Artist Series To Bring Illustrated Discussion By Sir Hubert Wilkins

Lecture To Concern Influence of Arctic

Taking his listeners on an exciting flight, via words and pictures, across the old Antarctic oceans and up to the frozen Northern Continents, Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, world-famous explorer and lecturer, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "The Arctic and Its Influence on World Affairs" in Jarman Auditorium at 8 p. m., Thursday, November 12. This is the second of five events in the Longwood Artist Series for 1953-54.

Known by name to practically every schoolboy in the United States, Sir Hubert is one of the outstanding international figures of the present generation. Not only has he lived a colorful and adventurous life, but he has to his credit a long series of outstanding achievements.

Among these are twenty-five years of meteorological exploration in the Arctic and Antarctic regions during which he commanded seven different expeditions.

Sir Hubert was the first to discover new land from the air, to fly over the Antarctic continent, to cross the Arctic by plane, to fly about the North Pole by moonlight in depth of winter, the first to land on any ocean unaided and walk home, and was the first and only explorer to use a submarine under the Arctic ice.

Since 1941 Sir Hubert has held a position as consultant to several United States government agencies including the Army, the Office of Strategic Service, Department of Commerce, and the Weather Bureau. He has also been a special visiting lecturer at McGill University.

Tickets for Sir Hubert's lecture are on sale in the office of the Secretary of Longwood College for $1.50. Students at Hampden-Sydney and in public schools may obtain them for $1.25. Longwood students will use their season tickets.

Shotwell Will Speak Sunday, November 15 For Vesper Services

Union Vesper Service will be sponsored this Sunday night by the YWCA. This periodical service of all the youth groups in Farmville will be held at 7 p. m. at the Baptist Church. Its purpose is to encourage Church attendance by college students.

Max Shotwell, a student at the University of Richmond, will be the principal speaker of the evening. His speech is entitled "We Are All Harvesters."

Several Longwood girls will give short Thanksgiving talks. Jean Windley will talk on the blessings of "Home," Virginia Lee Pierce, "Country," Joan Harvey, "Opportunity," Lawanna Rutland "Friends," and Ann Thomas will speak on the blessings of "Christ and His Church."

Also included in the program will be Scripture by Helen Short, and Prayer led by Wanda Doll.

The music for the program will begin with a sing-spiration led by Mary Ann Wright. Other music will consist of a solo by Barbara Mays. A Thanksgiving hymn by the BSU Choir, and group singing of "Come Ye Faithful People, Come" and "On the Altar."

Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins, world known explorer, will present an illustrated lecture tomorrow night in Jarman Hall.

Education Society Honors Students Nov. 3, In Assembly

Nineteen new members of Kappa Delta Pi, a national honor society in education, were recognized in the College assembly November 3 by Longwood's Beta Epsilon Chapter.

After a short talk discussing the purpose and ideals of the organization, Lucy Mann, president, welcomed the new members and gave them green and purple ribbons which were worn to signify their status as members of KDPI. This is the first time within the past several years that the group has publicly recognized outstanding education students.

Kappa Delta Pi, instigated at Longwood in 1928 with the local chapter being the 53rd member, was organized for the purpose of encouraging high professional, intellectual, and personal standards and recognizing outstanding contributions to education. As Lucy pointed out, membership in the group is based upon the highest standards of personal qualities, educational ideas, and scholarship qualities.

On the more than 182 campuses where KDPI chapters are established, the groups endeavor to increase intellectual activities.

Juniors and seniors invited to become members are Betty Frances Scarborough, Barbara Assaid, Eloise Macon, Herbert Goodman, Carolyn Stanley, Mary Denny Wilson, and Pat McLemore. Also, Beth Kent, Betty Jane West, Virginia Phelps, Donetta Devine, Peggy Worthington, Shirley Roby, Gail Dickson, Joyce Wilkerson, Nancy Nelson, Dorothy Vaden, Florence Blake, and Betty Islin are also included on the list.

