President Lancaster's Message

One year ago it was my privilege to write a letter outlining some of our hopes and plans for the college. Now after sixteen months as president of the college, I am giving an account of my stewardship and outlining a few of our plans for the future. Of course, the things that count most in making a college great are faculty and students. Advantage is being taken of every opportunity to strengthen faculty and administrative staff.

Under the direction of the new dean of the college assisted by an able committee on admissions, tests have been given to all applicants for admission to this year's freshman class. The results of these tests have been used in connection with the high school records and other information to determine the applicants' capacity for good work in college. As a result, this year's freshman class is smaller in number but the members are superior in ability to those admitted in recent years.

With carefully selected students and a strong faculty we are convinced that S.T.C. will be able to do its part in the years ahead to guarantee a well equipped teacher for each and every class room in the public schools of the state.

The biennial budget requests for the years 1948-50 have been prepared and presented to the governor and his advisory committee on the Legislative budget. High lighting the requests are:

1. More adequate salaries for faculty and staff and provision for several new faculty members.
2. A new auditorium-music building. The proposed building will contain an assembly hall seating nearly 1,400 and adequate class rooms and practice rooms for an enlarged and improved music department. This year individual and small group voice instruction has been made available and it is hoped that an orchestra and band may be organized during the session. Alumnae should not forget that I have challenged them to a race to see whether they can raise the $25,000.00 for the Jarman organ before I secure the funds for the auditorium-music building in which to place it!
3. Funds for renovating and remodeling some of the older dormitories.
4. Funds for the new science hall to house the departments of biology, chemistry and physics, general science, and a greenhouse.

Already the training school building is being completely remodeled. This work should be completed at an early date. Longwood has been reopened this fall and is being operated by a new hostess for the convenience of the students, faculty and people of the community.

Building upon sound foundations, we believe that with the loyal and enthusiastic support of the alumnae, we are now in a position to envision a great future for the college as an important unit in Virginia's system of Public Education.

*On November 15, 1947 State Teachers College at Farmville suffered an irreparable loss in the death of its beloved president-emeritus, Dr. Joseph L. Jarman. The Alumnae Bulletin had gone to press hence tributes to him will appear in the next issue.

DEAR ALUMNAE:

Election to the presidency of our National Alumnae Association last year brought a feeling of pride and humility. Remembering those who have filled this position so graciously and effectively since 1887, I recalled the words of General Lee as he assumed command of the Virginia Forces in 1861. He said, "I am profoundly impressed by the solemnity of the position. However I would have preferred your choosing an abler person. But—trusting in God, in an approving conscience and in the cooperation of my fellowmen, I devote myself to the service of the office."

We are justly proud that our Alumnae had a part in influencing Dr. Lancaster to become our president. In one short year he has done much in raising standards in our College. He reminds us continually that as a teachers college the highest standards must be maintained. Therefore we must prove our loyalty by informing ourselves about all College affairs and especially about new aspirations and plans. We should be able to speak proudly and enthusiastically of our Alma Mater! We represent and interpret our College to the communities in which we live.

I wish each of you could have attended the first meeting of the Alumnae Council in Farmville October 24-25. The old Farmville Spirit was there, but many new constructive ideas were developed, which will be felt in our entire organization. This Council, which will meet annually, is composed of the executive board of the national association and a representative of each chapter. Fifteen chapters were represented this year which was a good start, but we want a larger chapter representation next year!

Five suggestions that came out of this meeting are listed here as individual and chapter objectives:

1. A financially adequate Alumnae Office at Farmville. This is possible only through contributions of individuals and chapters. You will hear more about a new plan of having class agents solicit for funds.

2. Larger contributions to the Jarman Organ Fund, dear to the hearts of us all.

3. Increased membership in chapters and the organization of new chapters. Enlist undergraduates as well as graduates.

4. More loans and gift scholarships for promising students who need help. Contacts with your high school principal and the Dean at S.T.C. will help.

5. Frequent visits to Farmville, with especial effort to be there on Founders Day. One glory of the College is her hospitality!

Our Alumnae Association is capable of great things—so let's work together for the College that has done so much for us!

Faithfully yours,
Maria Bristow Starke

Class Reunions

This is reunion year for members of the "Eight" classes. The classes of 1898 and 1923 are to celebrate their fiftieth and twenty-fifth anniversaries respectively, and they will be joined by the reunion classes of 1888, 1908, 1918, 1928, and 1938 as special guests of the college on this next Founder's Day, March 6, 1948.

As is customary, a member of each of these classes was asked to write some message to her classmates by way of the Bulletin. Space does not permit the printing of all of these letters in full so we have taken the liberty of transmitting their greetings to you, with the admonition that you heed their clarion call to compete for the Jarman Cup given each year for the class having the largest percentage of attendance on Founder's Day.

Because we sensed something very precious in the two letters from our nineteenth century graduates, we could not bring ourselves to attempt a paraphrase, and so print them below. Letters like these are typical of what the historian will find invaluable when the history of our Alma Mater appears in print. And spirits like theirs transform pleasantries and clichés into poignant realities and make us say with a sort of reverence, "Farmville spirit will never die."

To the Class of 1888:

A sixty-year retrospect brings the usual mingling of pleasure and sadness. How few of the homesick freshmen of the entering class of '87 remain! I wonder if any of you recall "Gyp" Ferguson?

Impressions of my years at Farmville are still vivid. The vision of Dr. William H. Ruffner is providing a training school for teachers in Virginia; the difficulties he encountered in assembling an adequate faculty, and in having girls who were "sent off to school" to select Farmville in preference to the "Female Seminary" of the time, are topics for the historian.

