803. Anne Bradley Green drove from Lynchburg and Diane French Williams came from Snowden, but they stayed too short a time for a real get-together.

It was great to hear news of some of you who couldn't be at Founders Day . . . Probably the best educated member of our class to date is Ann Agee. She received her Master's from U. Va. in Modern Chinese and Ancient Asian History and then studied for her Doctorate at the U. of Pa. She was to leave for India in May to work on her dissertation. Wow! Judy Purcell is living in Alexandria and works for one of the Ohio Congressmen. One of her roommates is Margaret McMullen who is still teaching and spending her weekends traveling and skiing. Flossie Barnard Adams is teaching at Amelia High School, and Beth Goodwyn Tyner teaches fifth grade in Tennessee.

Far away is Mary G. Lipscomb Garrett who lives in Hawaii with her serviceman husband and son, Chris. Ellen Terry Tuncliff is living in Honolulu and expected a child in April. Also anticipating this spring were Lani Robinson Brewer and husband, Toddy. They and daughter Kelly live in Barrington, Ill. Jack and Neal Banks Chaffin '62 and their two sons, Jackie and Charles Leslie, are in Minneapolis. Jack completed his Doctorate at U. N. C. and is now associated with Honeywell there.

Tammie, 4, and Terrie, 1 1/2, daughters of Nan Horey-King Morris, '64x.

After working for a psychiatrist for three years, I taught for the first time this term and am now gathering courage to do it again in the fall. My Bill is a stock broker rather permanently assigned to Parkersburg, but we both look forward to frequent visits to Virginia. We hope to see all of you in 1973.

Thanks to those present at Founders Day. We now have funds for the Class News mailing, so you can all expect to be contacted for next year's Alumnae News. Be sure to reply—we would all like to hear about you!

Members of the class of '65 are busy teaching, traveling, marrying, etc. Having contacted various "personalities" from our tradition-breaking class, I've found enough gossip to entertain you.

Classmates located at Virginia Beach usually keep in touch, while shopping at the Colonial Store! Joanna Otto Geringer is teaching and her husband, Ronnie, is a golf assistant at the Princess Anne Country Club. Marcia Siegfried DeMille and Frank have bought a home, and he is coaching at a local high school. Marguerite Oliver Aragona, Lou Grey Theus Weeks, and Judy Cox Partle '66 are here teaching and keeping house. Judy's husband, Paul, will end his naval career and begin law school in the fall. Martha Spitzer has had quite a fling with directing along with her teaching duties at Kellam High School. She will marry this summer and move to Elizabeth City, N. C. Laura Lee Myerhoffer is teaching in Virginia Beach's newest high school, and Pat Rowe has also been here but plans to teach in Florida next year. Pat Wallace will be spending some time in Mexico during the summer. Pat said that Bobbie Rice will teach another year in Okinawa. Bonnie Ramsey Shirley, and Curt have a home here in Kempsville and plan to travel in Europe this summer. Recreation for these two consists of sporting around on their motorbikes! A chat with Scotty Whitehead Baker brought more news. Sally Jarman Pierce '66 has a baby, and Duden Campbell Hunt will be living in Raleigh, N. C. Duden, Niel, and Scotty—their daughter—have been living in Philadelphia while Niel attended finance school. Nancy Connell McCaw '64 is about to get her pilot's license, and Sandy Williams Owings is keeping house in Richmond while her husband practices law. In Hampton Nancy Kneustep Orcutt is teaching and waiting for her husband, an air force pilot, to return from Viet Nam. Scotty and George have bought a home in Lindler where George is in business with his brother in Norfolk.

The city of Richmond seems to have its share of '65 graduates, and I have a scoop on a few. Betty "Squat" Hammer reports that she has been involved in teaching English, history, journalism, drama, and directing plays for Huguenot Academy. The school named their chapter of the Quill & Scroll in her honor. Betty will travel in Canada this summer. Carol Moyer has been Special Education Art Consultant for the Richmond City Schools this year. She was married in June and will stay in Richmond and work with an art program for underprivileged children. Susan Hawks has been teaching at George Wythe and attending summer school at Duke. Susan has spent two summers in Europe and is now ready to invade the West coast. She will join Sarah Jane Lynch Spence in Tacoma, Washington, for a year of teaching and travel. (Gomer says HEY!!!) Dottie Marshall Carpenter is back in Richmond, after a year in Denver, Colorado. Her husband, Ray, will be attending graduate school, and Dottie will probably be teaching. Seems to be a predominate occupation! Mary Anne Whitehead Eubank and Gordon have settled in the state capital along with Nancy Roberson Mustian and Tommy who have a new baby. Ginny Petty Douglas and Birch are still in school—Birch in law school and Ginny still in high school, teaching of course! Ann Gordon, Mickey Rabineau, Dale Cannon, Mary Lee Densmore Martin, Norita Sizer and Marty Young Godsey are also in Richmond. I have seen them in the past year, and they are healthy and happy. And now a word from Maria "Dixie" Grant! Maria finished her master's degree in Education at U. N. C. August, 1967. She is the Dean of Women at Isothermal Community Junior College in Spindale, N. C. She keeps in touch with Joyce Neal who is teaching in Wilson, N. C. She also said that Lynn Guerin Johnson is moving to Atlanta with her two girls, Stephanie and Jennifer. "Sam's" husband, Tony, is with the Marines in Viet Nam.