Initiation ceremonies were conducted at a meeting of Kappa Delta Pi this afternoon.

Estimates

Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, executive secretary, has announced that mid-term estimates are due in the Registrar's office November 20, 1953.

These grades will be sent to the students and their parents immediately after they are recorded. They are not final grades.

Alumnae Plan Council Meet On Nov. 13-14 At Longwood

Problems and programs of individual chapters will be the chief topic at the annual meeting of the Longwood Alumnae Association Council which is composed of the national Association officers and all chapter presidents. This council will meet at Longwood on Friday night and Saturday morning, November 13 and 14.

Officers of the Alumnae Council are, president, Miss Frances Horton, Roanoke; vice-president, Mrs. Jessie B. Kennedy, Washington; second vice-president, Mrs. James E. Graham, Wytheville; former president, Mrs. T. J. Starke, and director, Mrs. W. F. Curtis, both of Richmond; and other directors, Mrs. T. M. Phlegar, of Norfolk; Miss Mary Clay Hiner and Miss Carrie Brown Taliaferro, Farmville; executive secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Ruth Harding Coyner; and member ex-officio, Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, president of Longwood College. Presidents of the 40 Alumnae chapters have been invited to bring an additional alumna to the meeting.

Friday's activities for the council will include a dinner in the Snack Bar, an Executive Board meeting in Dr. Lancaster's office at 8 p. m., and a reception sponsored by the Granddaughter's Club in the Student Lounge.

Council members will have breakfast in the College dining hall on Saturday at 8:30. Later that morning there will be an informal discussion in the Virginia Room concerning chapter programs, frequency of meeting, methods of increasing attendance, cultivation of prospective students, finances, and other chapter problems. Dr. Lancaster will speak at 9:30 a. m., followed by a continuation of the workshop.

Notice

Deadline for buying the 1954 Virginian is Sunday, November 15. Representatives from the annual staff will be on the dormitory halls every night this week to sell the yearbook.

Students are urged to buy their yearbook immediately because this is the final opportunity.

National 'Who's Who' Will List Names of 10 Longwood Seniors In 1953-54 Publication Edition

Freshmen Select First Class Officers; Saunders Holds Presidency Position; Whitehead, Harris, Branch, To Assist

Eight new officers, headed by Jeanne Saunders as president, have been chosen to lead the class of 1957 during the 1953 session.

The new president was elected by the freshmen at a class meeting held November 2. Jeanne, a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High in Richmond, Jeanne was a member of the National Honor Society, feature editor of the news paper, and on the staff of the literary magazine. She also held homeroom offices and was on the library staff. Commenting on her recent election, she exclaimed, "I've never been a president before and I'm thrilled to death. Everyone is so wonderful!" Jeanne is now majoring in elementary education, but plans to change to art or English. She is interested in being an author and an artist; she has written a children's book. Jeanne says that she hopes the freshmen won't be disappointed with her.

Barbara Whitehead was selected vice-president by the freshmen. She was an active student in Kemptsville High School in Norfolk. Barbara was president of the Beta Club, vice-president of Tri-

Hi-Y, and president of the sophomore class. She was co-captain of the basketball team, a member of the Monogram Club, and page editor of the magazine "Devils Den." Besides this, Barbara served on Student Government for three years, and had the honor of being the "Queen of the Annual." This year she received the title "Best Rat." "Bobbie" has as her major, psychology.

The class elected Gail Branch as their secretary. Gail is from Norfolk where she attended Maury High School. There she was on the newspaper staff and a homeroom representative. Also she was a cheerleader. Here at Longwood, Gail is majoring in English.

New treasurer of the class is Nancy Lee Harris from Roanoke. At Jefferson High School, she was president of Y-Teens, and a student government representative. The honor of the "DAR Good Citizen" was bestowed on Nancy last year, and she also attended Girl's State. She was president of the Southwestern Diocese of the Episcopal Church. Elementary education is her major.