What did I find when I entered in September, 1886? Not even adequate dormitory space! With other newcomers and several faculty members, I lived in the commodious Berkeley home just across the street.

Dr. Ruffner's pressing duties permitted only occasional visits. He shared with us other visions of the future of his state. Back of the platform in the assembly room hung a huge hand-drawn and hand-colored map of Virginia. One of his lectures was on the state's future possibilities. Pointing to where the city of Roanoke now stands, he predicted one of the great cities of the future. At that time the village of Big Lick consisted of one street with a cross roads store and a flour mill as industries. Some of the neighboring county homes such as "Elmwood" and "Melrose" are now in the heart of the third largest city in Virginia. Dr. Ruffner's talk so intrigued me that one of my favorite stunts was to deliver my version of that lecture to the huge delight of the other girls.

These girls came from many sections and one of the problems of the English teacher was to unify our differences in pronunciation and dialect. The letter "a" came high and short from the mountaineers, low and broad from the Tidewater contingent. We were introduced to the intermediate sound of the word and told to acquire it by practice. Next morning as we gathered on the campus before the assembly period, I suggested that this would be a good time to prepare our assignment. We did lustily. When our adored English teacher took her place on the platform in assembly we saw that she was not pleased. We expected that we would "catch it" during the English period. She merely said, "Young ladies, open your notebooks. Write, 'Screaming is not practicing.' A lady will no more smite your ear with a harsh sound than she would with a blow."

The application of that notation has remained. Recently, listening to the raucous tones coming from a lovable but excited bobby-soxer, I was tempted to tell her the story, but honestly I did not know how to translate the term, lady, into her vernacular.

The second year of our stay the first addition to the dormitories was completed and President Cunningham, a true friend of man and of schoolgirls, lived on the campus and added to the golden memories of Alma Mater.

The actual course of study was limited according to present day standards but somehow there was implanted a great admiration for sincere scholarship and such a desire to explore further that some of us have remained perpetual students.

KATHERINE FERGUSON MOREHEAD
Salem, Virginia

Dear Girls of the 1898 Class:

Fifty years ago! Can it really be possible?

But I'm sure the old days are still fresh in the minds of each of us.

One of my earliest and most cherished memories at The Normal is a visit from Dr. Cunningham to the Class Room. Of course, you all recall the vigor with which he entered, stood before us and demanded: "Question? Question? What, no questions? Know it all, do you? Now I can learn something." And then he would pelt us with questions and soon have everybody interested and inspired.

Our evenings in Mrs. Morrison's sitting room where she read to us so many interesting books, come so vividly to my mind through the years. And Miss Sarah Spencer, what a real sport she was! Remember her "all in bed?" If one girl was not, and said, "I'm taking a bath, Miss Sarah," she'd reply, "Well, you are up in a good cause, but don't be much longer." I wonder if as many baths were taken as were reported.

What a helpful guide Miss Coulling was in our Y.W.C.A. Can't you still see Miss Stone's little, perfectly fitting black cape with astrakan border? What a big thing she did for us in selecting our quotation for assembly. The first one she gave me is still in my mind: "No life can be pure in its purpose, and strong in its strife, and all life not be purer and stronger thereby."

And Miss Rice! Did any school ever have a richer blessing than she was to all who entered Farmville's gates? My sister, Mary, had a letter from her recently and it clearly showed that she has lost nothing from her great gifts of mind, heart, and soul.

Well, we often hear of garrulous old age, and by this time each of you must be saying, "This is it!" So I'll spare you further reminiscing and will close with love for Lillie, Laura, Belle, Nellie, Cora, Eunice, Mattie, Mary and Genevieve and the plea that every one of you will be at our meeting next March. Please don't disappoint me.

Faithfully yours,

ADELLE WARREN BONHAM

Bristol, Tenn.

Paradoxically, the "girls" of fifty and sixty years ago seem to have the freshest memories and time sits more lightly upon them, if we would judge their letters in comparison with the greetings from later classes. Madeline McGlothlin Watson (1938) writes that they graduated "such a long time ago" and fears that "the youngsters who are there now will think us mighty dull, settled old folks as we speak of what we did in Farmville, how many children we have, of what has filled ten years of living."

Speaking of what this year's class of 1948 will think of those of us who represent past decades reminds the editor of the letter received from Grace Beale Moncure, Towson, Md., class secretary of the "Naughty Eighters" (1908), as she recalls an occasion when a dozen of her classmates that memorable June, forty years ago watched three or four gray-haired ladies, "alumnae of some far back class" arriving for commencement. "They had come on the train and were walking up from the station, which everyone did in those days. Behind them walked a small elderly negro pushing a wheelbarrow piled high with telescopes, which by the way were not optical instruments, but the ladies' canvas bags stuffed full of ruffled petticoats and long black stockings." As "Uncle Robert" handled their bags and "Aunt Lou" ushered them in with her characteristic dignity these modern young ladies of '08, "with the arrogance of youth and slightly superior smiles remarked, 'We'll be doing that our selves one of these days'". . . "And now," writes Grace Beale Moncure to these same classmates, "is the time to do it."

Julia Stover Carothers of Tallahassee, Fla., claims that her class (1918) was the largest diploma class to graduate to that date and she hopes to have the largest representation at S.T. C. this March. Judging from her letter of reminiscences we might assume that if Inza Lea, Annie Gee, Annie Gregory, and Mary Lancaster can still provide music and dancing and dramatic entertainment as of yore, with Annette Alexander's original directing and Tom Gleaves serving as censor, they might successfully revive the old "Spree Club" and repeat "An Evening in Pain". (Their historic parody on Miss Munoz's Glee Club Operetta "An Evening in Spain.") "Remember? If you do," says Julia, "Get that new permanent, let down a few hems, and buy your ticket to Farmville."