Betty Shepherd Thomas is living in Norfolk, has her Master's Degree, and is teaching reading at St. Helena School. Frank is the principal of Taylor Elementary in Norfolk. A conversation with Betty reveals that Mary Lou Dunn McGee has a baby girl. Amy Haley Watkins and Bill are in South Boston, Va., with their son, Bill, Jr.

Mary Walker Gough and Tom are making their home in Lynchburg. Donna Gray has obtained her master's degree and was married this summer. Anne Graham and Mary Lou Penington are teaching in Hampton, and Anne says that Iris Jean Yates was married in June. She reported also that Jeanette Naff Garst of Roanoke has a baby girl. Susan, and that Carolyn Ramsey Jolly has a little boy. Bitsy Johns married Art Webb who is now headed for Viet Nam with the Army.

Milly Woodward seems to be one of our more active members these days. She is in Greenbelt, Md., and is a chemist for the Division of Biological Standards at the National Institute of Health in Bethesda. She flies over the country inspecting Blood Banks for the U. S. Public Health Service. Milly is the president of the Washington Metropolitan Area Longwood Alumnae Asso. and is enthusiastic about her work, her duties, and her social life.

I found Judy Crum Apperson in Chesapeake, Va., teaching the fifth grade. Her husband, Bill, is head of a local high school science department and is working on his Master's at Virginia. Kathy Dodge Beckwith is living in Charlottesville where George is attending medical school. Kathy is working on her Master's and is teaching. She was chosen "Outstanding Teacher" by her high school students!

Kathy Puckett Phlegar and Danny are stationed in Germany near Weisbaden and are really getting in some European travel. They were in the Netherlands for tulip season and have been skiing at Garmisch. I received a postcard from them in June, and they were touring Great Britain, Ireland, and Scotland. They will be there another year; so if anyone goes over, look for "Puckett". Jean Romm Atkinson will be traveling around the Med. with Brian this summer. One problem is that Brian's in the Navy, so he'll be traveling by sea! They have been in Newport, R. I. for a year while he attended Destroyer School.

Anne Cordie Hamlett and Ryland are building a home in Victoria. She is teaching U. S. history and Government, and is busy with house plans. "Cordie" planned to finish her Master's this past summer at Longwood.

I tracked Connie Birch to New York, then to California, and then lost her! Maybe by next fall she'll show up! I ran into Jackie Walker at the Hampton Roads Hockey Tournament this year. My high school team from Kempsville defeated hers from Denbigh, only to lose to Rusty Stephenson's team from Warwick. Small world and all that jazz!

Marcie Hynes Amos, is sending the news from the D. C. area, and I hope you people who were left out this year will let us hear from you in the future. I, Betty Wright, guess I follow the typical pattern . . . have been teaching "gym" for the past few years, have made the European scene, and will be married in the fall. "Longwood Love" to all you sharp '65ers wherever you are.

Sandy Craig Rowe is teaching in Fairfax while her husband, Art, is in the army at Fort Belvoir. Art reports to Viet Nam on June 12, and the Rowe's plan a month of traveling before his departure. Elizabeth "Sissy" Shute McClellan is teaching in Fairfax. Her husband George is also a teacher in northern Virginia. The McClellans plan to spend part of the summer at the beach and also in the mountains.

We visited with Barbara Jo Crumley Bunch and husband, Allen, last weekend in Highland Springs. Barbara Jo is at Highland Springs High School and has joined the Junior Women's League. While I was in Richmond, I called Mary Jane Brittingham Bell. She is teaching and her husband, Fred, is about to enter his last year of medical school in dentistry. Barbara Jo sends me all the newspaper clippings about engagements and weddings of Longwood girls. I will be happy to write up any news that is sent to me.

Suzanne Ballard Ashby and Page, welcomed their first addition in January, a son, Page. Martha Garrett Lyles and John have returned to Richmond after living in S. C. where John did graduate work. Jeannie Trout Lawson and Dave are in Ithica, N. Y., where Jeannie is teaching and Dave is working on a graduate degree. Sarah Jane Lynch Spence is teaching in Washington State and loves the climate! June and Judy Wilson are teaching in Richmond. Shirley Harris Welsh and husband, Sam, are busy running a farm outside of Leesburg.

Anne Chappell McCoy received her M.Ed. in Business from Xavier U. this past year. Bobbie Cadlow Rutherford and husband went to Ocean City, Md., for a week in early August. Bobbie's husband is now working for the Rouse Co. and is in the mortgage underwriting field. Nancy Dobyns Pettengill's husband has left the Navy and will be a pilot for Eastern Airlines. They'll be in Miami until October.

As for myself, I have left the teaching profession in order to devote my time to my house, husband, Bill, and son, Bill, III. Bill is working for the CIA in Washington, and we have bought a home in the Maryland suburbs.