The freshman class chose Loretta Kesterson and Connie Coiner as its representatives for student government.

Loretta, from Alexandria, was a member of the Quill and Palm honor society at George Washington High School.

Connie, from Culpeper, was editor of her school newspaper "The Peppergram". She was also a student government for five years and secretary of her senior class.

To serve on Student Standards Committee, Loretta Kuhn and Florence Soghoian were selected.

A graduate of Hermitage High School in Richmond, Loretta was treasurer of the SGA and active in all sports.

Florence, from Richmond, was on the literary staff of the annual, a member of Quill and Scroll and a member of the National Honor Society.

Seniors Set Plans For Daance, Combo

With the music of Buddy Klein, of North Carolina State, the seniors will put their best foot forward by featuring, along with the annual dance on December 12, an afternoon combo concert.

This concert will be held from 4 p. m. to 6 p. m., while the dance hours will be from 8 p. m. to 12 p. m. Tickets, including both of these affairs, may be obtained soon. The prices are $2.40 per couple and $1.80 per person.

A decision has not yet been reached on the theme of the dance which is to be held in the gymnasium.

'Angel Street' Rehearses

President Lancaster To Head Committee To Evaluate College

Heading a committee on evaluation similar to that which visited Longwood last spring, President Dabney S. Lancaster will visit the campus of the Western Carolina State College.

Dr. Lancaster and Mrs. Kathleen Cover, guidance supervisor at Longwood, who will also serve on the committee will be at the college, located in Cullowhee, North Carolina, from November 15 through November 18.

On the following Saturday, November 22, Dr. Lancaster will attend the celebration honoring the 40th anniversary of the founding of Radford College, at Radford. Using the topic "Contributions of the Teachers College to the Education of Women During the Past 40 Years", Dr. Lancaster will be guest speaker at the Saturday morning convention of the anniversary events.

President Reveals Student Selection

Ten Longwood seniors have been selected to the national "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, it was announced this week by Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, president.

In Recognition

A recognition bestowing high honor—Taking into consideration the characteristics of scholarship; cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; citizenship and service to school; and the promise of future usefulness, a faculty committee has selected ten Longwood students to be named in Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges, 1953-54.

What does this recognition mean? Simply, this honor affords to these students a compensation for outstanding effort and achievement, and a standard of measurement which is comparable to other scholastic and service organizations. Each student will receive membership, without cost; a certificate, and recognition in the annual publication for the year during which he was selected. Student Placement Service is also provided by the organization if the student needs assistance in making employment contacts or obtaining recommendations.

These services rendered by this publication are enough within themselves to express the honor involved to the selected students. However, Who's Who may also be a service to those not chosen for membership. It serves as a goal to inspire greater effort in those who may not otherwise perform to the best of their abilities.

The idea of creating a national organization for student recognition was conceived 21 years ago. After much research, correspondence, travel and interviews, the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges started its first publication in the school year 1934-35. Six hundred colleges and universities now participate in this worth-while program.

The honor which has been bestowed on this year's representatives well deserves our recognition. May this achievement offer hope and encouragement to the future and satisfaction in the past.

Cheer, Longwood Girls

On November 16, class hockey games are scheduled to begin and color rush is to be held on November 19, weather permitting. As usual, you will be hearing the ever-repeated phrase "come out and support your team." Some students who have captured that Longwood spirit will not need to be urged a second time, others will have to be dragged to the hockey field by their roommate, suite-mate, or other school-spirited classmate, and still others will stay in the dorms to continue their bridge game or to read the latest issue of True Confession. It is to the later group, especially, that this article is intended.