Mary Nichols wishes to remind the degree class of 1923 that this is their twenty-fifth reunion year. This class of seventeen members were justly proud of being the fifth and largest degree class, and the first class to own their caps and gowns and to don them weekly for the chapel program. Mary hopes that the thought of a quarter of a century celebration will bring out the old annuals and stir wistful day dreams of Alma Mater. With Mary and Elizabeth Moring Smith and Anne Meredith Jeffers as local residents of Farmville, a real get-together party such as the one they pulled for their tenth reunion should be in the offing for the class of '23. If for any reason any classmate finds it impossible to join them, plan to be represented by a newsy letter all about yourself and your activities.

Virginia Updyke Cushwa of Louisa, Va., promises to join the other members of the class of 1928 and hopes to get caught up on all the news of S.T.C. and classmates. Memories of class games, decorating the Rotunda, stunts and gifts for the Founder's Day twenty years ago stir nostalgic longings for Alma Mater.

Eighteen eighty-eight to nineteen forty-eight! A sixty year span for rich and useful living for so many S.T.C. daughters. Three wars and a major depression have left their impress. National calamities and personal tragedies have touched us all. Yet loyalties and friendships and ideals engendered in the formative years of college life are warm and vivid, and many alumnae will return to their Alma Mater to do homage to her past and to salute with ever-youthful optimism her future. Won't you be among them?

Bridge to Hunger

What shall I feed my husband to-night,
I've just come in from a foursome.
I am so full of party food
That the thought of cooking is boresome.

I haven't time to cook a roast,
Nor yet to put the ham on;
I'll just cut up a celery staff
And mix it with some salmon.

I'm much too tired to make hot bread;
We're completely out of beans,
But I've got some fresh potato chips,
And a box of nice saltines.

He'll likely come in tired and cross
With a look that's wan and pallid,
I hate to think what he will say
About that salmon salad.

Oh why do husbands eat so much,
Will some one kindly tell?
I only ate a five-course lunch
And I am feeling swell.

—MARGARET LAWRENCE SIMKINS, '41

Founder's Day 1947

Founders Day, March 8, 1947, marked the sixty-third anniversary of the founding of our College. The attendance was small due to a snow which fell on Friday night, but most of the reunion classes were represented on the morning auditorium meeting. The Class of 1927 of which Virginia Potts Redhead was president, won the Jarman Attendance Cup. At the last Virginia could not come so Cornelia Dickinson Nuckols represented this class.

Miss Virginia Bedford headed a faculty committee to work with the Alumnae Secretary to plan this day. The highlights included the Farmville Chapter coffee, the auditorium program, the buffet luncheon followed by the business meeting, the formal dinner in the College dining room, and the presentation of the Shakespearean play "The Taming of the Shrew" given by the S.T.C. Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler. There was one real addition, however; Dr. and Mrs. Lancaster held "Open House" in the President's home from 4 to 5 p. m. To the Alumnae this was a most delightful informal highlight of the Founders Day Homecoming. Farmville is indeed most fortunate to have Mrs. Dabney Lancaster, a Virginia lady, and a gracious hostess for the College.

nice organ will cost. Surely every girl who was here while Dr. Jarman was president, will want to commemorate his forty-four years of service with such a tribute to his love of music! If you make an unrestricted gift, a large part of it will go to this fund.

It takes money to run an Alumnae Association of 7,000 members, so the same committee will budget your gift to provide for the necessary expenses of your Association. Do you realize that the postage alone, to say nothing of stationery and printing, on a three-cent letter, is $270.? Your financial support is greatly needed in this all-important work. Make your gifts as large as possible.

Report of the Nominating Committee

The nominating committee consisting of Elizabeth Jarman Hardy, chairman, Laura Anderson Moss and Virginia Wall, presents with pride the following slate of officers. Each nominee was a leader in College and has been an active citizen since her graduation. It is desirable that each section of Virginia be represented on the executive board. The date of graduation and the place of residence follow the names.

Am't we proud of the five scholarships given by our larger Alumnae Chapters? This is one of the finest ways a group of Alumnae can serve Farmville! Roanoke and Lynchburg have loan funds but this year the girl selected in Roanoke found out late in the summer that it was impossible to attend college. Since 1909 the Lynchburg Chapter has made a loan to a deserving girl who might not otherwise be able to attend college.

Principals of high schools are asked to recommend candidates for these scholarships and loans on the following basis: (1) scholarship, (2) citizenship and (3) a definite interest in teaching.

The highlight of the Alumnae Chapter meetings the past year has been the presence and inspirational talks of our distinguished new president, Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster. Farmville is indeed fortunate in having a president who realizes the importance of organized Alumnae loyalty. He did not turn down a single Chapter invitation and he spoke to the following groups: Baltimore, Washington, Peninsula, Norfolk, Roanoke, Lynchburg, Richmond, Alexandria, Northampton and Accomac.

The Farmville Chapter started the season with a tea in honor of Dr. and Mrs.

Lancaster at Longwood. With Ruth Gleaves as chairman, Longwood was at its best. In February under the leadership of the new Chapter president, Adelle Hutchinson Watkins, a subscription card party was greatly enjoyed in the student building lounge. A handsome prize for each of the twenty tables was given by the Farmville merchants. Alma Bedinger of Worsham received the Mary White Cox scholarship at the high school commencement.

About twenty-five Baltimore Alumnae attended a Saturday luncheon at the Hotel Baltimore last October. Mildred Ragsdale Jackson presided and Virginia (Little Jennie) Watkins Douglas introduced Dr. and Mrs. Lancaster. State Superintendent of Maryland, Dr. T. G. Pullen, Jr. and his wife, the former Louise Rowe, an Alumna, entertained the Lancasters overnight.