Sports play an important part in the school, just as any other phase of college life. When the dramatics club rehearses for a play, or the choir prepares for a concert, they expect to have an audience to watch their performance. You may well imagine their disappointment if after weeks of practice, no one shows up to see them perform. The same thing occurs when a team which has practiced for weeks has to play a game and discovers that no one, or only a handful of supporters, have showed up to urged them on to victory. You don't want your team to feel that there is no one to back them, or to care whether they win or lose.

You will find that you have been missing out on an important phase of college life if you do not attend the college sports events. Start the year off right by showing some of that good 'ole Longwood spirit; show your team that you appreciate their efforts to try to win for you and that you are behind them all the way. Be seeing you on the A. A. field next Monday!

Food For Thought

"For a man seldom thinks of anything with more earnestness than he does his dinner."

That's the dry comment of Samuel Johnson and since the heyday of earliest Babylonian dinner parties many other men through ages—poets, diners, and college students—have had a few words to say on the subject of repasts for various occasions and situations.

Now, let's face-it. Of course, you will not like all the foods served or the way they are prepared—it's not like home. An amount of similarity and recurrence of the same kinds and types of food is expected. When a combination pleasing to many students is discovered, the frequent use of this meal facilitates planning. Then, too, only certain foods can be prepared well in large quantities; present food prices are also a necessary consideration. Have you ever planned and prepared three meals each day for nine months, for 650 people—or two people? The same factors hold true at home as well as at college.

The quantities of food served and the quality of preparation have been the two most frequent complaints so far this semester. We agree that it seems inexcusable that there is not enough food to serve eight people at each table. However, both of these are now under the cooperative consideration of the Student Standards Committee and the dining hall staff. Investigations and improvements are underway and will be made.

Two other complaints can usually be heard concerning the dining hall. The first of these, coming from the dining hall staff, is promptness to meals. The handbook states that there are 10 minutes between the last bell and locking the doors. Last year in an effort to help student waitresses arrive at classes on time after meals, this was changed to five minutes. So far, this year, the dining hall has been lenient in observing this rule, but because it does create a problem for waitresses, students are asked to show more understanding and make an effort to be on time.

The second complaint concerns the entire atmosphere of the dining hall itself. So maybe it isn't so quiet and restful as home. Any problem here must be traced back to the students themselves. There's a time and place for everything and if you think supper is the proper place for a rendition of "Dixie" then sing. But don't blame the meat course for indigestion.

It seems only natural that in a college as crowded with activities as Longwood, there would be occasions on which cheering and singing in the dining hall would be proper but as an every night occurrence the noise and confusion easily takes away from the attractiveness of dinner. One's public conduct is surely a reflection upon the training and guidance he has received at home. This holds true whether at a theatre, in a department store, or in a college dining hall. Observance of the simplest courtesies will not eliminate the fun at mealtimes but simply add to our enjoyment with a feeling of relaxation and pleasure.

In order to make real improvements the understanding and mutual cooperation of students and administration must be sought. These are a problem in the college community, but by recognizing them we can do something about it.

Virginia has recently put "art on wheels" in an effort to extend to all residents of the state an opportunity to view some fine exhibitions. The Virginia Museum of Fine Arts' staff conceived and largely designed this trailer truck which was financed by trustees and friends of the museum.

America's original "artmobile" made its first stop of what is to be a two-year tour last week in Fredericksburg with an exhibition of sixteenth and seventeenth century Dutch and Flemish paintings on loan from the collection of Walter P. Chrysler, Jr.

Itineraries will be so arranged that on completion of one of its long tours, the vehicle will have stopped to show its exhibit within fifteen miles of every Virginia home.

The trailer is equipped to carry almost all the possessions of the museum with exception of certain tapestries and sculpture too large to handle. A 220-volt power line furnishes enough electricity to run the artmobile's protective and educational devices, including a burglar alarm, control of temperature (70 degrees) and relative humidity (35-50 per cent), carbon dioxide and fire extinguisher, lighting, and sound system for lectures and background music.