On the following Sunday afternoon, Dr. Lancaster spoke to the Washington Alumnae at a tea in the home of Scotia Starke Haggerty on New Hampshire Ave. Jessie Brett Kennedy, the president, introduced the Lancasters. Carrie Sutherland, president of Chevy Chase Junior College, entertained them at dinner.

The Norfolk-Portsmouth Alumnae, under the leadership of Grace Chambers

Feintheil, had a dinner at the Norfolk Country Club with Dr. Lancaster as their guest speaker. Dolores Waterfield of Norfolk, and Peggy Hoover of Portsmouth are representing these two chapters at S.T.C. as freshmen recipients of their scholarships last June. The Norfolk Alumnae entertained S.T.C. students from their city at a tea last Christmas. They meet monthly at Ames, Brownley Tea Room for a shopper's luncheon during the winter months, and at The Essex House at Virginia Beach with Margaret Harrell as hostess, for a spring and fall meeting.

The Peninsula Chapter had a most enjoyable dinner meeting at the Warwick Hotel last fall with Dr. Lancaster as their special guest. After his talk, one Alumna said, "Dr. Lancaster, it was grand to have you here as our new president, but there is one thing we have missed! Dr. Jarman always greeted us in a most affectionate manner,—a fatherly hug usually!", to which he replied, "I'm too young for that! Give me a little time!"

On Saturday, January 25, the Roanoke and Salem Chapters had a luncheon at the Patrick Henry Hotel. Mary Evelyn Pearsall Le Grande presided and introduced the following Farmville guests, Dr. Lancaster, Misses Peck, Camper, Jeter, Winnie Hiner, Mr. Graham, Dean Smith and Ruth Coyner. Dr. Lancaster outlined some of the plans he has in developing a greater college at Farmville. Tux Howison Metcalf, former president, asked for old graduating dresses etc., to be used on May Day.

The Lynchburg Chapter meets monthly in the homes of its members. Their annual dinner was held in the Lantern Tea Room at the Hotel Carroll, Dr. and Mrs. Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Coyner attended from Farmville. Mrs. Agnes Burger Williams presided and introduced the Alumnae Secretary, who spoke briefly on the former fine achievements of this Chapter and the many ways in which they may continue their splendid work. In Dr. Lancaster's talk he called attention to the fact that Farmville State Teachers College is the only state-subsidized college retaining in its original title the words "Teachers College." He said, "I hope you are proud of it. I think there is no nobler, finer thing any institution can do than prepare teachers to instruct others."

Virginia Wall and Ruth Coyner attended a tea given by the Danville Alumnae in the home of Martha Blair Hylton, whose daughter is now a student at S.T.C. Janie Moore Spiggle acted as chairman at the meeting when the secretary talked on the reorganizing of this Chapter. They decided to give a scholarship to Margaret Dillon who would enter S.T.C. in the fall.

REUNION OF THE "8" CLASSES

FOUNDERS DAY

MARCH 8, 1948

Don't overlook the coupon on page 9

Under the splendid leadership of Anna Carrington Stump and Helen Costan, the Alexandria Chapter staged a delightful dinner meeting at the historic Laura Lee Teahouse. The guests posing beneath the pictures of "George and Martha" are Carrie Sutherlin, Dr. Lancaster, Anna Stump, seated, Mrs. Lancaster and Ruth Coyner. Dr. Lancaster discussed the physical and scholastic progress of the college, emphasizing the new system he had inaugurated of selected students for admission.

Judging from the splendid newspaper accounts of the Richmond Chapter activities they have had a most successful year. In December they sponsored city-wide home-teas for the benefit of The Jarman Organ Fund. As a result they made the largest Chapter contribution to this fund on Founder's Day. Lucy Turnbull served as fund treasurer. Myrtle Dunton Curtis, Carrie Rennie Eason, Lillian Bristow Trevvett and Evelyn Dinwiddie were the Chapter's officers until the spring election when the following new officers were elected: Lottie Whitehurst McAnally, president, Pat Cowherd Adkins, vice-president, Mary Jackson, recording secretary; Lauriston Hardin, corresponding secretary, and Sue Puckett Lush, treasurer. Their spring meeting was a garden tour including "Agecroft", the home of Marion Elizabeth Booker Morton, in Windsor Farms and song — "Education in Virginia". He said in part, "Money spent for education is an investment in our most valuable product — our young people. With the wholehearted cooperation of Alumnae, faculty and administration, we will work toward strengthening Farmville and all public education. I don't think we could make a finer contribution to Virginia."

After a hectic drive from Farmville to Norfolk on Saturday morning, May 17, Dr. and Mrs. Lancaster, Ruth Coyner and two Eastern Shore students arrived just five minutes before the Little Creek boat left for Cape Charles! It was the beginning of a perfect day, however, which included a luncheon with the Alumnae of both Northampton and Accomac Counties, an afternoon visit to some of the historic homes and gardens of The Shore, supper with Martha Lee Doughty and her husband at Onancock, an evening organization meeting of the Accomac Alumnae in the home of Helen Phillips and the night spent at Whispering Pines. Evelyn Thorington presided at the luncheon at Exmore, and Katherine Roberts Wescott was elected the new president of the Accomac Chapter.

Other Chapters who have been busy and who had splendid reports on Founders Day were Atlanta, Ga., Charlotte N. C., Culpeper, Gloucester, Appomattox, Hampton, Winchester, Bristol, Staunton and Lexington. It is hoped that these chapters may be visited by our college president and Alumnae Secretary during this school year.

NOTICE

We have a history and some traditions here at Farmville that should be preserved. Dr. Francis B. Simkins says our school has developed a "personality" that we call "The Spirit of Farmville", and he has very graciously consented to write a history for us provided the Alumnae will send old letters, accounts of incidents of importance or amusement, old pictures, old school publications— anything that will help him write the school's "biography", as he calls it. It is hoped this book can be published before our seventy-fifth anniversary, but we need much material from which to draw the picture that Dr. Simkins hopes to present of our institution's administrative, educational and social past. Dr. Ruffin, our Librarian, is collecting such material and a room has been set aside for the S. T. C. collection. As yet, this collection can not mean a great deal to one who undertakes to write our history. We can talk about this matter at our chapter meetings, and we can write up incidents and memories of the past that will lend charm to the pages of our chronicled story. This is one of the best and most lasting contributions we can make to our Alma Mater.

A Gift to Our College

Mrs. Susie Warner Maddox, Class of 1902, has recently made a very handsome and much appreciated gift to the College—"The Gallery Of Singing Children" by Della Robia. The plaques when placed in the new auditorium, will form a frieze that will lend beauty and charm to the building.

Dr. Maddox taught here for several years, and because of his early training in a boy's choir, he kept up his interest in and love of music. While in Farmville he was a member of the Episcopal Choir.

The Virginia Workshop for Teachers of Spanish

Dr. Lancaster and Mr. Salvador Mangiafico, formerly professor of Romance Languages at Sweet Briar College and now Head of his department at Teachers College, Milledgeville, Georgia, brought the Virginia Workshop for Teachers of Spanish to Farmville last summer. It marked the second summer of the existence of the Workshop and the beginning, we hope, of a long life at Farmville. Two summers ago the first session was held at Westhampton College. Because its unique feature is the training of only teachers of Spanish, a teacher's college seems the natural setting for its permanent establishment. Dr. Lancaster's interest in it and understanding of its worth will keep it here, as well as a similar school for the teachers of French in the State, if the teachers themselves wish it and support it financially. Mr. Mangiafico's unusual ability, sincere enthusiasm, and untiring work will carry it on if only the teachers attend.

Mr. Mangiafico says the only claim his Workshop has to originality or fame is that it is the only one of its kind, i. e., the only school limited to teachers of Spanish and conducted in the language itself, where each participant signs a pledge to speak nothing but Spanish during the term of the four week session. This statement makes clearly apparent the two-fold purpose of the school. "Greater oral fluency in the language" is the first immediate aim Mr. Mangiafico hopes to achieve, and it follows naturally that the Workshop becomes a center for discussing and solving problems, aims, methods, and materials. The Seminar Course is devoted entirely to this second aim, and is the only one conducted in English. It evolves into a round table discussion, or panel, to which all contribute from personal experience and which Mr. Mangiafico himself directs. The student thus learns not only her subject matter, steeping herself in knowledge of language, customs, peoples, history, literature, music, and art; but she is instructed also to impart it to others.

Little did I dream several summers ago, as I jotted down the words in English and hummed the tune of Carry Me Back to Old Virginia at the demand of a small Mexican, that in the summer of 1947 I would be hearing that tune and those words sung in Spanish under the "vine-covered walls" of S.T.C. In fact, only when I wandered beyond the walls of the Student Building was I quite sure I was at S.T.C. Even the sight in the Lounge of the dark, smiling face of Charlie, helping hang copies of Rivera's murals or arrange other art collections and colorful pamphlets, magazines, books, flags, all the vast amount of material concerning Spain and South America that transformed the first floor of the Student Building into a Spanish seeing and speaking world,—even the sight of Charlie wasn't too reassuring. From the very first week of summer school the shy smile and beckoning finger of Miss Coe, Mr. Mangiafico's quiet, pretty, and efficient secretary, brought Charlie on the run. He, too, soon became one of the workers of the Workshop. If his tongue faltered a bit as he echoed, "buenos dias!" to the many greetings he received in passing, his accompanying shrug was as latin as any one's.

Mr. Mangiafico's translation of Carry Me Back to Old Virginia was just one small feat of many he accomplished this summer. In addition to all the collections and variety of materials for atmosphere and teaching purposes, he brought also a most interesting staff of native teachers. There was the lovely and attractive Senorita Ortegay Gasset, descendant of an old Spanish family of Madrid and a recent graduate of Sweet Briar; Senor Garcia from Cuba and assistant to Mr. Mangiafico at Sweet Briar College; Senor Mercado, exchange teacher from Bolivia. Then there were eminent specialists who visited the school for several days at a time to impart added interest and particular learning in various subjects. Dr. Delia Goetz, from the division of International Education Relations of the U. S. Bureau of Education, talked about customs and education in South America, Venezuela in particular. Dr. Robert Smith, professor of art at Sweet Briar College, lectured on Spanish American art and had a grand time "in Spanish" which he speaks like a native. As this marks the four hundredth anniversary of Cervantes three lectures were devoted to his life and works. The best of the movies shown was Dona Barbara, a picturesque and moving story of Venezuela.

It seemed almost unnecessary to label the courses Conversation, Folklore, Contemporary Latin America, when one's whole day was spent in trying to talk in Spanish on just such topics and every evening was devoted to singing Spanish songs, practising Spanish dances, reading Spanish literature, even singing one's hymns and saying one's prayers in Spanish, eating in Spanish, going to picnics and parties in Spanish. One might even say sleeping in Spanish. The first and second floors of the Senior Building, which were the dormitory halls of the Workshop, could, I know, recount tales of dreams, "castles in Spain," maybe even a few nightmares.