This museum also has a curator who serves as driver and sole operator of the vehicle. He is William Gaines, an artist and specialist in art education. During exhibition hours, Gaines is posted in the information booth at the rear of the trailer. He takes admissions, switches on the background music, selects lecture records, and watches what is going on inside.

Perhaps his most difficult job is as driver. After three weeks of practice, Gaines still has trouble double-clutching the big truck through four forward speeds. For the past two years, he has been driving a Crosley station wagon.

2 LC Girls to Play in Hockey Tourney As Representatives on Virginia Team

Two Longwood girls placed on the two Virginia hockey teams chosen at the Virginia Field Hockey Association tournament held in Richmond November 6-7.

Shirley Mallory from Richmond was selected as goalie for the Virginia Team. Clara Borum from Burkeville was chosen center forward for the Virginia Reserve Team.

Players for the two teams were chosen on past experience, stick-work and individual skill, and ability to play as a part of a team.

No games were played at the tournament due to the heavy snow. However, every team represented at the tournament has been seen in a game this year by at least one member of the selection committee.

All girls selected for the two teams will go to the Southeast Tournament in Baltimore, Maryland, on November 14 and 15. Three Southeast Teams will be chosen in Baltimore to attend the National Hockey Tournament.

The teams placing people on the two Virginia teams were Longwood 2; Sweet Briar, 4; Westhampton, 4; Campus Characters, 1; Madison, 1; Richmond Club, 6; Little Colonels, 4; William and Mary, 1.

Hockey Team Goes To Meet

Fourteen Longwood hockey players accompanied by Miss Olive Iler, professor of physical education, and Miss Rebecca Brockenborough, assistant professor of physical education, attended the Virginia Field Hockey Association Tournament at Westhampton College in Richmond on November 6-7.

Longwood was scheduled to play the Richmond Club on Friday afternoon and Petersburg Club Saturday morning. However, due to the heavy snowfall no games were played either day.

Friday's schedule of events was dropped completely. Saturday the State teams and coaches attended a business meeting in which the election of several officers of the Virginia Field Hockey Association was held and members of the Virginia and Virginia Reserve teams were announced. Following the business meeting, a luncheon was held in the Westhampton dining hall. At this time the Dean of Women and president of Westhampton's Student Body welcomed the teams and coaches.

Those girls attending the tournament from Longwood were Clara Borum, Patsy Sanford, Helen Hartis, Eleanor Koch, Else Wenthe, Jane Lohr, Mary Anne Ward, Anne Mallory, Patsy Hamner, Carolyn Gray, Mary Davis, and Louise Wilder.

College Modern Dance Club, Orchesis, Announces Plans for Recitals, Trips, Assembly Programs for Coming Year

New departures and adventures in dance for the '53-'54 dance year have been announced by Orchesis, Longwood's Modern Dance Club.

Barbara Blackman, president of the group, and Mrs. Emily K. Landrum, adviser, have revealed projected plans for the session's activities which include two assembly dance programs, a recital for the Farmville Women's Club and an appearance at the Annual Arts Forum in Greensboro, North Carolina.

The assembly programs will take the place of the annual recital. One will be given the first semester after the Christmas holidays. The first program will present dance in its many forms and should help both the student body and the faculty to broaden their understanding of dance. Called, "Dance in Education," it will include development of folk square, tap and modern dance with some emphasis on the relationship of ballet and modern dance, and the evolution of a new form of today-balletic dance. Students from all dance classes and from Mrs. Landrum's freshmen gym classes will take part.

The second assembly program will be given in March, on "Dance as an Art Form," which will show the interrelationship of the Arts. Elements or factors pertinent to all forms will be exemplified in order to show how a dance or composition evolves and how music and art are akin to dance. The Art and Music Departments will collaborate on the development of better understanding of dance as an art form, to be enjoyed by everyone.