As can readily be seen, a summer at the Virginia Workshop for Teachers of Spanish is really a trip to a Spanish speaking country where one actually speaks the language instead of sight-seeing with a guide who speaks excellent English. It is more than a trip to one Spanish speaking country. It is an opportunity to learn much about many of them. Which one of us will ever forget the twilight hour of our picnics with their magic guitar music and songs, ranging from classical and pastoral Spanish ballads, strange Bolivian and Quechuan refrains, rippling and throbbing Puerto Rican and Cuban melodies? At evening practice time their magic crept out the windows of the Student Building and enticed strange visitors in. Sometimes it was a small, dainty, fair child; sometimes, a slim, dark lad who strayed downstairs while their mothers, no doubt, studied hard overhead. Little lips moved and small feet tapped in time with those of the grown-ups, and if one can judge by the round, shining eyes, it was certain the Workshop had won some future converts. Often one of the mothers, or other summer student not of the Workshop, would hover in the vicinity of a Spanish speaking group and remark with a hesitant but curious smile, "I don't know what you are saying, but it sounds mighty interesting. Do you mind if I just listen?" It was a daily occurrence for some one to stop Miss Barksdale for information about how to say this or that in Spanish. Mr. French's latest greeting to all and sundry became, "Hola, Chica!" Officially Miss Barksdale was called Registrar of the Workshop, but it would take more languages than Spanish or English both, to describe all she did and meant to every one. She could always be counted upon, no matter the occasion or demand, for inspiration, knowledge, and understanding, all needs great or small.

The participants of the Workshop, while small in number, were most congenial and cooperative. They ranged from Margaret

Ellett, Betty Bibb, Betty Davey, Eloise Stancell and Anne Willis of our own 1947 graduates to a small grand mother from Alabama, really the youngest, most attractive and talented student of them all. Gifted in both languages and music she was a most valuable member of the school. Emily Carper and Virginia Shackelford of the class of 1946 both came back and did excellent work. Both are teaching Spanish again this winter. By-the-way, Evelyn Goodman, Thelma Diggs, Sue Hundley, Mary Wyatt, and Lee Carter, making ten in all of this year's graduates, are among the Spanish teachers of the State this year. Miss Harriet Baker, who was one of our Physical Education teachers last summer joined us as a Spanish student this year.

It was not my privilege to stay until the Virginia Workshop for Teachers of Spanish closed. I heard there was a grand, final program. I am sure it was worthy of the excellent training of Mr. Mangiafico and his staff and the varied talents of their students.

THESE THREE

To feel, though years in mystic silence pass,
That all is right.
To know that each long, speechless month
but leads
Towards the light—
That, dear, is Faith.

To think with each new morn, mayhap
some word
Will come today,
Yet bearing disappointment with a smile
At each delay—
That, dear, is Hope.

To trust through evil days, forgiving all
That may have passed,
To hope, to trust, to know that life and strength
Will come at last—
That, dear, is Love!

MRS. CLARK

MRS. JOHNSON

Shown above is Mrs. Thomas D. Eason, (Carrie Rennie '11), chosen the most outstanding alumna of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority last year. Mrs. Townsend Clark, national registrar of West Chester, Pa. in presenting the award said in part: "As a conscientious worker and leader in civic, school and church organizations, devoted to her family and home, a typical 'Southern Lady', we are honored to present the Wilma Wilson Sharp Alpha Sigma Alpha award to Mrs. Eason." At right is Mrs. Myrtle Lee Holt Johnson, president of the Richmond Alumnae Chapter. So far as is known Mrs. Eason is the only Virginian to receive this award in the forty-five year history of this national sorority. Mayor Horace Edwards and Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster were also speakers on this occasion.

Retiring Members of Faculty and Administration

MISS MARY CLAY HINER

Miss Mary Clay Hiner wanted to retire in 1945, but Dr. Jarman persuaded her to teach just one more year. Again in 1946, after a new president had been elected, she asked for a release; but because the College needed her steady influence as well as her irreplaceable services, she was prevailed upon to stay on the Faculty still another year. At the close of the summer session of 1947, however, at her insistence, her resignation was accepted with the greatest reluctance and with a sense of irreparable loss to the College. Miss Hiner's connection with the institution embraced a period of forty-five years, from the time she entered as a student in 1902, just after Dr. Jarman came to Farmville, to her retirement after the beginning of Dr. Lancaster's administration, in herself she represented the finest product of the old Normal School and the greater potentialities of the growing State Teachers College.

Miss Mary Clay was graduated with the Class of 1904 and after a brief teaching experience in the schools of Highland County, she came to Farmville to teach English under the direction of Miss Lula O. Andrews, her own teacher whom she loved and greatly admired. In 1913 she entered George Peabody College for Teachers, at Nashville, Tenn. While there as a student and instructor, she received the degrees of B.S. and M.A., and was one of the most admired and best beloved teachers in the faculty. She returned to Farmville in 1921 as

MISS HOUSTON BLACKWELL

Professor of English in her Alma Mater, which by that time had become the State Teachers College. In this position for over a quarter of a century she has devoted her mind and heart steadily to the College, its students, and its Alumnae.

Miss Hiner has always brought to her work at Farmville the highest standards of scholarship, fine understanding of students needs and problems, and a deep appreciation of what a teachers college ought to be. Her contacts with the leading colleges and universities of this country were unusually broad. She studied from time to time at Teachers College, Columbia University, Duke, the University of Virginia, Johns Hopkins, and elsewhere. Wherever distinctive courses were offered concerning her special fields of children's literature and elementary English she was eager to go. She even traveled by air on occasion to make connection between sessions. The opinion is ventured here that this country has few teachers with a better knowledge of books for children and a finer appreciation of the value of literature in the lives of young people. As a teacher of College composition and literature also Miss Hiner has few equals, especially in evoking creative activity in her students. She loves the teaching of Browning particularly, and by her rare gift of interpreting that "subtlest asserter of the soul in verse" has led many young people into deeper spiritual experience.

Through all the years Miss Hiner's supreme gift to the College has been and still is a spiritual one, though she would be the last person in the world to let it be said of her. And as her Alma Mater has grown, she has grown. Her quick step, her erect carriage, her pleasant voice, her alert mind, her quiet efficiency, her ready smile and sympathy, her constant devotion to her family, to her friends, to her church, to her teaching, to her College, to Farmville Alumnae, and withal her innate modesty—all bespeak a harmonious personality which is beautiful to contemplate and which adds lustre to her Alma Mater and to the calling of the teacher.

Miss Mary B. Haynes (B.S., M.A., Peabody College) after thirty years of supervision in the Training School retired in June. During her first four years at Farmville she supervised the student teaching in the fourth grade. In 1921 she was made supervisor of student teaching in the first grade which she continued to supervise until her retirement. For several years the kindergarten and the second grade were combined with the first grade and she was given general supervision of this Kindergarten-Primary Unit.

During this period of thirty years of supervision between three and four hundred students did their practice teaching under her supervision. Through these alumnae her reputation as a supervisor of student teachers spread until her student teachers were in demand not only by superintendents in Virginia, but by those of neighboring states.

Twenty years ago Miss Haynes organized a student branch of the American Childhood Education at the State Teachers College. She continued as sponsor of this organization until her retirement. Through this organization a deeper insight into the nature of the young child was gained and a more professional attitude was developed by students.

The formal education of many of the parents of her pupils in recent years was begun under her teaching and supervision. She often delighted her pupils with stories of things that happened when their fathers and mothers were in her grade.

She was never so happy as when talking with her friends about her work. Her love and understanding of the young child made her a master teacher. Her retirement is indeed a loss to teacher training at Farmville.

For twenty-six years Miss Houston Blackwell was Supervisor of Dormitories at our college. To this work she gave loyal devotion which meant clean, healthful, beautiful, orderly surroundings. No one entered the rotunda without unconsciously paying tribute to her, when he said, "What beautifully waxed floors!"

Miss Blackwell's modesty is an attestation of her heritage of refinement and culture which is hers as a member of distinguished Virginia family, noted especially for its contributions to education. One of the best read persons on our campus, Miss Blackwell's taste in literature is broad. She is quite as much at home in discussing the classics as she is a discriminating reader, and many of the popular books of today fail to meet her approval. Miss Blackwell is faithful and loyal in all her church affiliations. Seldom is there a church service at which she is not present.

Although modest and retiring in disposition, she possesses an alert mind and a keen sense of humor, which expresses itself in a merry twinkle of the eye or in an unexpectedly clever sentence without any trace of sarcasm or bitterness. Her great capacity for sincere friendship manifests itself in many kind and thoughtful acts.

Loyal and devoted to the college in which she served, Miss Blackwell has been missed since she retired from active service last June. She is now living with a sister in Blackstone, Virginia. To her go the love and appreciation of the many alumnae who knew her while they were in college.

Faculty and Administration News

DEAN WILLIAM W. SAVAGE

On April 1, 1947, Mr. William Woodrow Savage became the first dean of the College. In education, experience and his fine personal qualities he is eminently qualified to fill this position with real distinction. A native of the Eastern Shore of Virginia, he received the B.A. degree in 1937 from the College of William and Mary and the M.A. from Chicago University in 1946. For eighteen months he did social research in Virginia for the Federal Government. In 1939 he entered the field of education with the State Consultation Service, an agency of the State Department of Education, first as counselor, then director and later state supervisor of Consultation Service. In the latter position he conducted workshops in guidance for teachers at Richmond Professional Institute, Radford College, and the Virginia Union University. In the summer of 1946 he taught graduate courses in guidance at the College of William and Mary. He is editor of "Work and Training", a bulletin of vocational and guidance information published by the State Board of Education, and he has had articles in various state journals of education, "The Commonwealth", etc. The Alumnae, faculty and administration are delighted to welcome Dean and Mrs. Savage and their two sons on our campus.

Mr. Ralph J. Wakefield, who received his master's degree in music from Columbia University last year, after serving four years in the Army Air Force, is new instructor in the music department. Mr. Wakefield will teach voice and public school music and as he plays a dozen instruments, string and wind, it is hoped he may organize and direct an orchestra.

Miss Carrie Sutherland, a graduate of S.T.C. with a M.A. degree from Peabody College for Teachers, returned to the English faculty here after holding interesting teaching positions in Virginia, Alabama and Texas. For sixteen years she was connected with Arlington Hall Junior College, Arlington, Va., first as dean and then as president. In 1942 she became president of Chevy Chase Junior College, Washington, D. C.

Miss Rosemary Elam, the new assistant to the dean of women, is a graduate of Farmville where she majored in business education. She has taught in Hopewell and Virginia Southern College in Roanoke.

Miss Kate Trent received a B.S. in elementary education at S.T.C., a M.S. from Columbia University and is now working toward a doctorate at Catholic University, Washington, D. C. She is supervisor of the first grade in the Training School this year after having taught in Richmond Public Schools, Mary Washington College, and Wilson Teachers College, Washington, D. C.

Mr. Robert H. Ballagh, a native of Kentucky, has joined the faculty as principal of Farmville High School. He obtained his A.B. from Lynchburg College and M.A. from Duke.