The Club has been invited by the Farmville Junior Woman's Club to give, "An Afternoon of Dance" for a joint meeting of the Senior and Junior Women's Clubs of Farmville. Mrs. Landrum will lead a demonstration group through the development of dance as movement, as skill, and then as a creative art where it evolves of an art form with particular emphasis on Modern Dance. This program will be given the afternoon of January 13 in Jarman Hall.

The third major project will center around a group work to be presented at the Annual Arts Forum, Woman's College, Greensboro, North Carolina in early March.

Plans are being made to sponsor one club member to attend the third Annual Dance Workshop of the Southern District of the National Association of Health and Physical Education, which will probably be held in North Carolina in early June. One student will attend with all expenses paid except for transportation to and from her home.

The Club is investigating the possibility of sending an outstanding student in dance to summer school at Connecticut College, New London, Connecticut, which will pay the greater portion of all expenses for a student if the Dance Club will sponsor the dancer.

Club Initiates Cotillion Receives 44 New Girls 22 Upperclassmen

Installation of 45 new business education students into the Longwood Commercial Club was held at a recent meeting.

Previous to the initiation, Ruth Gilliland, sophomore, was elected reporter for the club to serve during the 1953-54 session.

Also Naomi Farthing, Helen Smith, Leslie Smith, Christie Hulvey, Peggy Packett, Helen Northington, Pat Powell, Georgia McCray, Nancy Johnson, Marjorie Greene, Nancy Lee Yancey, and Ann Jones.

Broadus Eustace, Patsy Free, Elizabeth Riley, Flora Jo York, Adelaide Kirby, Nancy Anderson, Barbara Roller, Frances Bacon, Jean Mann, Barbara Felt-hams, Charlotte Ellett, and Shirley Nash are other new members.

Judy Harris, Barbara White-head, Adele Donaldson, Barbara Ann Ames, Faye Edward, Mary Robertson, Betty Shaffer, and Jean Parrott complete the list.

After the initiation, new members were welcomed at a social hour.

Jane Branch, president of the Cotillion Club, announced that twenty-two upperclassmen accepted bids to join the social organization.

Girls accepting bids are Jo Ann McClelland, Alice Calloway, Nan Bland, Katherine Meeks, Jo Ann Farless, Shirley Kemp, and Bonnie Owen.

Also Jane Hall, Lucy Mann, Mary Alice Ellington, Charlotte Fitts, Isabel Karnes, Helen Marie Wood, Billie Tomlinson, and Joyce Gilchrist.

Completing the list of "goats" are June Elder, Betty Copenhagen, Ellen Thomas, Phyllis Nurney, Malin Johnson, Carolyn Gray, and Margaret Franklin.

Jr. Class To Sponsor Nov. Birthday Dinner

All girls having birthdays this month will be honored Thursday night at the November birthday dinner in the college dining hall.

The Junior Class will be in charge of the program.

Mrs. Bettie Hammond, head dietitian, has announced the menu for the occasion:

The idea of a larger Rotunda was conceived in 1921. In 1924 the paper changed from four pages to six pages. 1928 brought forth a new improved size and quality of paper on which it was printed. The paper changed again in 1934 in size, paper, and heading. No radical changes have been made since.

The biology department took various classes to Willis Mountain for study!

Students carried their plates, knives, forks to supper on Sunday night, obtained the food, in buffet style, and carried the meal back to their individual rooms!

Professors handed out slips at the end of the term upon which was written either the word "re-appear" or "passed." To flunk one class meant that whole year must be taken over.

Girls had a really hard time in the training school! Suppose girls of today had to teach every subject, and in turn, never knew from day to day what they had to teach.

the selection of first and second honor girls from the senior graduating class was based on a graduation essay. The winning girls were honor "grads."

If you don't rememehr these things, then believe that they are authentic, as they are displayed in by-gone issues of the Rotunda.

Notice

Mrs. Wilda Freeburn Faust, executive secretary of the Future Teachers of America, will speak in assembly November 16. This will be in late observance of National Education Week, which is November 7-14.