Mr. S. M. Holton, who has served S.T.C. long and well, accepted the presidency of Louisburg College at Louisburg, N. C., last summer. He came to Farmville as principal of the training school. For five years he was Director of Personnel, and last year he was made Executive Secretary. Mr. Holton had made many warm friends in the College and among the citizens of Farmville where he served as chairman of the Southside Hospital Board and a steward in the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Zita C. Hanford who was associate professor in the commercial department, left Farmville September 1 to teach at Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pa.

Mr. Alfred H. Strick, who had been head of the music department for a number of years, left last summer to accept a similar position in a college in Due West, S. C.

Dr. Sybil Henry, principal of the elementary school, was married last June to Mr. John Augustine Vincent of Suffolk. Mrs. Vincent will continue her work at S.T.C.

Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, who has been secretary to the president since 1934, was made executive secretary to succeed Mr. S. M. Holton. Mrs. Watkins is a graduate of S.T.C. and is working on a Master's degree at Columbia University. She will have charge of news and publicity, evaluation of credits for former students and transfers, and will continue working in the president's office. She will also conduct the placement bureau, which secures positions for the graduates of the College.

Dr. Francis B. Simkins has recently published a new book, "The South Old and New". This is a scholarly study and is designed for popular use as well as school use. It is a handsome book, liberally illustrated and Alfred A. Knoph publishers say, "This is the first general history of the New South with a retrospect of the Old, to show that for all its changes the South remains essentially what it always was."

Dr. J. P. Wynne also has a new book published by Prentice-Hall the past summer. "Philosophies of Education" is a "Systematic presentation students can understand. After describing the three dominant philosophies influencing education he shows how each is reflected in the theories and practices of every major school experience." The book is dedicated to John Dewey, William H. Kilpatrick, and H. Bode, three leading present day philosophers who have approved this latest book.

Miss Lillian Seaburg, graduate of Winthrop College in South Carolina, and the University of North Carolina in library science, joined the library staff last winter. She served in the WACS during the war.

Dr. Mary Beverley Ruffin, librarian at S.T.C. was initiated into Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary College last December. She has the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in library science, and has served on library staffs at William and Mary, University of Florida, Penn. State and Northwestern University.

Miss Alpha Lee Garnett, who was assistant to the Dean of Women the past three years, is now teaching in Ravenscroft School in Raleigh, N. C.

Mrs. Sophie Packer resigned as College nurse last summer and is acting as hostess in the dining hall at Hampden-Sydney. Miss Maxine Keeling has her position in the infirmary.

Miss Pauline Camper, faculty advisor of Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, national education sorority, took an active part in the Golden Jubilee convention at Williamsburg in July. She was in charge of marshalling the hostess chapters, the three Virginia chapters being Farmville, Harrisonburg, and Radford.

Miss Elizabeth Burger, assistant professor of natural sciences, is junior publicity chairman for the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs, secretary of the Prince Edward County War Memorial Association and a member of the board of directors of the County Community Chest. In 1939 she was a member of the United States Field Hockey team when it played in South America. She plays hockey with the Richmond Hockey Club, and as a member of the Virginia team who received All-American honorable mention, played at the national tournament in New York in 1946. Her team won two games, tied one, lost one, and enviable record.

Faculty members who studied last summer were Miss Virginia Bedford at Ohio State University; Miss Elizabeth Burger and Miss Emily Clark at Columbia University; Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina; Miss Mary Nichols at Duke University; Miss Emily Barksdale at the University of Mexico, Mexico City; Miss Frances Waters at the University of Colorado; and Miss Janice Lemen at Eliot O'Hara School of Water Color, Grasse Beach, Maine.

Farmville has been fortunate in securing foreign students assistants in both French and Spanish. Last year Mademoiselle Annette Vincent Viry, who had received both her baccalauriat and licence-ès- lettres from the University of Lyon was here. Eager to know more about America Mademoiselle Vincent-Viry went to the University of Wisconsin as student assistant this year rather than Bryn Mawr or Wheaton College, both of which also offered her positions. This year, Mademoiselle Laurette Véza, also graduate of the University of Lyon, having both the baccalauriat and licence-ès-lettres with a major in English, is the French informant. Dalila Agostini from Mayagüez, Puerto Rico, is student informant in Spanish.

Miss Lula O. Andrews, beloved teacher of English at Farmville from 1898 to 1912, died after a lingering illness at her home near Lafayette, Alabama, on October 31, 1946—just a few days after the last issue of our magazine went to press. But with one voice, thousands of her former students throughout the South will say she is still alive, living radiantly in the memories of her friends and disciples. They remember always her quick, ready sympathy, her delightful humor, her strong convictions; they think of the rare combination of intellectual strength and true gentleness which was hers. Truly she was a great teacher and incomparable friend.

Mrs. Bessie C. Jamison, housekeeper in the Home Department at S.T.C. for many years, died at her home in Salem, Virginia, on February 28, 1946. She is remembered as a loving friend and as one of the spiritual assets of the College.

GRANDDAUGHTER'S CLUB

In the fall of 1926 the first organization of the Granddaughters was effected. They, whose mothers had been loyal daughters of our Alma Mater, banded themselves together to uphold the College ideals and standards which their mothers had helped to establish. This year there are ninety-nine members of this club,—thirty-four new members and sixty-five old ones. We are justly proud of these girls and their loyal mothers!

SO YOU'RE A SENIOR is the title of a new twenty-page booklet published recently by the College. Well illustrated with scenes of the campus and of student activities, it contains useful suggestions for all high school seniors who need assistance in making plans for employment or further education following graduation. Copies will be sent without charge to alumnae who write to the College requesting them.
